Scotland and Nationalism Christopher T. Harvie, 1986-01-01 Scotland and Nationalism Christopher Harvie, 1977-01-01 Cosmo Innes and the Defence of Scotland's Past c. 1825-1875 Richard A.

Marsden, 2016-05-13 Today Scotland's history is frequently associated with the clarion call of political nationalism However in the nineteenth century the influence of history on Scottish national identity was far more ambiguous How then did ideas about the past shape Scottish identity in a period when union with England was all but unquestioned The activities of the antiquary Cosmo Innes 1798 1874 help us to address this question Innes was a prolific editor of medieval and early modern documents relating to Scotland's parliament legal system burghs universities aristocratic families and pre Reformation church Yet unlike scholars today he saw that editorial role in interventionist terms His source editions were artificial constructs that powerfully articulated his worldview and agendas emphasising Enlightenment inspired narratives of social progress and institutional development At the same time they used manuscript facsimiles and images of medieval architecture to foreground a romantic concern for the texture of past lives Innes operated within an elite associational culture which gave him access to the leading intellectuals and politicians of the day His representations of Scottish history therefore had significant influence and were put to work as commentaries on some of the major debates which exorcised Scotland's intelligentsia across the middle decades of the century This analysis of Innes's work with sources set within the intellectual context of the time and against the antiquarian activities of his contemporaries provides a window onto the ways in which the national past was perceived in Scotland during the nineteenth century This allows us to explore how historical thinkers negotiated the apparent dichotomies between Enlightenment and Romanticism whilst at the same time enabling a re examination of prevailing assumptions about Scotland's supposed failure to maintain a viable national consciousness in the later 1800s die Irish Home Rule bis zur Reorganisation der Scottish Unionist Party im Jahr 1965 Anhand des unionistischen Diskurses in dieser Zeit zeigt er die Komplexität der verfassungsrechtlichen und kulturellen Beziehungen Schottlands mit dem Rest des Vereinigten Königreichs auf

Church and Society in Edinburgh 1850-1905 Christine Lumsden, 2025-09-24 This study examines the relationship between denominational affiliation class and gender in the city of Edinburgh between 1850 and 1905 The churches played a leading role in the movements for social and political reform both locally and nationally The diversity of church life is shown in the various schisms within Scottish Presbyterianism which gradually reunited although always with some individual congregations remaining outwith the unions The various religious revivals which occurred during this period stimulated church growth and led to the development of philanthropy as an expression of faith in Christ Although Presbyterianism was the dominant form of church government in Scotland other denominations also played their part in the religious life of the city In the social analysis of congregations contrasting pairs of churches are examined as are missions to the poor who preferred to worship in their own environment These missions were usually operated as evangelical outreach from large charges as examples of Christianity in action where members sought to improve their social and moral conditions

Global Force David Forsyth, 2016-04-08 This volume emerged from an international research colloquium jointly organised by National Museums Scotland and the Scottish Centre for Diaspora Studies University of Edinburgh funded by the Scottish Government and administered by the Royal Society of Edinburgh Historians and museum curators from Australia Canada New Zealand and South Africa were invited to join with their Scottish counterparts to consider the functioning and the meaning of military Scottishness in different Commonwealth countries and in Britain from the late Victorian period to the present day with a particular focus on the impact of the First World War Another key objective was to throw light on the hidden culture of social networking which potentially operated behind local regiments and military units amongst Scotland's global diaspora This edited collection provides a comparative overview of the nineteenth century emergence of military Scottishness and explores how the construction and performance of Scottish military identity has evolved in different Commonwealth countries over the late nineteenth and twentieth centuries In particular it looks at the ways in which Scottish volunteer regiments in Commonwealth countries variously sought to draw upon align themselves with or at certain key moments redefine the assertions of martial identity which Highland regiments represented

party was one of the shortest lived political parties in British history It was formed in 1886 by a faction of the Liberal party led by Lord Hartington which opposed Irish home rule In 1895 it entered into a coalition government with the Conservative party and in 1912 now under the leadership of Joseph Chamberlain it amalgamated with the Conservatives Ian Cawood here uses previously unpublished archival material to provide the first complete study of the Liberal Unionist party He argues that the party was a genuinely successful political movement with widespread activist and popular support which resulted in the development of an authentic Liberal Unionist culture across Britain in the mid 1890s The issues which this book explores are central to an understanding of the development of the twentieth century Conservative party the emergence of a national political culture and the problems both organisational and ideological of a sustained period of coalition in the British parliamentary system
