Corporate Crops Gabriela Pechlaner, 2012-12-01 Biotechnology crop production area increased from 17 million hectares to 148 million hectares worldwide between 1996 to 2010 While genetically modified food is a contentious issue the debates are usually limited to health and environmental concerns ignoring the broader questions of social control that arise when food production methods become corporate owned intellectual property Drawing on legal documents and dozens of interviews with farmers and other stakeholders Corporate Crops covers four case studies based around litigation between biotechnology corporations and farmers Pechlaner investigates the extent to which the proprietary aspects of biotechnologies from patents on seeds to a plethora of new rules and contractual obligations associated with the technologies are reorganizing crop production The lawsuits include patent infringement litigation launched by Monsanto against a Saskatchewan canola farmer who in turn claimed his crops had been involuntarily contaminated by the company's GM technology a class action application by two Saskatchewan organic canola farmers launched against Monsanto and Aventis later Bayer for the loss of their organic market due to contamination with GMOs and two cases in Mississippi in which Monsanto sued farmers for saving seeds containing its patented GM technology Pechlaner argues that well funded corporate lawyers have a decided advantage over independent farmers in the courts and in creating new forms of power and control in agricultural production Corporate Crops demonstrates the effects of this intersection between the courts and the fields where profits not just a food supply are reaped

Toxicity of Pesticides on Health and Environment Robin Mesnage, Gilles-Eric Seralini, 2018-12-07 Public policy is regularly shaken by health crises or unexpected discoveries future directions in toxicology assessment are therefore urgently needed Convergent evidences suggest endocrine or nervous disrupting effects of pesticides as well as effects on wildlife and the environment These effects are amplified by the use of surfactants and or combinations of different active principles The usual concepts of regulatory toxicology are challenged by endocrine nervous or immune disruption or epigenetic effects Indeed most pollutants alter cell cell communication systems to promote chronic diseases They may accumulate in the food chain Mixtures effects with other pollutants may change their bioavailability and their toxicity The lack of scientific knowledge in these matters has large costs for public health This Research Topic focuses on the toxic effects of pesticides associated with large scale cultivation of genetically modified GM plants
