

Royce's Sailing Illustrated Course

The cover begins by showing the various numerical groupings of cabin sailboat hulls at left, and the variety of sail rigs above. The purpose is to help readers choose a sailboat to match their personality in the wide variety of new and used monohull sailboats on the market today.

Many students asked before their lesson what sailboat I'd recommend. It was the agile, spirited, inexpensive Lido 14 page 7. I taught four families a year apart on the same Lido before they bought larger sailboats 35' to 41' long. A rough guess, I had over 40 full day lessons on Lido 14's locally. Discussions were short. Close to docking I always made the Lido heel rapidly with water coming aboard, releasing the main without an upset. The sailboat is always the better, final teacher.

We enjoyed longer lessons on larger sailboats, often on weekends or vacations with owners to become comfortable in a variety of conditions. A dealer sent a student advising, "Don't buy anything over 20' ". The salesman called after the lesson. The reply, "Your customer is action oriented with an easy going personality. He has perfect coordination, an endless bank account, able to take long vacations. I recommended a world cruiser to 50' as he would always have ample crews wanting to join him". Guess this wasn't one of the salesman's better days.

Students purchasing cabin sailboats before the lesson. Over half of them had mismatched personalities. Without a sailing background, they looked for help from the closest "expert". It was a dealer taking advantage to sell the biggest sailboat on his lot. After the lesson it was obvious his boat would soon be for sale. Would he buy another sailboat this time matching his personality. Or would he choose a more hazardous sport... like bird watching?

Fully revised for 1999

Owner/sailboat simpatico personalities. As the mismatched personality pattern became obvious, builders and designers tried to help me develop a visual method for customers to choose from to become happy lifetime sailors, not dabblers.

After 1980 the D/L (displacement to length ratio) settled down introducing length, beam, capacity, and sail area. Our 15 visible hull patterns finally began to emerge. Avoid heavy Displacement and ULDB extremes for your first sailboat. Favor the mid-range D/L. Those in the 110 to 220 D/L provide a more spirited ride with less cubic capacity, the 220 to 320 range provides more capacity and comforts.

Cabin sailboat illustrations for your study and analysis are covered in Course pages 24, and 28 to 33. Page 24 covers pocket weekend sailboats. Pages 28 to 29 cover the well-known Finisterre. Pages 30 and 31 cover the popular Catalina 30, and the Catalina 38 IOR racer. Page 33 details the 1938 Iris for traditionalists.

Detroit sales slogan-- "Nothing is as old as last years model"... doesn't apply. Quality sailboats adequately operated and maintained, may be equal to the latest high and dry Boat Show models... after you know the D/L range to match your personality. Choose your marine surveyor closely before buying any sailboat.

Study dinghy pages 5 thru 8 even though you own a 30' sailboat. You should be equally prepared to enjoy this new sailing world, another Course advantage. Your beautiful sailing world has endless opportunities if you are prepared.

Happy Sailing, Patrick M. Royce
