Love Motherhood And The African Heritage The Legacy Of Flora Nwapa:

Love, Motherhood and the African Heritage Femi Nzegwu, 2001 Forty years after the restoration of independence in Africa following decades of European conquest and occupation of the continent there has been little positive impact on the quality of life of most Africans in virtually every sphere of social political economic or spiritual existence During the period African governments have failed to establish effective socio economic systems to counter the deleterious consequences of the occupation One such consequence has been the impact on women who prior to the occupation played a central role in the life of their societies The aftermath of European hegemony on the African scene has been the displacement marginalisation of the power position participation and contribution of African women in the social ordering and overall advancement of their society Unfortunately African governments through their policies have ensured that this crippling disequilibrium in society has become further entrenched This is a subject that has been of major concern to Flora Nwapa one of Africa's leading women novelists Through Nwapa's writings we examine the historical role which Igbo women exercised in their society the pivotal and highly revered role of motherhood as an all encompassing ideological framework of social ordering of the nation and the philosophical ethos which governed women's social cultural political economic and spiritual life the basis of which was the dual gender complementarity in place in society The study concludes by demonstrating that only through a return to these time honoured proven values of social co existence can Africa extricate itself from the present state of human privations

Stories of women Elleke Boehmer, 2013-07-19 This electronic version has been made available under a Creative Commons BY NC ND open access license Elleke Boehmer's work on the crucial intersections between independence nationalism and gender has already proved canonical in the field Stories of women combines her keynote essays on the mother figure and the postcolonial nation with incisive new work on male autobiography daughter writers the colonial body the trauma of the post colony and the nation in a transnational context Focusing on Africa as well as South Asia and sexuality as well as gender Boehmer offers fine close readings of writers ranging from Achebe Okri and Mandela to Arundhati Roy and Yvonne Vera shaping these into a critical engagement with theorists of the nation like Fredric Jameson and Partha Chatterjee This edition will be of interest to readers and researchers of postcolonial international and women's writing of nation theory colonial history and historiography of Indian African migrant and diasporic literatures and is likely to prove a landmark study in the field

Black Womanist Leadership Toni C. King, S. Alease Ferguson, 2011-06-01 Featuring the stories of fourteen Black women scholars Black Womanist Leadership Tracing the Motherline offers a culturally based model of Black women's leadership practices and examines the mother daughter transmission of these skills The personal narratives fit into a storytelling tradition that reveals the ways Black mothers and women of the community the Motherline teach girls the ways women lead The essays present a range of different practical and theoretical issues of leadership and development including mother nurture emulation of and divergence from core values internalized oppression self determination representation of the physical self guardianship governance of the body cooperative economics activism contentiousness with or differentiation from the mother and negotiation of leadership across public and private spheres Together they make a compelling argument for the necessity of continuing to teach the cultural and gender specific resistance to oppression that has been passed along the Motherline and to adapt this Motherline tradition to the lives and needs of women and girls in the 21st century

Women in African Cinema Lizelle Bisschoff, Stefanie Van de Peer, 2019-11-14 Women in African Cinema Beyond the Body Politic showcases the very prolific but often marginalised presence of women in African cinema both on the screen and behind the camera This book provides the first in depth and sustained examination of women in African cinema Films by women from different geographical regions are discussed in case studies that are framed by feminist theoretical and historical themes and seen through an anti colonial philosophical political and socio cultural cinematic lens A historical and theoretical introduction provides the context for thematic chapters exploring topics ranging from female identities female friendships women in revolutionary cinema motherhood and daughterhood women s bodies sexuality and spirituality Each chapter serves up a theoretical historical discussion of the chosen theme followed by two in depth case studies that provide contextual and transnational readings of the films as well as outlining production distribution and exhibition contexts This book contributes to the feminist anti racist revision of the canon by placing African women filmmakers squarely at the centre of African film culture Demonstrating the depth and diversity of the feminine or female aesthetic in African cinema this book will be of great interest to students and scholars of African cinema media studies and African studies

Colonial and Postcolonial Literature Elleke Boehmer, 2005-10-06 Colonial and Postcolonial Literature is the leading critical overview of and historical introduction to colonial and postcolonial literary studies Highly praised from the time of its first publication for its lucidity breadth and insight the book has itself played a crucial part in founding and shaping this rapidly expanding field The author an internationally renowned postcolonial critic provides a broad contextualizing narrative about the evolution of colonial and postcolonial writing in English Illuminating close readings of texts by a wide variety of writers from Kipling and Conrad through to Kincaid from Ngugi to Noonuccal and Naipaul explicate key theoretical terms such as subaltern colonial resistance writing back and hybridity This revised edition includes new critiques of postcolonial women s writing an expanded and fully annotated bibliography and a new chapter and conclusion on postcolonialism exploring keynote debates in the field relating to sexuality transnationalism and local resistance

Libation Kimani S. K. Nehusi, 2015-12-28 This book concerns the origins structure purpose meaning and significance of libation developments and change within the ritual and its distribution in the Afrikan world Libation is a liquid offering by and on behalf of all humanity those living and those yet to be born to ancestors to the Creator to other divinities and to the environment Through this ritual Afrikans affirm and re establish Ma at cosmic harmony balance interconnection and interdependence within between and among humans the environment the spirit world and the Creator The text connects the practice of libation throughout the prodigious time space correlation occupied by the Afrikan experience of life connects Afrikans to their social history and so to themselves across generations in different spaces and times The methodology is at once both multi disciplinary and inter disciplinary The methods and techniques of history linguistics cultural studies literature and other human sciences are deployed to develop a comprehensive reconstruction description and analysis of a ritual that has been antique for millennia but has never become antiquated

Student Encyclopedia of African Literature Douglas Killam, Alicia L. Kerfoot, 2007-12-30 African literature is a vast subject of growing output and interest Written especially for students this book selectively surveys the topic in a clear and accessible way Included are roughly 600 alphabetically arranged entries on writers genres and major works Many entries cite works for further reading and the volume closes with a selected general bibliography Africa is a land of contrasts and of diverse cultures and traditions It is also a land of conflict and creativity The literature of the continent draws upon a fascinating body of oral traditions and lore and also reflects the political turmoil of the modern world With the increased interest in cultural diversity and the growing centrality of Africa in world politics African literature is figuring more and more prominently in the curriculum This book helps students learn about the African literary achievement Written expressly for students this book is far more accessible than other reference works on the subject Included are nearly 600 alphabetically arranged entries on authors such as Chinua Achebe Athol Fugard Buchi Emecheta Nadine Gordimer and Wole Soyinka major works such as Things Fall Apart and Petals of Blood and individual genres such as the novel drama and poetry Many entries cite works for further reading and the volume closes with a selected general bibliography

Readings from Reading Herbert Ekwe-Ekwe, 2011 The essays here underscore Herbert Ekwe Ekwe's continuing optimism about the possibilities of Africans constructing post Berlin states as the launch pad to transform the topography of the African renaissance Readings from Reading is a timely publication coming on the eve of the historic January 2011 referendum in south Sudan in which the people of the region will choose to vote to restore their national independence or get stuck hopelessly in the Sudan the first of the Berlin states that Africans tragically inherited in January 1956 Ekwe Ekwe insists that the contemporary Africa state imposed on Africans by a band of European conqueror states and currently run by what the author describes as a shard of disreputable African regimes to exploit and despoil the continent's human and material resources cannot serve African interests The legacy as this study demonstrates has indeed been catastrophic The African overseers pushed the states into even deeper depths of genocidal and kakistocratic notoriety in the past 54 years as the grim examples of particularly Nigeria the Democratic Republic of the Congo and the Sudan depressingly underscore 15 million Africans have been murdered by African led regimes in these states and elsewhere in Africa since the Igbo genocide of 1977 1970 This is an engaging incisive wide ranging and multidisciplinary discourse salient features that have come to define Ekwe Ekwe's groundbreaking scholarship of the past three decades The author covers an assemblage of diverse topics and themes which include the Igbo genocide the Jos massacres in central Nigeria Umar Farouk Abdul Mutallab's failed attempt to blow up an incoming aircraft over Detroit on Christmas Day 2009 African presence in Britain Robert Mugabe Muammar Gaddafi Obafemi Awolowo Omar al Bashir Charles Taylor Olusegun Obasanjo Ali Mazrui Andrew Young the G8 and Africa Africa debt African emigres remittances to Africa sub Sahara Africa reparations to Africans African representation on the UN Security Council African choices for the Nobel Peace Prize Africa and the International Criminal Court Nigeria Cote d'Ivoire Kenya the Sudan and the Congo arms to Africa arms ban on Africa Finally on the subject of the restoration of independence the key connecting thread that links all the visitations Ekwe Ekwe critically examines the contributions made variously on this cord by an impressive line up of some of the very best and brightest of African intellectuals Achebe Adichie Césaire Damas Coltrane Diop Equiano Ngugu Okigbo Senghor

The Oxford Encyclopedia of Women in World History Bonnie G. Smith, 2008-01-23 The Encyclopedia of Women in World History captures the experiences of women throughout world history in a comprehensive 4 volume work Although there has been extensive research on women in history by region no text or reference work has comprehensively covered the role women have played throughout world history The past thirty years have seen an explosion of research and effort to present the experiences and contributions of women not only in the Western world but across the globe Historians have investigated women's daily lives in virtually every region and have researched the leadership roles women have filled across time and region They have found and demonstrated that there is virtually no historical social or demographic change in which women have not been involved and by which their lives have not been affected The Oxford Encyclopedia of Women in World History benefits greatly from these efforts and experiences and illuminates how women worldwide have influenced and been influenced by these historical social and demographic changes The Encyclopedia contains over 1 250 signed articles arranged in an A Z format for ease of use The entries cover six main areas biographies geography and history comparative culture and society including adoption abortion performing arts organizations and movements such as the Egyptian Uprising and the Paris Commune women's and gender studies and topics in world history that include slave trade globalization and disease With its rich and insightful entries by leading scholars and experts this reference work is sure to be a valued go to resource for scholars college and high school students and general readers alike
