Shared Symbols Contested Meanings:

Shared Symbols, Contested Meanings Loretta Fowler, 1987 Fort Belknap reservation in Montana is home to both the Gros Ventre and Assiniboiné Indian tribes. The two thousand inhabitants of the reservation recognize an array of symbols political, ritual, and sacred which have meaning and emotional impact for all yet there is sharp disagreement between the two tribes and among the various age groups about the interpretation of these symbols. Anthropologist Loretta Fowler here examines the history and culture of the Gros Ventres over two centuries seeking to discover why the residents of Fort Belknap ascribe different and often opposing meanings to their shared cultural symbols and how these differences have influenced Gros Ventre identity.

Contours of a People Nicole St-Onge, Carolyn Podruchny, Brenda Macdougall, 2014-12-18 What does it mean to be Métis? How do the Métis understand their world and how do family, community, and location shape their consciousness? Such questions inform this collection of essays on the northwestern North American people of mixed European and Native ancestry who emerged in the seventeenth century as a distinct culture. Volume editors Nicole St-Onge, Carolyn Podruchny, and Brenda Macdougall go beyond the concern with race and ethnicity that takes center stage in most discussions of Métis culture to offer new ways of thinking about Métis identity. Geography, mobility, and family have always defined Métis culture and society. The Métis world spanned the better part of a continent and a major theme of Contours of a People is the Métis conception of geography not only how Métis people used their environments but how they gave meaning to place and developed connections to multiple landscapes. Their geographic familiarity, physical and social mobility, and maintenance of family ties across time and space appear to have evolved in connection with the fur trade and other commercial endeavors. These efforts and the cultural practices that emerged from them have contributed to a sense of community and the nationalist sentiment felt by many Métis today. Writing about a wide geographic area, the contributors consider issues ranging from Métis rights under Canadian law and how the Library of Congress categorizes Métis scholarship to the role of women in maintaining economic and social networks. The authors' emphasis on geography and its power in shaping identity will influence and enlighten Canadian and American scholars across a variety of disciplines.

The Chicago Guide to Collaborative Ethnography Luke Eric Lassiter, 2024-05-31 Collaboration between ethnographers and subjects has long been a product of the close, intimate relationships that define ethnographic research. But increasingly, collaboration is no longer viewed as merely a consequence of fieldwork; instead, collaboration now preconditions and shapes research design as well as its dissemination. As a result, ethnographic subjects are shifting from being informants to being consultants. The emergence of collaborative ethnography highlights this relationship between consultant and ethnographer, moving it to center stage as a calculated part not only of fieldwork but also of the writing process itself. The Chicago Guide to Collaborative Ethnography presents a historical, theoretical, and practice-oriented road map for this shift from incidental collaboration to a more conscious and explicit collaborative strategy. Luke Eric Lassiter charts the history of collaborative ethnography from its earliest implementation to its contemporary emergence in fields such as feminism humanistic anthropology and critical ethnography On this historical and theoretical base Lassiter outlines concrete steps for achieving a more deliberate and overt collaborative practice throughout the processes of fieldwork and writing As a participatory action situated in the ethical commitments between ethnographers and consultants and focused on the co construction of texts collaborative ethnography argues Lassiter is among the most powerful ways to press ethnographic fieldwork and writing into the service of an applied and public scholarship A comprehensive and highly accessible handbook for ethnographers of all stripes The Chicago Guide to Collaborative Ethnography will become a fixture in the development of a critical practice of anthropology invaluable to both undergraduates graduate students and faculty alike The Politics of Memory Michael M. Tavuzzi, Joanne Rappaport, 1997 How does a culture in which writing is not a prominent feature create historical tradition Researcher Joanne Rappaport answers the question by tracing the past three centuries of intellectual history of the Nasa a community in the Colombian Andes Originally published in 1990 but of continuing interest to all scholars of Latin America 21 illustrations The Destruction of the Bison Andrew C. Isenberg, 2020-03-26 For the last twenty years The Destruction of the Bison has been an essential work in environmental history Andrew C Isenberg offers a concise analysis of the near extinction of the North American bison population from an estimated 30 million in 1800 to fewer than 1000 a century later His wide ranging interdisciplinary study carefully considers the multiple causes cultural and ecological of the destruction of the species The twentieth anniversary edition includes a new foreword connecting this seminal work to developments in the field notably new perspectives in Native American history and the rise of transnational history and placing the story of the bison in global context A new afterword extends the study to the twenty first century underlining the continued importance of this ground breaking text for current and future students and scholars A Companion to American Indian History Philip J.
