New Science Of Organizations A Reconceptualization Of The Wealth Of Nations:

The New Science of Organizations Alberto Guerreiro Ramos,1984 The New Sciences Organizations Alberto Guerreiro Ramos,1981 The late Professor Ramos exposes the failure of social science in general to deal adequately with the needs of humanity in search of a meaning and order of existence and presents and alternative a new science of organizations which address the problems of ordering social and personal affairs Integrative Governance: Generating Sustainable Responses to Global Crises Margaret Stout,Jeannine M. Love,2018-07-20 Dominant governance theories are drawn primarily from Euro American sources including emergent theories of network and collaborative governance The authors contest this narrow view and seek a more globally inclusive and transdisciplinary perspective arguing such an approach is more fruitful in addressing the wicked problems of sustainability including social economic and environmental crises This book thus offers and affirms an innovative governance approach that may hold more promise as a universal framework that is not colonizing in nature due to its grounding in relational process assumptions and practices Using a comprehensive Governance Typology that encompasses ontological assumptions psychosocial theory epistemological concepts belief systems ethical concepts political theory economic theory and administrative theory the authors delve deeply into underlying philosophical commitments and carry them into practice through an approach they call Integrative Governance The authors consider ways this approach to radical self governance is already being implemented in the prefigurative politics of contemporary social movements and they invite scholars and activists to imagine governance in contexts of social economic and environmental interconnectedness to use the ideal type as an evaluative tool against which to measure practice and to pursue paradigmatic change through collaborative praxis Public Affairs and Democratic Ideals Curtis Ventriss,2021-01-01 We live in an era where many citizens feel increasingly uncertain about their futures having to deal with stagnant wages globalization and wealth and income inequality while at the same time policymakers appear unable or unwilling to reach any viable policy consensus on a wide range of major issues Public Affairs and Democratic Ideals addresses these vexing conditions and the challenge they pose for public management and administration Curtis Ventriss argues for reordering intellectual and policy priorities with a focus on publicness and the role of critical democratic thought in public affairs Too often the assumptions that underlie the prevailing theory and practice of addressing major political and economic problems remain unquestioned with economic and political conflicts displaced into issues of administration and leadership Ventriss calls for a reinvigorated notion of publicness based in part on a public social science civic experimentation and policies designed and tailored to the unique needs of various publics As a way to move forward this book offers ideas for redefining professionalism promoting civic initiatives and rethinking professional education for public service Altruism and Christian Ethics Colin Grant,2000-11-16 Separated from its anchorage in religion ethics has followed the social sciences in seeing human beings as fundamentally characterised by self interest so that altruism is either naively idealistic or arrogantly self sufficient Colin

Grant contends that as a modern secular concept altruism is a parody on the self giving love of Christianity so that its dismissal represents a social levelling that loses the depths that theology makes intelligible and religion makes possible The Christian affirmation is that God is characterised by self giving love agape then expected of Christians Lacking this theological background the focus on self interest in sociobiology and economics and on human realism in the political focus of John Rawls or the feminist sociability of Carol Gilligan finds altruism naive or a dangerous distraction from real possibilities of mutual support This book argues that to dispense with altruism is to dispense with God and with the divine transformation of human possibilities

Public Administration and Epistemology Arthur Sementelli,2020-12-28 Knowledge does not happen in a vacuum yet scholars and other professionals tend to engage in management scholarship focused on their specific niche often without knowing if or how their work might relate to other research streams Further exacerbating things people within specific disciplines including management tend not to communicate regularly outside of their relatively homogeneous audiences If we were able to bridge communication among these groups scholars and practitioners we might be able to better understand one another in a way that is contextually informed by each other s experiences Sementelli argues that understanding concepts of power agency and experience can provide such tools to orient management theories and practices relative to one another Using critical management thought to frame a discussion of ontology and how knowledge emerges from it enables the development of an orienting sandbox that works both practically and intellectually Such a sandbox enables us not just to communicate one s organizational priorities but also reveal some underlying reasons for those priorities and areas of inquiry This monograph focuses on public administration in particular as a special case of critical management research This book also examines the complexity of experiences of being using Karl Jaspers as a basis The sandbox that emerges can be used as a way to organize and orient management thought especially in the public sector It contributes both to administrative thought and applied inquiry into philosophy and will be of interest to researchers academics and students in the fields of critical management studies organizational studies and public administration
