Romance And The Cinema:

Love and Marriage Across Social Classes in American Cinema Stephen Sharot, 2016-11-18 This book is the first comprehensive and systematic study of cross class romance films throughout the history of American cinema. It provides vivid discussions of these romantic films, analyses their normative patterns and thematic concerns, traces how they were shaped by inequalities of gender and class in American society and explains why they were especially popular from World War I through the roaring twenties and the Great Depression. In the vast majority of cross class romance films, the female is poor or from the working class, the male is wealthy or from the upper class, and the romance ends successfully in marriage or the promise of marriage.

Love in Contemporary Cinema Benjamín de la Pava Vélez, 2021-07-18 This book looks at social representations of romantic love as portrayed in films and interpreted by their audiences, using cinema as a means for analysing the state of romantic love today and the touchpoints and disconnects between its representation on screen and the lived experiences of film audiences. Through a media sociology lens, the book draws on analysis of five contemporary romantic films and the meanings brought to and made from them by socially and economically diverse audiences. Employing both textual analysis and primary interviews, the book contests overly pessimistic perspectives on modern intimacy while acknowledging and exploring some of the challenges, woes, and changes that romantic love is experiencing in late capitalism. Concerns and debates over monogamy, the teleology of romantic love, and the division of labour in relationships percolate in this book's examination of how audiences' responses to these films reflect their attitudes and expectations regarding romantic love. This book will have great resonance for scholars and students of not just film studies and media studies but also audience studies, media sociology, philosophy, gender, and sexuality.

Passionate Love and Popular Cinema Erica Todd, 2013-12-16 This book analyses the romantic drama and the way that passionate love is presented as the central storyline in popular cinema, drawing upon genre studies and sociology. American Postfeminist Cinema Michele Schreiber, 2014-03-11 In light of their tremendous gains in the political and professional sphere and their ever-expanding options, why is it that most contemporary American films aimed at women still focus almost exclusively on their pursuit of a heterosexual romantic relationship? American Postfeminist Cinema explores this question and is the first book to examine the symbiotic relationship between heterosexual romance and postfeminist culture. The book argues that since 1980, postfeminism's most salient tensions and anxieties have been reflected and negotiated in the American romance film. Case studies of a broad range of Hollywood and independent films reveal how the postfeminist romance cycle is intertwined with contemporary women's ambivalence and broader cultural anxieties about women's changing social and political status.
