The Genesis of Roman Architecture John North Hopkins,2016-01-01 An important new look at Rome s earliest buildings and their context within the broader tradition of Mediterranean culture This groundbreaking study traces the development of Roman architecture and its sculpture from the earliest days to the middle of the 5th century BCE Existing narratives cast the Greeks as the progenitors of classical art and architecture or rely on historical sources dating centuries after the fact to establish the Roman context Author John North Hopkins however allows the material and visual record to play the primary role in telling the story of Rome s origins synthesizing important new evidence from recent excavations Hopkins s detailed account of urban growth and artistic political and social exchange establishes strong parallels with communities across the Mediterranean From the late 7th century Romans looked to increasingly distant lands for shifts in artistic production By the end of the archaic period they were building temples that would outstrip the monumentality of even those on the Greek mainland The book s extensive illustrations feature new reconstructions allowing readers a rare visual exploration of this fragmentary evidence

Art, Architecture, and the Moving Viewer, c. 300-1500 CE, 2022-04-19 Premodern architecture and built environments were fluid spaces whose configurations and meanings were constantly adapting and changing The production of transitory meaning transpired whenever a body or object moved through these dynamic spaces Whether spanning the short duration of a procession or the centuries of a building's longue durée a body or object in motion created in the moment narratives that unfolded through time and space The authors in this volume forge new approaches to architectural studies by focusing on the interaction between monuments artworks and their viewers at different points in space and time Contributors are Christopher A Born Elizabeth Carson Pastan Nicole Corrigan Gillian B Elliott Barbara Franz Anne Heath Philip Jacks Divya Kumar Dumas Brigitte Kurmann Schwarz Ashley J Laverock Susan Leibacher Ward Elodie Leschot Meghan Mattsson McGinnis Michael Sizer Kelly Thor and Laura J Whatley Etruscan and Early Roman Architecture Axel Boëthius, Roger Ling, Tom Rasmussen, 1978-01-01 Axel Boëthius's account begins about 1400 B C with the primitive villages of the Italic tribes The scene was transformed by the arrival of the Greeks and by the Etruscans who by about 600 had Rome and Central Italy under their cultural spell Johann Joachim Winckelmann on Art, Architecture, and Archaeology Johann Joachim Winckelmann, 2013 Modern English translations of several of the most important essays of Winckelmann one of the fathers of art history and archaeology and a strong influence on Goethe and Schiller and Weimar Classicism Johann Joachim Winckelmann 1717-68 has long been recognized as one of the founders of modern art history and a major force in the development of archaeology and the study of ancient Greek architecture He also exerted an influence on the Weimar Classicism of Goethe and Schiller for whom his description of Greek sculpture as evoking edle Einfalt und stille Grösse noble simplicity and a calm greatness became a watchword He contributed to modern scientific archaeology through his application of empirically derived categories of style to the analysis of classical works of art and architecture and was one of the first to undertake detailed empirical examinations of artifacts and describe them precisely in a way that enabled reasoned conclusions to be drawn about ancient societies and their cultures Yet several of his important essays are not available in modern English translation The present volume remedies this situation by collecting four of Winckelmann's most seminal essays on art along with several shorter pieces on the topic two major if brief essays on architecture and one longer essay on archaeology Paired with this is an introduction covering Winckelmann's life and work David Carter is retired as Professor of Communicative English at Yonsei University Seoul Korea and is former Lecturer in German Studies at the University of Southampton UK Among his recently published translations from German are Klaus Mann's novel Alexander 2008 and On Cocaine 2011 a collection of Sigmund Freud's writings on the topic
