Sitting in a prison cell in the autumn of 1944 the German author Hans Fallada sums up his life under the National Socialist dictatorship the time of inward emigration. Under conditions of close confinement in constant fear of discovery he writes himself free from the nightmare of the Nazi years. He records his thoughts about spying and denunciation about the threat to his livelihood and his literary work and about the fate of many friends and contemporaries. The confessional mode did not come naturally to Fallada but in the mental and emotional distress of 1944 self-reflection became a survival strategy. Fallada's frank and sometimes provocative memoirs were thought for many years to have been lost. They are published here for the first time. A Marne Mind Cy Mulholland, 2012-02-01 Many who suffer from post-traumatic stress disorder do not realize what is going inside themselves. Unfortunately those who return home from combat or who have experienced any other type of traumatic event remain in the battle the war within. Could it be that PTSD is merely physiological symptoms related to trauma or is it so much more than that? A Marne Mind explains the advantage of coping skills and the relationship among physical mental emotional and spiritual ruin and well-being while constantly pointing to the greatest source of healing and recovery. Search for A Marne Mind: A Soldier's War with Recovery on Facebook to become a part of the Marne Mind Mission of raising awareness about PTSD and recovery. 5% of all proceeds will be donated to Operation Resilient Warrior a nonprofit organization dedicated to helping soldiers and their families. Basso, 2022-02-11 There are currently a record-setting number of forcibly displaced persons in the world. This number continues to rise as solutions to alleviate humanitarian catastrophes of large-scale violence and displacement continue to fail. The likelihood of the displaced returning to their homes is becoming increasingly unlikely. In many cases their homes have been destroyed as the result of violence. Why are the homes of certain populations targeted for destruction? What are the impacts of loss of home upon children adults families communities and societies? If having a home is a fundamental human right then why is the destruction of home not viewed as a rights violation and punished accordingly? From Bureaucracy to Bullets answers these questions and more by focusing on the violent practice of extreme domicide or the intentional destruction of the home as a central and overlooked human rights issue. I Too Am Here Jane Welsh Carlyle, 1977 This fascinating collection of Jane Carlyle's letters are arranged in sections corresponding to the main themes in her life. This is a book to read right through with riveted enjoyment. It is one of the most fascinating correspondences in the English language. Dagobert Rita Traut Kabeto, 2012-06-06 Dagobert is the third book in a trilogy about life and its
