Refugees In A Global Era:

Refugees in a Global Era Philip Marfleet, 2005-10-21 Refugees in a Global Era offers a topical and informative analysis of forced migration in the age of globalization identifying mass displacement as an outcome of conflicts and contradictions in the global system It looks critically at histories of migration exploring the constructed nature of the refugee and considers the changing patterns of migration and the refugee experience of displacement flight and the search for asylum Additionally it offers a critical analysis of refugee policy in Europe North America and Australia and advances the case for open borders

The Refugee in the Global Era Phil Marfleet, New Ethnicities Unit, 1996      Refugees Worldwide Doreen Elliott, Uma A. Segal, 2012-08-03 Utilizing international perspectives this unprecedented collection of essays from leading authorities on refugee studies spotlights the realities and challenges of the global refugee population With increasing changes in the socio political climate of the world as well as with the rising numbers of natural disasters people of all ethnicities and nationalities are frequently forced from their homes and their homelands While there is a substantial body of work that addresses refugee policies post traumatic stress disorder and other specific issues there have been few attempts to understand refugee health or comprehend overall refugee adaptation until now This is the first work to address refugee issues worldwide addressing the psychological health human rights political public policy law economic social and personal aspects of this universal problem Refugees Worldwide also includes examples of first person refugee stories from around the world eye opening information not available in any other work Drawing on the expertise of myriad international researchers theoreticians and practitioners from representative nations around the world this four volume set effectively speaks to a number of refugee issues from a truly global perspective      International Political Theory and the Refugee Problem Natasha Saunders, 2017-11-22 The refugee problem is a term that it has become almost impossible to escape Although used by a wide range of actors involved in work related to forced migration these actors do not often explain what exactly the problem is that they are working to solve leading to an unfortunate conflation of two quite different problems the problems that refugees face and the problems that refugees pose Beginning from the simple yet too often overlooked observation that how one conceives of solving a problem is inseparable from what one understands that problem to be Saunders study explores the questions raised about how to address the refugee problem if we recognise that there may not be just one problem and that not all actors involved with the refugee regime conceive of their work as addressing the same problem Utilising the work of Michel Foucault the book first charts how different problems lend themselves to particular kinds of solutions arguing that the international refugee regime is best understood as developed to solve the refugee as problem rather than refugees problems Turning to the work of Hannah Arendt the book then reframes the refugee problem from the perspective of the refugee rather than the state and investigates the extent to which doing so can open up creative space for rethinking the more traditional solutions to the refugee as problem Cases of refugee protest in Europe and the burgeoning Sanctuary Movement in the UK are examined as two sub state and popular movements which could constitute such creative solutions to a reframed problem The consequences of the refugee label and of the discourses of humanitarianism and emergency is a topic of critical concern and as such the book will form important reading for a scholars and students of international political theory and forced migration studies Refugees in Europe, 1919-1959 Matthew Frank, Jessica Reinisch, 2017-09-21 This book is open access and available on www.bloomsburycollections.com It is funded by Knowledge Unlatched Refugees in Europe 1919 1959 offers a new history of Europe s mid 20th century as seen through its recurrent refugee crises By bringing together in one volume recent research on a range of different contexts of groups of refugees and refugee policy it sheds light on the common assumptions that underpinned the history of refugees throughout the period under review The essays foreground the period between the end of the First World War which inaugurated a series of new international structures to deal with displaced populations and the late 1950s when Europe s home grown refugee problems had supposedly been solved and attention shifted from the identification of an exclusively European refugee problem to a global one Borrowing from E H Carr s The Twenty Years Crisis first published in 1939 the editors of this volume test the idea that the two post war eras could be represented as a single crisis of a European dominated international order of nation states in the face of successive refugee crises which were both the direct consequence of that system and a challenge to it Each of the chapters reflects on the utility and limitations of this notion of a forty years crisis for understanding the development of specific national and international responses to refugees in the mid 20th century Contributors to the volume also provide alternative readings of the history of an international refugee regime in which the non European and colonial world are assigned a central role in the narrative

Refugees and Knowledge Production Magdalena Kmak, Heta Björklund, 2022-02-13 Building on research within the fields of exile studies and critical migration studies and drawing links between historical and contemporary refugee scholarship this volume challenges the bias of methodological nationalism and Eurocentrism in discussing the multifaceted forms of knowledge emerging in the context of migration and mobility With critical attention to the meaning production and scope of refugee scholarship generated at the institutions of higher education it also focuses on refugee knowledge produced outside academia and scrutinizes the conditions according to which it is validated or silenced Presenting studies of historical refuge and exile together with the experiences of contemporary refugee scholars this book will appeal to scholars across the social sciences with interests in forced migration refugee studies the sociology of knowledge and the phenomenon of insider knowledge and research methods and methodology The Open Access version of this book available at www.taylorfrancis.com has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 license Refugees and the Meaning of Home Helen Taylor, 2015-11-03 This book explores the meaning of home for Cypriot refugees living in London since their island was torn apart by war Taking an innovative approach it looks at how spaces time social networks and sensory experiences come together as home is constructed It places refugee narratives at its centre to reveal the agency of those forced to migrate      Refugees in International Relations Alexander Betts, Gil Loescher, 2011 Drawing together the work and ideas of a combination of the world's leading and emerging International Relations scholars Refugees in International Relations considers what ideas from International Relations can offer our understanding of the international politics of forced migration The insights draw from across the theoretical spectrum of International Relations from realism to critical theory to feminism covering issues including international cooperation security and the international political economy      Refugees and Forced Migrants in Africa and the EU Elisabeth Wacker, Ulrich Becker, Katharina

Crepaz, 2018-12-28 The so called refugee crisis represents one of the biggest contemporary political and social challenges Although many African countries have been dealing with forced migratory and refugee movements for decades their experiences have so far largely been neglected in the predominantly Eurocentric public debate The present volume aims to bridge this gap by providing comparative African and European perspectives from different disciplines highlighting the challenges but also potential mutual benefits of social diversification and offering an insight into possible solution strategies

The Ethics of Hospitality Helen T. Boursier, 2019-02-15 Set against an ethical theological philosophical framework of the role of love in the Abrahamic tradition Islam Judaism and Christianity The Ethics of Hospitality highlights the personal witness of refugee families seeking asylum from the Northern Triangle in Central America to the U S Their heart wrenching stories include why they fled their homelands their experiences along the arduous overland journey and their inhospitable reception when they arrived to the U S and requested asylum It includes an overview of the systemic connections between the U S and the violence which catapults these families to seek safety The voices of the families join the witness of interreligious volunteers of greater San Antonio who assist the refugee families in diverse capacities and who testify to the mutual blessing they receive when love of God expressed as love of neighbor becomes central to the immigration conversation Ultimately the proposal is that the interreligious community has the privilege and responsibility to respond in love with refugees seeking asylum while also leading the outcry in the public square for their radical welcome      Conflict

The Making of the Modern Refugee Peter

Gatrell, 2013-09-13 The Making of the Modern Refugee is a comprehensive history of global population displacement in the twentieth century. It takes a new approach to the subject exploring its causes, consequences and meanings. History, the author shows, provides important clues to understanding how the idea of refugees as a problem embedded itself in the minds of policy makers and the public and poses a series of fundamental questions about the nature of enforced migration and how it has shaped society throughout the twentieth century across a broad geographical area from Europe and the Middle East to South Asia, South East Asia and sub-Saharan Africa. Wars, revolutions and state formation are invoked as the main causal explanations of displacement and are considered alongside the emergence of a twentieth century refugee regime linking governmental practices, professional expertise and humanitarian relief efforts. This new study rests upon scholarship from several disciplines and draws extensively upon oral testimony, eye witness accounts and film as well as unpublished source material in the archives of governments, international organisations and non-governmental organisations. The Making of the Modern Refugee explores the significance that refugees attached to the places they left behind to their journeys and to their destinations in short, how refugees helped to interpret and fashion their own history.

Refugees, Refuge, and Human Displacement

Ignacio López-Calvo, Marjorie Agosin, 2022-11-01 Every American is a descendant of either a Native American and enslaved person, an immigrant or a refugee. This book is devoted to the fourth category. The essays in this volume will study the concept of refuge as well as historical forced displacement and statelessness, trying to provide potential lasting solutions to the many problems associated with this situation. This volume is not only timely but expansive as it moves from the pressing crisis of refugees to the crisis of humanity that seeks to find refuge. From refugees to asylum seekers, from climate change to war, from historical uprootedness and displacement to today's crisis of refugeeism, these topics are mobilizing humanities scholars to think about refugees with a new sense of urgency. This book demonstrates how interdisciplinary cultural approaches grounded in the humanities can transform refugee conversations so often dominated by political science, economics and other disciplines. In doing so, the collection sets up far more inclusive refugee discussions and urges humanities thinkers to respond by taking the lead in the face of environmental and sociopolitical uncertainties.

The Securitization of Migration and Refugee Women Alison Gerard, 2014-05-16 Humanised accounts of restrictions on mobility are rarely the focus of debates on irregular migration Very little is heard from refugees themselves about why they migrate their experiences whilst entering the EU or how they navigate reception conditions upon arrival particularly from a gendered perspective The Securitization of Migration and Refugee Women fills this gap and explores the journey made by refugee women who have travelled from Somalia to the EU to seek asylum This book reveals the humanised impact of the securitization of migration the dominant policy response to irregular migration pursued by governments across the Globe The Southern EU Member State of Malta finds itself on the frontline of policing and securing Europe s southern external borders against transnational migrants and preventing migrants on migration to other Member States within the EU The securitization of migration has been responsible for restricting access to asylum diluting rights and entitlements to refugee protection and punishing those who arrive in the EU without valid passports a visibly racialised and gendered population The stories of the refugee women interviewed for this research detail the ways in which refugee protection is being eroded selectively applied and in some cases specifically designed to exclude In contrast to the majority of migration literature which has largely focused on the male experience this book focuses on the experiences of refugee women and aims to contribute to the volume of work dedicated to analysing borders from the perspective of those who cross them This research strengthens existing criminological literature and has the potential to offer insights to policy makers around the world It will be of interest to academics and students interested in International Crime and Justice Securitisation Refugee Law and Border Control as well as the general reader The Refugee Crisis and Religion Luca Mavelli, Erin Wilson, 2016-12-01 The current refugee crisis sweeping Europe and much of the world closely intersects with largely neglected questions of religion Moving beyond discussions of religious differences what can we learn about the interaction between religion and migration Do faith based organisations play a role within the refugee regime How do religious traditions and perspectives challenge and inform current practices and policies towards refugees This volume gathers together expertise from academics and practitioners as well as migrant voices in order to investigate these interconnections It shows that reconsidering our understanding and approaches to both could generate creative alternative responses to the growing global migration crisis Beginning with a discussion of the secular religious divide and how it shapes dominant policy practices and counter approaches to displacement and migration the book then goes on to explore and deconstruct the dominant discourse of the Muslim refugee as a threat to the secular Christian West The discussion continues with an exploration of Christian and Islamic traditions of hospitality showing how they challenge current practices of securitization of migration and concludes with an investigation of the largely unexplored relation between gender religion and migration Bringing together leading and emerging voices from across academia and practice in the fields of International Relations migration studies philosophy religious studies and gender studies this volume offers a unique take on one of the most pressing global problems of our time Afghan Refugees, Pakistani Media and the State Ayesha Jehangir, 2023-12-20 Drawing on the frameworks of peace journalism this book offers new insights into the Pakistani media coverage of Afghan refugees and their forced repatriation from Pakistan Based on a three year study the author examines the political social and economic forces that influence and govern the reporting practices of journalists covering the protracted refugee conflict between Pakistan and Afghanistan Through a critical discourse analysis of the structures of journalistic iterability of Afghan refugees in Pakistan the author distils four dominant and three emerging frames and proposes a new teleological turn for peace journalism as deliberative practice that is to say practice that by promoting transparency and accountability recognition and challenging dominant power proposed narratives and perspectives resistance encourages public engagement and participation cosmopolitan solidarity The author also privileges an analytical approach that conceptualises the nexus between digital witnessing and peace journalism through the paradigm of cosmopolitanism The author finds routinely accommodated media narratives of security that represent Afghan refugees as a threat a burden and the other that through reinforcement have become an incontestable reality for the public in Pakistan This book will appeal to those interested in studying and practicing journalism as a conscientious communicative practice that elicits the very public it seeks to inform
