Rhodes and Rhodesia Arthur Keppel-Jones, 1983 This volume deals with the conquest and colonization of Zimbabwe and the establishment of Southern Rhodesia from the beginnings of British involvement in Bechuanaland to the death of Cecil Rhodes Its emphasis is on the white invaders and its chief concern is white individuals their motives actions and influence on events The British South Africa Company and the irregularity of its financial and political operations are dealt with in detail Keppel Jones also discusses the development in the midst of the indigenous population of an alien white society and state from their crude beginnings to their emergence in a form still recognizable today The reader is led to conclude that by 1902 Southern Rhodesia was already set on the road that would lead to the upheavals of the second half of the twentieth century The author examines the racial consciousness and prejudice of the white society and addresses an important question why did the imperial government grant a royal charter to the BSA Company The facts show conclusively that the imperial government had little interest in Central Africa or care for its fate except when foreign competition appeared Keppel Jones also reveals the important role played by black troops employed by the Company in suppressing the rebellions of 1896 7 For opposite reasons neither blacks nor whites have been willing to recognize this on the other hand the habit of the men on the spot of making and carrying out decisions without regard to their superiors in London is a commonplace of imperial history One of the main themes of the book is the tension between the unofficial imperialists straining at the leash and the Colonial Office struggling to hold them back Rhodes and Rhodesia is based on extensive use of public records mainly in the Public Record Office London and the National Archives of Zimbabwe of collections of private papers and of contemporary published works Arthur Keppel Jones is professor emeritus of history at Queen s University

Sons of the Empire Robert Macdonald, 2011-11-01 In Sons of the Empire Robert MacDonald explores popular ideas and myths in Edwardian Britain their use by Baden Powell and their influence on the Boy Scout movement In particular he analyses the model of masculinity provided by the imperial frontier the view that life in younger far flung parts of the empire was stronger less degenerate than in Britain The stereotypical adventurer the frontiersman provided an alternative ethic to British society The best known example of it at the time was Baden Powell himself a war scout the Hero of Mafeking in the South African war and one of the first cult heroes to be created by the modern media When Baden Powell founded the Boy Scouts in 1908 he used both the power of the frontier myth and his own legend as a hero to galvanize the movement The glamour of war scouting was hard to resist its adventures a seductive invitation to the first recruits But Baden Powell had a serious educational program in mind Boy Scouts were to be trained in good citizenship MacDonald documents his study with a wide range of contemporary sources from newspapers to military memoirs Exploring the genesis of an imperial institution through its own texts he brings new insight into the Edwardian age
