

A man with a beard and long hair, wearing a brown robe, is seated at a desk, writing in a large open book with a quill. A small oil lamp with a flame is on the desk to his right, casting a warm glow. The background shows a dimly lit room with classical architecture, including columns and arches, with a view of a city at dusk or dawn.

Romanosthe Romans:

Rabbis as Romans Hayim Lapin, 2012-07-02 Conventionally the history of the rabbinic movement has been told as a distinctly intra Jewish development a response to the gaping need left by the tragic destruction of the Jerusalem Temple in 70 CE In Rabbis as Romans Hayim Lapin reconfigures that history by drawing sustained attention to the extent to which rabbis participated in and were the product of a Roman and late antique political economy Rabbis as a group were relatively well off literate Jewish men an urban sub elite in a small generally insignificant province of the Roman empire That they were deeply embedded in a wider Roman world is clear from the urban orientation of their texts the rhetoric they used to describe their own group mirroring that used for Greek philosophical schools their open embrace of Roman bathing and their engagement in debates about public morals and gender that crossed regional and ethnic lines Rabbis also form one of the most accessible and well documented examples of a nativizing traditionalist movement in a Roman province It was a movement committed to articulating the social ritual and moral boundaries between an Israelite us and the nations To attend seriously to the contradictory position of rabbis as both within and outside of a provincial cultural economy says Lapin is to uncover the historical contingencies that shaped what later generations understood as simply Judaism and to reexamine in a new light the cultural work of Roman provincialization itself

Roman Identity from the Arab Conquests to the Triumph of Orthodoxy Douglas Whalin, 2021-01-22 This book asks how the inhabitants and neighbours of the Eastern Roman Empire understand their identity as Romans in the centuries following the emergence of Islam as a world religion Its answers lie in exploring the nature of change and continuity of social structures self representation and boundaries as markers of belonging to the Roman group in the period from circa AD 650 to 850 Early medieval Romanness was integral to the Roman imperial project its local utility as an identifier was shaped by a given community s relationship with Constantinople the capital of the Roman state This volume argues that there was fundamental continuity of Roman identity from Late Antiquity through these centuries into later periods Many transformations which are ascribed to the Romans of this era have been subjectively assigned by outsiders separated by time or space and are not born out by the sources This finding dovetails with other recent historical works re evaluating the early medieval Eastern Roman polity and its ideology

Christianization in Early Medieval Transylvania , 2022-06-20 Little is known about the Christianization of east central and eastern Europe due to the fragmentary nature of the historical record Yet occasionally unexpected archaeological discoveries can offer fresh angles and new insights This volume presents such an example the discovery of a Byzantine like church in Alba Iulia Transylvania dating from the 10th century a unique find in terms of both age and function Next to its ruins another church was built at the end of the 11th century following a Roman Catholic architectural model soon to become the seat of the Latin bishopric of Transylvania Who built the older Byzantine style church and what was the political religious and cultural context of the church How does this new discovery affect our perception of the ecclesiastical history of Transylvania A new reading of the archaeological and historical record prompted by these questions is presented here thereby opening up new challenges for further research Contributors are Daniela Marcu Istrate Florin Curta Horia I Ciugudean Aurel Dragot Monica Elena Popescu C lin Cosma Tudor S l gean Jan Nicolae Dan Ioan Mure an Alexandru Madgearu G bor Thoroczkay va T th R v sz Boris Stojkovski erban Turcu Adinel C Dinc Mihai Kov cs Nicolae C lin Chif r Marius Mihail P sculescu and Ana Dumitran

Armenians in the Byzantine Empire is a new study exploring the relationship between the Armenians and Byzantines from the ninth through eleventh centuries Utilising primary sources from multiple traditions the evidence is clear that until the eleventh century Armenian migrants were able to fully assimilate into the Empire in time recognized fully as Romaioi Byzantine Romans From the turn of the eleventh century however migrating groups of Armenians seem to have resisted the previously successful process of assimilation holding onto their ancestral and religious identity and viewing the Byzantines with suspicion This stagnation and ultimate failure to assimilate Armenian migrants into Byzantium has never been thoroughly investigated despite its dire consequences in the late eleventh century when the Empire faced its most severe crisis since the rise of Islam the arrival and settlement of the Turkic peoples in Anatolia Elegiac Poems of Ovid: The
