China, 1845-1965 Christian Henriot,Wen-hsin Yeh,2012-11-09 In Visualizing China the authors launch a broad inquiry aimed at a synergistic understanding of the story of visuality in modern China The essays cluster around several nodal points including photographs advertising posters and movies from the 1840s to the 1960s The Shanghai Alleyway House

Gregory Bracken,2013-03-05 As a nineteenth century commercial development the alleyway house was a hybrid of the traditional Chinese courtyard house and the Western terraced one Unique to Shanghai the alleyway house was a space where the blurring of the boundaries of public and private life created a vibrant social community In recent years however the city's rapid redevelopment has meant that the alleyway house is being destroyed and this book seeks to understand it in terms of the lifestyle it engendered for those who called it home whilst also looking to the future of the alleyway house Based on groundwork research this book examines the Shanghai alleyway house in light of the complex history of the city especially during the colonial era It also explores the history of urban form and governance in China in order to question how the Eastern and Western traditions combined in Shanghai to produce a unique and dynamic housing typology Construction techniques and different alleyway house sub genres are also examined as is the way of life they engendered including some of the side effects of alleyway house life such as the literature it inspired both foreign and local as well as the portrayal of life in the laneways as seen in films set in the city The book ends by posing the question what next for the alleyway house Does it even have a future and if so what lies ahead for this rapidly vanishing typology This interdisciplinary book will be welcomed by students and scholars of Chinese studies architecture and urban development as well as history and literature

Retrofitting Leninism Dimitar D. Gueorguiev, 2021 Retrofitting Leninism explains through the lens of China how open governance and modern information technology come together to sustain a tightly controlled but socially responsive system of authoritarianism When closed authoritarian regimes reform and open up they often fail most eventually breakdown The People s Republic of China stands as a notable exception How has the ruling Chinese Communist Party maintained power throughout decades of reform and rapid development Drawing inspiration from the CCP s Leninist origins Dimitar Gueorguiev offers a novel and empirically grounded explanation The key to the CCP s staying power he argues is its ability to integrate authoritarian control with social inclusion a combination that is being facilitated by modern telecommunications technology Relying on statistical data media reports and a series of original opinion polls Gueorguiev explores how public input feeds into political oversight and policy planning To unpack how public preferences are acquired processed and prioritized he analyses bottom up representation and coordination in local Chinese legislatures Finally to evaluate the impact of inclusion he shows that public engagement contributes to both policy stability and public satisfaction Although public inclusion is instrumental to the CCP s hold on power Gueorguiev underscores that inclusive authoritarianism greatly depends on the voluntary participation of Chinese citizens which is far from guaranteed A trenchant exploration of the Leninist model today Retrofitting Leninism will reshape our understanding of the authoritarian approach to government and its prospects for the future Run of the Red Queen Dan Breznitz, Michael Murphree, 2011-01-01 This work closely examines the strengths and weaknesses of the Chinese economic system to discover where the nation may be headed and what the Chinese experience reveals about emerging market economies Lost in Globalization Leonardo Citterio, Joseph Di Pasquale, 2015 Residential construction best expresses the evolution of the Chinese lifestyle over the years and is one of the major problems generated by the new massive Chinese urbanization The city main structure is easily recognizable a large sprawl of buildings almost placed without a hierarchical disposition In the various lots are easily identifiable several patterns Only with the typologies study can be possible understand the relationship between the various political events the lifestyles and the form The contrast in morphology between the different prototypes seem to be a sudden mutation but actually suggest a gradual housing typological evolution lasting over a century
