This book aims to help policy makers stakeholders practitioners and teachers in psychology and education provide more effective interventions in educational contexts It responds to disappointment and global concern about the failure to implement psychological and other interventions successfully in real world contexts Often interventions carefully designed and trialed under controlled conditions prove unpredictable or ineffective in uncontrolled real life situations This book looks at why this is the case and pulls together evidence from a range of sources to create original frameworks and guidelines for effective implementation of interventions The Antidote Peter Beresford, 2025-05-28

The gap between personal and formal politics has been widening globally and locally As personal politics have become more inclusive and egalitarian inspired by new social movements neoliberal ideologies have undermined democracy increasing isolation inequality poverty disease and environmental threat Yet this paradox may also offer a path to transformation Using international evidence and examples The Antidote explores what we can learn from the equalisation of personal roles and relationships that s been taking place to help us reconnect with ourselves and each other and make possible more participatory and liberatory policy and politics It sets out the barriers we face and offers a route map to bring an end to the destructive effects of unfettered neoliberal ideology economics policy and politics Bulletin of Books in the Various Departments of Literature and Science Added to
