Modernity in China before 1949 Edward Denison, 2017-02-17 This book explores China's encounter with architecture and modernity in the tumultuous epoch before Communism an encounter that was mediated not by a singular notion of modernism emanating from the west but that was uniquely multifarious deriving from a variety of sources both from the west and importantly from the east The heterogeneous origins of modernity in China are what make its experience distinctive and its architectural encounters exceptional These experiences are investigated through a re-evaluation of established knowledge of the subject within the wider landscape of modern art practices in China The study draws on original archival and photographic material from different artistic genres and architecturally concentrates on China's engagement with the west through the treaty ports and leased territories the emergence of architecture as a profession in China and Japan's omnipresence not least in Manchuria which reached its apogee in the puppet state of Manchukuo The study's geographically temporally and architecturally inclusive approach framed by the concept of multiple modernities questions the application of conventional theories of modernity or post colonialism to the Chinese situation By challenging conventional modernist historiography that has marginalised the experiences of the west's other for much of the last century this book proposes different ways of grappling with and comprehending the distinction and complexity of China's experiences and its encounter with architectural modernity

Drawing from Life Christine I. Ho, 2020-02-11 Drawing from Life explores revolutionary drawing and sketching in the early People's Republic of China 1949-1965 in order to discover how artists created a national form of socialist realism Tracing the development of seminal works by the major painters Xu Beihong Wang Shikuo Li Keran Li Xiongcai Dong Xiwen and Fu Baoshi author Christine I. Ho reconstructs how artists grappled with the representational politics of a nascent socialist art The divergent approaches styles and genres presented in this study reveal an art world that is both heterogeneous and cosmopolitan Through a history of artistic practices in pursuit of Maoist cultural ambitions to forge new registers of experience new structures of feeling and new aesthetic communities this original book argues that socialist Chinese art presents a critical alternative vision for global modernism

Revolutionary Nativism Maggie Clinton, 2017-03-02 In Revolutionary Nativism Maggie Clinton traces the history and cultural politics of fascist organizations that operated under the umbrella of the Chinese Nationalist Party GMD during the 1920s and 1930s Clinton argues that fascism was not imported to China from Europe or Japan rather it emerged from the charged social conditions that prevailed in the country's southern and coastal regions during the interwar period These fascist groups were led by young militants who believed that reviving China's Confucian national spirit could foster the discipline and social cohesion necessary to defend China against imperialism and Communism and to develop formidable industrial and military capacities thereby securing national strength in a competitive international arena Fascists within the GMD deployed modernist aesthetics in their literature and art while justifying their anti-Communist violence with nativist discourse Showing how the GMD's fascist factions popularized a virulently nationalist rhetoric that linked Confucianism with a specific path of industrial development

Clinton sheds new light on the complex dynamics of Chinese nationalism and modernity Friendship in Art Claire Roberts, 2010-06-01 This book documents in letters photos and paintings a special friendship between two highly creative individuals who helped shape Chinese culture in the twentieth century the revered traditional painter Huang Binhong 1865-1955 and the young cosmopolitan critic and translator Fou Lei 1908-66 As one of China's oldest and most distinguished artists in the 1940s and 1950s Huang Binhong was committed to artistic continuity and reinvigoration of brush and ink painting Fou Lei was a child of the New Culture Movement which repudiated many literati traditions but reached out to Huang Binhong to discuss the possibilities for contemporary Chinese art amid the tides of war and Communist dictates of socialist realism as the guiding priority for cultural workers Both were cultural mediators and translators of ideas and cultural expressions Both had deep appreciation of the common origins of calligraphy and painting rendering complex feelings with brush and ink Their intimate artistic conversations over more than a decade depict their alienation and uncertainty amid China's turbulent cultural politics

Print, Profit, and Perception Pei-yin Lin, Weipin Tsai, 2014-02-06 Print Profit and Perception examines the dynamic cross cultural exchanges occurring in China and Taiwan from the first Sino-Japanese War to the mid twentieth century Drawing examples from various genres this interdisciplinary volume presents nine empirically grounded case studies on the growth in the production dissemination and consumption of texts which lay behind a dramatic expansion of knowledge The chapters collectively address the co existence of globalization and localization processes in the period By taking into account intra Asian cultural encounters and tracing the multiple competing forces encountered by many this book offers a fresh and compelling take on how individuals and social groups participated in transnational conceptual flows Contributors include Paul Bailey Che Chia Chang Elizabeth Emrich Tze Ki Hon Max K W Huang Mei e Huang Mike Shi Chi Lan Pei Yin Lin and Weipin Tsai

Art and Modernism in Socialist China Shuyu Kong, Julia F. Andrews, Shengtian Zheng, 2024-06-06 This edited volume will be the first book examining the art history of China's socialist period from the perspective of modernism modernity and global interactions The majority of chapters are based on newly available archival materials and fresh critical frameworks concepts By shifting the frame of interpretation from socialist realism to socialist modernity this study reveals the plurality of the historical process of developing modernity in China the autonomy of artistic agency and the complexity of an art world conditioned yet not completely confined by its surrounding political and ideological apparatus The unexpected global exchanges examined by many of the authors in this study and the divergent approaches topics and genres they present add new sources and insights to this research field revealing an art history that is heterogeneous pluralistic and multi layered The book will be of interest to scholars working in art history art and politics and Chinese studies

The Age of Openness Frank Dikotter, 2008-07-01 The era between empire and communism is routinely portrayed as a catastrophic interlude in China's modern history but this engagingly written book shows instead that the first half of the twentieth century witnessed a qualitatively unprecedented trend towards openness Frank Dik tter argues that the years from 1900 to 1949 were characterised at all levels of society by engagement with the world and that the pursuit of openness was particularly evident in four areas in governance and the advance of the rule of law and of newly acquired liberties in freedom of movement in and out of the country in open minds thriving on ideas from the humanities and sciences and in open markets and sustained growth in the economy Freedom of association freedom to travel freedom of religion freedom to trade and relative freedom of speech wrought profound changes in the texture of everyday life While globalisation itself was a vector of cultural diversification pre existing constellations of ideas practices and institutions did not simply vanish on contact with the rest of the world but on the contrary expanded even further just as much as local industries diversified thanks to their inclusion into a much larger global market Arguably the country was at its most diverse in its entire history on the eve of World War II in terms of politics society culture and the economy Accessible to general readers while providing an integration of ideas that will be valuable for specialists this book presents a fresh way of approaching the history of modern China
