Round Ireland In Low Gear:

Round Ireland in Low Gear Eric Newby, 2013-02-21 You've had some pretty crazy ideas in your life Newby but this is the craziest Grandmother Wanda Newby was exasperated after continuous rain snow and gales that knocked her from her bike Twice Round Ireland in Low Gear Counter Display Eric Newby, 1989-05-02 Having decided to explore Ireland by bicycle Eric and Wanda Newby set out one December not the best time to ride a bike around the highways and byways of the Emerald Isle even when protected by thermal underwear From the Cliffs of Moher to St Brigid's Vat Dublin the Aran Islands the Ring of Kerry and Croagh Patrick their rainsoaked journey is beset by minor disaster ranging from ferocious storms to even more ferocious dogs Along the way they come across a moving miracle working statue of the Virgin spectacular ruins and the traces of twentieth century violence in between stops for Guinness tea and soda bread Woven into the narrative is a wealth of information about Irish history and custom hermits horse fairs peat cutting and poetry are all touched on in this deft and dazzling blend of myth fact and quirky details And as usual with Eric Newby this beguiling account is enlivened by a cast of eccentric and utterly engaging characters The Tourist's Gaze Glenn Hooper, 2001 Travel literature has been described by Jonathan Raban as literature's red light district It defies people's beliefs confuses expectations crosses disciplinary boundaries and is linked to ethnography journalism and biography Yet for all that has managed to remain not only a visible but also an increasingly popular literary genre This anthology makes an entertaining and insightful contribution to this engaging field It includes extracts from well known writers such as Thackeray Boll and Chesterton but also presents less familiar figures from the nineteenth and twentieth centuries The seventy pieces collected here both offer sharp observations of the country and are equally revealing about the travelers themselves Each extract where possible is prefaced by a brief biography of its author For readers interested in the origins and historical role of travel writing in general and how they relate to Ireland the editor offers an illuminating introduction This anthology presents illuminating snapshots of Ireland over two hundred years It also provides insights into the varied perspectives of the travelers themselves a perspective often influenced by contemporary political events such as the Great Famine Home Rule the Civil War and the Troubles This anthology leaves the reader with an enduring image of Ireland's ability to fascinate and stimulate visitors through two centuries Making Ireland Irish Eric G. E. Zuelow, 2009-03-01 From the dark shadow of civil war to the pastel painted towns of today Making Ireland Irish provides a sweeping account of the evolution of the Irish tourist industry over the twentieth century Drawing on an extensive array of previously untapped or underused sources Eric G. E. Zuelow examines how a small group of tourism advocates inspired by tourist development movements in countries such as France and Spain worked tirelessly to convince their Irish compatriots that tourism was the secret to Ireland's success Over time tourism went from being a national joke to a national interest Men and women from across Irish society joined in eager to help shape their country and culture for visitors' eyes The result was Ireland as it is depicted today a land of blue skies smiling faces pastel towns natural beauty ancient history and timeless traditions With lucid prose and vivid detail Zuelow explains how careful planning transformed Irish towns and villages from grey and unattractive to bright and inviting sanitized Irish history to avoid offending Ireland's largest tourist market the English and supplanted traditional rural fairs revolving around muddy animals and featuring sexually suggestive ceremonies with new family friendly festivals and events filling today's tourist calendar By challenging existing notions that the Irish tourist product is either timeless or the consequence of colonialism Zuelow demonstrates that the development of tourist imagery and Irish national identity was not the result of a handful of elites or a postcolonial legacy but rather the product of an extended discussion that ultimately involved a broad cross section of society both inside and outside Ireland Tourism he argues played a vital role in making Ireland Irish

Journeys in Ireland Martin Ryle, 2016-12-05 This volume offers a reasoned critical account of a wide range of travel writing about rural Ireland The focus is on work by English travellers who visited Ireland for pleasure from the scenic tourists of the post Romantic period to Eric Newby in the 1980s Ryle also discusses accounts by American and English anthropologists as well as writing by Irish authors including J M Synge George Moore Sean O Faolain and Colm Tóibín The materials reviewed and discussed here including many books which are now difficult to find offer illuminating and sometimes entertaining evidence about the development of tourism Ryle also shows how the discourses and practices of pleasurable travel have intersected with and been marked by the dimensions of power and proprietorship hegemony and resistance which have characterised Anglo Irish and Hiberno English cultural relations over the last two centuries Journeys in Ireland will interest all those concerned with the literature and history of those relations and will be an invaluable resource for scholars teachers and students concerned with travel writing and tourism with and beyond these islands
