E. Schlosser, Paul G. Hoffman, 2013-07-16 Tales of hauntings strange happenings and other local lore throughout the Yellowstone National Park Half Way Home from Kinderlou James Edward Alexander, 2008-01-10 Through a collection of short stories a grandfather describes his happy childhood in the small town of Valdosta Georgia It was a simple time when children played simple games with simple toys Those were the days when failure of a child to say yes ma'am and yes sir to grown folks was considered an act of disrespect which brought swift rebuke and punishment from the disrespected adult and the child's parents Most homeowners in his neighborhood only dreamed of indoor plumbing electric lights and home telephone service Despite the prevailing social order dictated by racial segregation which choked the advancement of some of his neighbors little James Edward was often permitted broader liberties to expand his borders simply because all of the adults encouraged his growth His timing was right Colored adults nourished his self confidence as though vicariously rekindling their own aspirations White adults saw a fast moving innocent youngster with a cautious and keen intellect so letting him roam was a gift to a child which did not threaten their prerogatives So adults of both races sought ways to assuage the harshness of segregation for little James Edward by smothering him with affection and special attention The effects of this esteem is reflected in his pleasant memories of the post depression years and other events of that time Contact with Reality Esther Lightcap Meek, 2017-05-05 Is knowledge discovered or just invented Can we ever get outside ourselves to know how reality is in itself independent of us Philosophical realism raises the question whether in our knowing we connect with an independent reality or only connect with our own mental constructs Far from being a silly parlor game the question impacts our lives concretely and deeply Modern Western culture has been infected with antirealism and the doubt skepticism subjectivism relativism and atheism that attends it not to mention distrust and arbitrary mis use of reality Premier scientist turned philosopher Michael Polanyi stepped aside from research to offer an innovative account of knowing that takes its cue from how discovery actually happens Polanyi defied the antirealism of the twentieth century sounding a ringing note of hope in his repeated claim that in discovery we know we have made contact with reality because we have a sense of the possibility of indeterminate future manifestations And that sense marks contact with reality because it is the way reality is abundant generous and fraught with as yet unnameable possibilities This book examines that distinctive claim contrasting it to the wider philosophical discussions regarding realism and antirealism in the recent decades It shows why Polanyi's outlook is superior and why that matters not just to scientific discoverers but to us all Sugar Creek Gang Series Books 1-36 Paul Hutchens, 1999-01-01 This set includes the entire collection of the Sugar Creek Gang Series books 1-36 The Sugar Creek Gang series chronicles the faith
