Roundup At The Palace:

Blood and History in China John W. Dardess, 2002-02-28 From 1625 to 1627 scholar officials belonging to a militant Confucianist group known as the Donglin Faction suffered one of the most gruesome political repressions in China's history. Many were purged from key positions in the central government for their relentless push for a national moral rearmament under the Tianqi emperor. While their martyrs' deaths won them a lasting reputation for heroism and steadfastness, their opponents are remembered for fatally degrading the quality of Ming political life with their arrests and tortures of Donglin partisans. John Dardess employs a wide range of little-used primary sources: letters, diaries, eyewitness accounts, memorials, imperial edicts, to provide a remarkably detailed narrative of the inner workings of Ming government and of this dramatic period as a whole. Comparing the repression with the Tiananmen demonstrations of 1989, he argues that Tiananmen offers compelling clues to a rereading of the events of the 1620s. Leaders of both movements were less interested in practical reform than in communicating sincere moral feelings to rulers and the public. In the end, the protesters succeeded in commemorating their dead and imprisoned and in disgracing those responsible for the violence. A work of unprecedented depth skillfully told, Blood and History in China will be appreciated by specialists in intellectual history and Ming and early Qing studies.

The Stars Must Wait Keith Laumer, 2016-03-24 Awakened from suspended animation aboard his exploration starship, John Jackson is shocked to discover that the ship never left Earth and that he has slept a century after a world war. Facing a nightmare wilderness inhabited by neo-barbarians and sentient tanks, Jackson is the only man who can bring the world to its senses.

America & Islam Lawrence Pintak, 2019-06-27 Donald Trump's first term as the 45th President of the United States of America has shocked the world. His attitudes towards Islam became a key point of contention on the campaign trail, and in power, Trump has continued his war of divisive words and deeds. Here, acclaimed journalist Lawrence Pintak scrutinizes America's relationship with Islam since its foundation, casting Donald Trump as a symptom of decades of misunderstanding and demonization of the Islamic world, as well as a cause of future tensions. Pintak shows how and why America's relationship with the world's largest religion has been so fractious, damaging, and self-defeating. Featuring unique interviews with victims and perpetrators of Trump's policies, as well as analysis of the media's role in inflaming debate, America & Islam seeks to provide a complete guide to the twin challenges of terrorism and the polarizing rhetoric that fuels it, and sketches out a future based on co-operation and the reassertion of democratic values.

Destiny William Emmett, 2013-04-25 The cratered surface of the moon sped past in total silence. Menem absorbed in his instruments felt the first bump and looked up. Instantly he could see the rocky cloud of boulders crashing toward Explorer 2 at tremendous speed. With eyes full of terror, he screamed out, "Stan, get to your seat!" Stan dashed into the control room, eyes wide and white-faced. Menem felt the ship twist in the air violently as the room exploded in fire around him. Then a fearsome explosion sent him into oblivion. Pieces of the ship, glowing from the heat of destruction, blasted out into the void, cascading into a huge firestorm.
