Lively, 2010-04-16 While the study of the history of rhetoric has expanded to include an ever growing range of rhetorical traditions lesser known figures and under and un studied texts it has continued to exist in the hermetically sealed binary of West and Rest Rhetorical scholars have begun uncovering the many marginalized rhetorical traditions silenced by the homogenous nature of our histories themselves reading and writing new histories of the rhetorical tradition through frames from gender to geography Despite these substantial challenges to the traditionally received history of rhetoric many voices are still silenced and many spaces are still excluded voices speaking within the spaces of the less than monolithic West itself This silencing and excluding continues perhaps because of assumptions that no texts exist from these marginalized voices or that substantial rhetorical activity was not conducted in these marginalized spaces regardless of already extant evidence of rhetorical activity as diverse as rural civic ethos in Classical Greece and Etruscan influences on Roman rhetoric or long standing passive knowledge of scholarly activity in Medieval Andalusia and Ireland Rhetoric in the Rest of the West attempts to expand the conversation in those gaps in the history of rhetoric by examining the traditions that lost the cultural competition and have been shrouded in the shadow of the rhetorical tradition A Theory of Contemporary Rhetoric Richard Andrews, 2013-08-22 A Theory of Contemporary Rhetoric describes explains and argues the overarching theory of contemporary rhetoric This current view of rhetoric brings together themes in the communication arts including political literary criticism bi and multi lingualism multimodality framing as an artistic and sociological device for composition and interpretation literacy in the digital age and the division between fiction and non fiction in language literature studies Chapters explore the implications of rhetoric for particular aspects of the field Discussions throughout the book provide illustrations that ground the material in practice As an overarching theory in the communication arts rhetoric is elegant as a theoretical solution and simple as a practical one It asks such questions as who is speaking writing composing to whom why what is being conveyed and how is it being conveyed Acknowledging the dirth of recent works addressing the theory of rhetoric this book aims to fill the existing theoretical gap and at the same time move the field of language literature studies forward into new territory It provides the keynote theoretical guide for a generation of teachers teacher educators and researchers in the fields of English as a subject English as a second foreign or additional language and language study in general

Difficult Empathy and Rhetorical Encounters Eric Leake, 2023-08-04 Difficult Empathy takes up the question of empathy as fundamentally a rhetorical concern focusing on the ways we encounter and understand one another in what we read and write hear and say The book centres around the argument that empathy as a rhetorical event occurs not simply in the minds of individuals but as a product of the rhetorical situations practices cultures and values in which we engage Rather than identifying empathy as a cure all or jettisoning the concept altogether the author acknowledges empathy s potential as well as its limitations by focusing on what makes empathy a hard and ultimately worthwhile practice This nuanced and original study will interest scholars working at the intersection of rhetoric and composition with empathy as well as those studying empathy in fields such as critical and cultural theory politics media analysis social psychology and the cognitive humanities

Sacred Rhetoric Debora K. Shuger,2014-07-14 There are no studies of a sacred grand style in the English Renaissance writes Debora Shuger because even according to its practitioners it was not supposed to exist Yet the grand style forms the unacknowledged center of traditional rhetorical theory In this first history of the grand style Professor Shuger explores the growth of a Christian aesthetic out of the Classical grand style showing its development from Isocrates to the sacred rhetorics of the Renaissance These rhetorics advocate a Christian grand style neither pedantically mimetic nor playfully sophistic whose models include Tacitus and the Bible as well as Cicero and whose theoretical sources embrace not only Cicero and Quintilian but Hermogenes and Longinus This style dominates the best and most scholarly rhetorics of the period texts written in Latin and while ignored by most recent scholars extensively used in England throughout the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries These works are the first attempts since Augustine s pioneering revision of Ciceronian rhetoric to reground ancient rhetorical theory on Christian epistemology and theology According to Professor Shuger the Christian grand style is passionate vivid dramatic metaphoric yet this emotional energy and sensuousness is shaped and legitimated by Renaissance religious culture

Thus sacred rhetoric cannot be considered apart from contemporary theories of cognition emotion selfhood and signification It mediates between word and world Moreover these texts suggest the almost forgotten centrality of neo Latin scholarship during these years and provide a crucial theoretical context for England s great flowering of devotional prose and poetry Originally published in 1988 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905 Feminist Perspectives on Child Law Jo
