

Defeated in the English Civil War which had raged since 1642, King Charles I was under house arrest at Whitehall for 10 months in 1647-48.

As he had no friends of the sword but only in 1648 John Burton of Newcastle tried to free him, failed, and was hanged. Afterwards Charles was confined to the castle. But he could walk and play tennis on a green made for him.

As for his page, Henry Frowd, the king tried to escape twice more in the first attempt, he climbed through a window in the bedchamber, but he got stuck in the bars (the king's bedchamber is now inside the museum).

The second attempt was made in this area, where galleries and bedchambers had been built by George Carter 40 years before. Charles tried to climb out of the window above you but he was betrayed by his guard. They had been moved to better escape, but they really turned him in.
