Romanian Agriculture and Transition Toward the EU Kenneth J. Thomson, 2003-01-01 Of the ten Central and Eastern European countries that have applied for membership in the European Union Romania ranks among the largest and most impoverished Romania represents the final challenge in the European Union's enlargement to the east largely due to its major but underdeveloped agriculture and food sectors The agriculture industry which is a major component of the national economy extends its pervasive influence to both Romanian social life and environment Consequently the transition towards a market oriented economic system will pose new obstacles for the country's farmers processors traders and policymakers While identifying the impediments that surround Romanian agriculture and its inevitable progression towards transition is a simple task the challenges lie in recommending solutions Through careful analysis of numerous recent studies on reform policies in the Romanian agri food sector during its economic transition this comprehensive examination offers perspicacious suggestions and insights on the following topics in particular international trade credit for agricultural development price policies and rural development The conclusions reached are not only of domestic importance and application they are also of immediate relevance for many post socialist countries for which the agri food sector is a principal vehicle for rural development transformation of Romanian agriculture in order to become integrated and respond to the globalization of markets Rural Transition in Azerbaijan Zvi Lerman, David Sedik, 2010-02-15 In 1995-96 the President of Azerbaijan Heydar Aliyev launched a program of agrarian reforms that caused a sweeping and irreversible shift from Soviet style collective agriculture to individual farming in his country. These reforms led to an impressive recovery and substantial productivity improvements in agriculture. The agrarian transition in Azerbaijan contrasts with that in Russia, Ukraine and Kazakhstan where land privatization has been accompanied by policies encouraging the persistence of large corporate farms and where agricultural recovery has been much less impressive. For this reason Azerbaijan is today viewed as one of the few examples of successful land reform in the former Soviet Union. The impact of the Aliyev agrarian reforms went far beyond the recovery of agricultural production. The new policies had a significant impact on rural poverty and they were instrumental in increasing the incomes of Azerbaijan's large rural population which relies on agriculture for a substantial part of the family budget. To understand the successes and limitations of land reform Rural Transition in Azerbaijan evaluates the record of rural reforms focusing on policy change, farm level performance and the impact of reforms on rural incomes and rural family well-being issues that today are at the core of the agenda in many international organizations OECD Review of Agricultural Policies: Romania 2000 OECD, 2000-09-29 This study of Romania's agricultural policies analyses developments from the dramatic events of December 1989 to the present day preparations for accession to the European Union Reinventing the Cuban Sugar Agroindustry Jorge F. Pérez-López, Jose Alvarez, 2005-01-01 The demise of the international socialist community led to a loss in preferential markets for Cuban sugar industry. In response to the current crisis this volume gathers over a dozen recognized world experts on Cuban agroindustry to analyze specific topics and make recommendations that would reinvent the industry for effective transition to a free market environment Measuring Social and Economic Change in Rural Russia David J. O'Brien, V. V. Patsiorkovskii, 2006-01-01 Measuring Social and Economic Change in Rural Russia is based upon nine household surveys in seven rural regions of Russia from 1991 to 2003 including a four wave panel study over an eight year period. The findings that O'Brien and Patsiorkovsky share in this important work are the only long term indicators of how ordinary people have learned to adapt to an economic system that was thrust upon them when the Soviet Union collapsed. Three main themes are explored: the relationship between formal and informal institutional change; regional responses to reforms; and the impact of household labor, social networks and community involvement and physical capital on inequality in material, social and psychological conditions. This comprehensive study's conceptual and interdisciplinary approach will appeal to anyone interested in the transition of countries from socialist to market economies Russia's Food Policies and Globalization Stephen K. Wegren, 2005-01-01 The post-Soviet period has witnessed Russia's increasing interdependence with other nations in its food trade as in the economy as a whole. President Putin has repeatedly identified international integration as an economic necessity if Russia is to share in the benefits of globalization. In Russia's Food

Policies and Globalization author Stephen K Wegren analyzes the primary questions affecting Russia and globalization How do Russia s domestic and external food policies affect its efforts at international integration How prepared is Russia for global economic integration for instance entrance into the World Trade Organization What are the structural economic and political obstacles that exist in Russia s food policies which in turn hinder closer integration In short will Russia integrate or fall behind and what is the role of food policy in deciding this crucial issue Through an analysis of Russia s contemporary food policies and strategies Wegren places Russia s economic development in a new international context Political scientists economists policymakers and scholars of the Soviet and post Soviet period as well as those interested in rural studies must read this book
