Sectoral Growth And Change:

Sectoral Growth in Chile, 1962-82 Juan Eduardo Coeymans, Yair Mundlak, 1993 The model Productivity Labor Capital Product prices Simulations of changes in relative prices Simulations of growth Patterns of change in Malawi's economy under sector-focused investment strategies: Results of scenarios run through 2030 using an economy-wide model for Malawi Benson, Todd, Hartley, Faaiga, 2020-01-23 Malawi's economic future is dependent upon a transformation of the economy that will involve increased economic productivity overall and considerable movement of labor and capital out of agriculture and into manufacturing and services A dynamic Computable General Equilibrium model of the economy of Malawi was used to better understand the development gains that would be realized by 2030 through significantly increasing separately the productivity of each of the three sectors of the Malawian economy agriculture industry and services The scenarios run in the model involved increasing by 20 percent from current levels the annual growth rate in total factor productivity for each of the three sectors The results show important trade offs in the choice of which sector should receive emphasis in any economic development strategy A services led strategy would result in higher economic growth overall and broadly rising incomes contributing the most to a structural transformation of the Malawi economy However the principal beneficiaries of increased investment to improve productivity in the services sector will be better off households In contrast an agriculture focused strategy would better meet the needs of the poor and their access to food but would result in continued lagging growth for Malawi's economy and many poorer households continuing to be unable to obtain sufficient income to exit their poverty and realize much better lives for themselves and their children The industrial sector currently is much smaller than either the agriculture or services sectors particularly in terms of employment so significant increases in productivity growth in industry results in smaller benefits overall than comparable increases in agriculture or services Structural Change and

Industrial Development in the BRICS Wim Naudé, Adam Szirmai, Nobuya Haraguchi, 2015-06-18 This book provides a unique and timely analysis of the role of structural change in the economic development of Brazil Russia India China and South Africa BRICS with a consideration for the role of industry and in particular manufacturing The emergence of BRICS reflects an ongoing change in the international economic order BRICS now account for very substantial part of global GDP global manufactured value added and global manufactured exports The book examines their economic experiences and structural change in BRICS over the past three decades identifying both differences and commonalities and deriving lessons for other industrializing countries Section I contains comparative studies focusing on the commonalities and differences of the experiences of BRICS Section II includes six country studies providing a more detailed analysis of the long run experiences of each of the countries Section III consists of a set of seven thematic studies focusing on specific topics such as global value chains the role of transnational corporations in the food chain the role of foreign versus domestic investment the role of domestic versus foreign demand in economic growth the diffusion of environmental energy technology and the similarities and the differences in industrial policies pursued in the five countries The book contains a summary chapter that provides an integrated perspective of the various contributions from the point of view of poverty reduction and development It asks whether the patterns of structural change and industrial development that BRICS experienced had an impact on poverty outcomes and if so what where the channels and the consequences Growth, Inequality, and Poverty in Rural China Shenggen Fan, Linxiu Zhang, Xiaobo Zhang, 2002-01-01 Growth inequality and poverty Public capital e investment Conceptual framework and model Data estimation and results Economic Study of Puerto Rico: Sector studies United States. 75 Years of Growth, Development and Productivity in India Dibyendu Maiti,Bishwanath Goldar,K.L. Krishna,2025-07-23 This edited volume documents through its 75 years post independence the developmental complexities economic achievements and challenges unique to India given its vast population and regional cultural and climatic diversities with simple illustrations making them accessible to readers with varying levels of expertise Since gaining independence the Indian economy has embarked on a distinctive journey navigating through a series of economic policy experiments in diverse economic landscapes This distinct trajectory has not only accelerated its pace of economic growth but also addressed a myriad of developmental issues from poverty to well being with varied degrees of success over the years The detailed analysis and anecdotal evidence are at the core to show how the country s experience and challenges are different from the linear model of development transition and must be understood in their own context The academic papers both theoretical and empirical highlight the pace and patterns of sectoral dynamics since independence unfold the issues and factors affecting development with a particular focus on the productivity growth of the Indian economy and showcase debates that may help planning policy for Vision 2047 the year when India would celebrate its centenary year of independence The book contains 24 chapters divided into ten sections covering issues related to growth strategies productivity growth agricultural transition growth heterogeneity labour rural non farm sector and migration social sectors including education and environment and debates on industrialisation and servicification the principle features of Indian growth and development story Given such diverse collection of chapters and discussions in them the book will find readers across the developmental economics sphere ranging from academics to policy makers as well as industry experts

South-South Globalization S. Mansoob Murshed, Pedro Goulart, Leandro Serino, 2011-06-16 Two prominent features of the current global economy are the world wide recession brought about by the recent financial crisis and the emergence of major economic powers from within the developing world such as Brazil China and India The former represents the failure of global regulatory policies and macroeconomic imbalances between surplus and deficit countries the latter is symptomatic of a partial shift in economic power towards developing nations who are often collectively labelled the global South The macroeconomic imbalances are unsustainable in the longer run as they mean greater absorption relative to income in deficit nations they require corrective action and international policy coordination Reducing imbalances also requires large developing countries to raise their domestic consumption and also imports from the rest of the world and international financial institutions to operate as a lender of last resort Furthermore the engines of global growth especially for developing countries may no longer lie solely in the traditional developed country markets in the USA Europe and Japan known collectively as the global North Rather South South trade is growing rapidly and that could be an engine of growth for the global economy including both developed and developing countries The various chapters in this edited volume address issues surrounding global imbalances and the prospects for growth in developing countries propelled by South South interaction This book should be of interest to students and researchers focussing on political economics international economics globalization global imbalance and the world wide recession after 2008
