Mindmelding William Hirstein, 2012-01-26 In this important and controversial new book William Hirstein argues that it is possible for one person to directly experience the conscious states of another by way of what he calls mindmelding Drawing on a range of research from neuroscience psychology and philosophy he presents a highly original new account of consciousness

Sartre, Self-formation, and Masculinities Jean-Pierre Boulé, 2005 Published on the occasion of Sartre's Centenary this book helps to understand the man behind the work offering a psycho social analysis of Jean Paul Sartre with an emphasis on his masculinity It sets out to contextualize Sartre in terms of his psycho sexual formation and processes of self constitution in view of his childhood The main period under detailed study is 1905-1945 before Sartre became the Sartre It concentrates on his early childhood his teenage years in La Rochelle the years at the Ecole Normale and the first few years of his adulthood with specific attention on the war years An analysis of Sartre's relationships follows with Simone de Beauvoir and other women and men including love and sex before a postscript covering the period 1973-1980 This essay is not a reductive account It tells the story of Jean Paul Sartre from the inside out so that the achievements of one of the major intellectuals of the 20th Century can be measured against his own internal struggles

The World at Our Fingertips Frédérique de Vignemont, Andrea Serino, Hong Yu Wong, Alessandro Farnè, 2021 Research into peripersonal space has yielded exciting discoveries across many fields from anthropology to cognitive neuroscience Bringing these perspectives together for the first time The World at Our Fingertips presents a fresh accessible dialogue challenging entrenched ideas about the way people see and understand the world around them

The Presence of the Dead in Our Lives, 2012-01-01 This volume offers a selection of articles from authors representing a wide array of disciplines all of whom explore the following central theme how can the presence of the dead take life in the hearts of the living Although individuals die they can indeed remain present But how Authors in this volume explicate practical mourning strategies to help survivors cope with the tremendous sadness and emptiness experienced when we lose someone we love

Reflections in Personal Construct Theory Richard Butler, 2009-03-18 Internationally renowned practitioners discuss the impact of reflexivity on their work giving those new to personal construct psychology valuable insights and guidance on managing the therapeutic relationship Reflexivity is a key methodological issue in psychological theory and practice and is an area of growing interest International contributors include prominent constructivist psychologists such as Richard Bell and David Winter Will help constructivist therapists to gain a better understanding of the nature of personal constructs from the perspective of both client and therapist

The Gift of the White Tigers Joseph Di Ruzzo, 2013-04-15 This parable of self actualization offers valuable lessons tools and insights for living a richer more fulfilling and more satisfying life As two White Tigers plan to have a family they go in search of life wisdom to pass down to the next generation Their magical journey leads readers down a path of discovery that will enrich their lives Through this simple parable Dr Joe Di Ruzzo explores the values that are essential for a life lived to its potential From Freud to Maslow to neurolinguistic programming Di Ruzzo summarizes the ongoing search for healthier families and happier lives As a continuation of humanity s effort to understand life s purpose the story of The Gift of the White Tigers is as old as the history of mankind Necroculture Charles Thorpe,2016-06-24 In this book the author draws on Karl Marx s writings on alienation and Erich Fromm s conception of necrophilia in order to understand these aspects of contemporary culture as expressions of the domination of the living by the dead under capitalism Necroculture is the ideological reflection and material manifestation of this basic feature of capitalism the rule of dead capital over living labor The author argues that necroculture represents the subsumption of the world by vampire capital Philosophical Health

Luis de Miranda,2023-12-28 Bringing together leading international and interdisciplinary scholars this ground breaking volume examines the theory and practice of philosophical health in contemporary contexts of care broadly understood care for the self care for the other and care for the world But what do we mean by philosophical health Whilst this book does not seek to provide a normative definition as it explores disparate perspectives and encourages pluralism in philosophical ways of life one may envision philosophical health as a state of creative coherence between a person s or a group s way of thinking and their way of acting such that the possibilities for a good life are increased and the needs for flourishing satisfied An idea central to philosophical health is the concept of possibility Without a sense of self possibility and openness to the future health loses meaning and conversely pathologies are defined by various kinds of impossibilities As such philosophical health reconsiders care as a process of cultivating or pruning the compossible in embodied psychological and social terms of allowing things to re generate or in some cases to vanish Drawing on the history of philosophy phenomenology new materialism post colonialism but also a wide range of contemporary approaches to philosophical practice Philosophical Health sheds light on the understudied philosophical dimension of care and the healing dimension of philosophizing Advocating philosophy as a lived practice it uncovers the increasing relevance of philosophical health to contemporary debates on well being well belonging counselling and development Time To Know Them Marilyn S.

Sternglass,2017-09-25 In a time of declining resources in institutions of higher education we grapple with how priorities are to be set for the limited resources available Most vulnerable are those students labeled underprepared by colleges and universities Should we argue that the limited resources available ought to be used to support these students through their undergraduate years And if we decide that we want to do that what evidence of their potential for success can we provide that will justify the use of these resources Through longitudinal research that follows students who have been so labeled over all their college years we can begin to find answers to these questions Time to Know Them is the first book that follows the experiences of a group of students over their entire academic experience No previous studies have brought together the factors incorporated in this study examining writing and learning on a true longitudinal basis studying a multicultural urban population investigating the relationship between writing and learning by examining papers written over time for regularly assigned academic courses across a range of disciplines and taking into consideration non academic factors that influence academic performance such as race gender socio economic status and ideological orientation Through interviews twice a semester over six years the collection of papers written for all courses observations of instructional settings and analysis of required institutional tests of writing the author has been able to pull together a more complete picture of writing and intellectual development over the college years than has previously been available in any study Students are seen to acquire the ability to handle more complex reasoning tasks as they find themselves in more challenging intellectual settings and where risk taking and exploration of new ideas are valued The integration of students previous life experiences into their academic studies allows them to analyze critique modify and apply their previously held world views to their new learning These changes are seen to occur over time with instructional settings and support providing key roles in writing development Personal factors in students lives present difficulties that require persistence and dedication to overcome Never before have the complexities of real individual lives as they affect academic performance been so clearly presented

Experiments in Mystical Atheism Brook Ziporyn, 2024-10-30 A new approach to the theism scientism divide rooted in a deeper form of atheism Western philosophy is stuck in an irresolvable conflict between two approaches to the spiritual malaise of our times either we need more God the turn to religion or less religion the New Atheism In this book Brook Ziporyn proposes an alternative that avoids both totalizing theomania and atomizing reductionism What we need he argues is a deeper more thoroughgoing even religious rejection of God an affirmative atheism without either a creator to provide meaning or finite creatures in need of it a mystical atheism In the legacies of Daoism and Buddhism as well as Spinoza Nietzsche and Bataille Ziporyn discovers a critique of theism that develops into a new positive sensibility at once deeply atheist and richly religious Experiments in Mystical Atheism argues that these godless epiphanies hold the key to renewing philosophy today

Cultural, Existential and Phenomenological Dimensions of Grief Experience Allan Køster, Ester Holte Kofod, 2021-12-30 This innovative volume examines the phenomenological existential and cultural dimensions of grief experiences It draws on perspectives from philosophy psychology and sociocultural studies to focus on the experiential dimension of grief moving beyond understanding from a purely mental health and psychiatry perspective The book considers individual shared and collective experiences of loss Chapters explore the intersections between the profound existential experiences of bereavement and how this is mediated by sociocultural norms and practices It points to new directions for the future conceptualization and study of grief particularly in the experiential dimension Drawing on a range of interdisciplinary perspectives this important book will appeal to academics researchers and students in the fields of death and bereavement studies wellbeing and mental health philosophy and phenomenological studies Politeia in Greek and Roman Philosophy Verity Harte, 2013-08 This book explores how politeia constitution structures both political and extra political relations throughout the entire range of Greek and Roman thought Topics include the vocabulary of politics the practice of politics the politics of value and the extension of constitutional order to relations with animals gods and the cosmos How Humans Recognize Objects: Segmentation, Categorization and Individual Identification Chris Fields, 2016-08-18 Human beings experience a world of objects bounded entities that occupy space and persist through time Our actions are directed toward objects and our language describes objects We categorize objects into kinds that have different typical properties and behaviors We regard some kinds of objects each other for example as animate agents capable of independent experience and action while we regard other kinds of objects as inert We re identify objects immediately and without conscious deliberation after days or even years of non observation and often following changes in the features locations or contexts of the objects being re identified Comparative developmental and adult observations using a variety of approaches and methods have yielded a detailed understanding of object detection and recognition by the visual system and an advancing understanding of haptic and auditory information processing Many fundamental questions however remain unanswered What for example physically constitutes an object How do specific classically characterizable object boundaries emerge from the physical dynamics described by quantum theory and can this emergence process be described independently of any assumptions regarding the perceptual capabilities of observers How are visual motion and feature information combined to create object information How are the object trajectories that indicate persistence to human observers implemented and how are these trajectory representations bound to feature representations How for example are point light walkers recognized as single objects How are conflicts between trajectory driven and feature driven identifications of objects resolved for example in multiple object tracking situations Are there separate what and where processing streams for haptic and auditory perception Are there haptic and or auditory equivalents of the visual object file Are there equivalents of the visual object token How are object identification conflicts between different perceptual systems resolved Is the common assumption that persistent object is a fundamental innate category justified How does the ability to identify and categorize objects relate to the ability to name and describe them using language How are features that an individual object had in the past but does not have currently represented How are categorical constraints on how objects move or act represented and how do such constraints influence categorization and the re identification of individuals How do human beings re identify objects including each other as persistent individuals across changes in location context and features even after gaps in observation lasting months or years How do human capabilities for object categorization and re identification over time relate to those of other species and how do human infants develop these capabilities What can modeling approaches such as cognitive robotics tell us about the answers to these questions Primary research reports reviews and hypothesis and theory papers addressing questions relevant to the understanding of perceptual object segmentation categorization and individual identification at any scale and from any experimental or modeling perspective are solicited for this Research Topic Papers that review particular sets of issues from multiple disciplinary perspectives or that advance integrative hypotheses or models that take data from multiple experimental approaches into account are especially encouraged
