the Sistine Chapel ceiling The foreword has been written by Noah Charney founder of the Association for Research into Crimes against Art ARCA This book is unique as it has been written by a professional artist who combines creative insight with rigorous research     The Museum of Augustus Peter Heslin, 2015-05-01 In the Odes Horace writes of his own work I have built a monument more enduring than bronze a striking metaphor that hints at how the poetry and built environment of ancient Rome are inextricably linked This fascinating work of original scholarship makes the precise and detailed argument that painted illustrations of the Trojan War both public and private were a collective visual resource for selected works of Virgil Horace and Propertius Carefully researched and skillfully reasoned the author's claims are bold and innovative offering a strong interpretation of the relationship between Roman visual culture and literature that will deepen modern readings of Augustan poets The Museum of Augustus first provides a comprehensive reconstruction of paintings from the remaining fragments of the cycle of Trojan frescoes that once decorated the Temple of Apollo in Pompeii It then finds the echoes of these paintings in the Augustan dated Portico of Philippi now destroyed which was itself a renovation of Rome's de facto temple of the Muses in other words a museum both in displaying art and offering a meeting place for poets It next examines the responses of the Augustan poets to the decorative program of this monument that was intimately connected with their own literary aspirations The book concludes by looking at the way Horace in the Odes and Virgil in the Georgics both conceptualized their poetic projects as temples to rival the museum of Augustus     Literature, Analytically Speaking Peter Swirski, 2010-03-01 In a new approach to interdisciplinary literary theory Literature Analytically Speaking integrates literary studies with analytic aesthetics girded by neo Darwinian evolution Scrutinizing narrative fiction through a lens provided by analytic philosophy revered literary theorist Peter Swirski puts new life into literary theory while fashioning a set of practical guidelines for critics in the interpretive trenches Dismissing critical inquirers who deny intention its key role in the study of literary reception Swirski extends the defense of intentionality to art and to human behavior in general In the process Swirski takes stock of the recent work in evolutionary theory arguing that the analysis of narrative truth may be grounded in the neo Darwinian paradigm which forms the empirical backbone behind his analytic approach Literature Analytically Speaking provides a series of precepts designed to capture the ways in which we do interpret and ought to interpret works of literature Reflecting a resounding shift from the poststructuralist paradigm Swirski's lively and colorful presentation backed up by a dazzling variety of examples and case studies reconceptualizes the aesthetics of literature and literary studies     Eyesight Alone Caroline A. Jones, 2005 Even a decade after his death Clement Greenberg remains controversial One of the most influential art writers of the twentieth century Greenberg propelled Abstract Expressionist painting in particular the monumental work of Jackson Pollock to a leading position in an international postwar art world On radio and in print Greenberg was the voice of the new American painting and a central figure in the postwar cultural history of the United States Caroline Jones's magisterial study widens Greenberg's fundamental tenet of opticality the idea that modernist art is apprehended through eyesight alone to a broader arena examining how the critic's emphasis on the specular resonated with a society increasingly invested in positivist approaches to the world Greenberg's modernist discourse Jones argues developed in relation to the rationalized procedures that gained wide currency in the United States at midcentury in fields ranging from the sense data protocols theorized by scientific philosophy to the development of cultural forms such as hi fi that targeted specific senses one by one Greenberg's attempt to isolate and celebrate the visual was one manifestation of a large scale segmentation or bureaucratization of the body's senses Working through these historical developments Jones brings Greenberg's theories into contemporary philosophical debates about agency and subjectivity Eyesight Alone offers artists art historians philosophers and all those interested in the arts a critical history of this generative figure bringing his work fully into dialogue with the ideas that shape contemporary critical discourse and shedding light not only on Clement Greenberg but also on the contested history of modernism itself

The Traveller in the Evening - The Last Works of William Blake Morton D. Paley, 2007-11-08 There has never been a book about Blake's last period from his meeting with John Linnell in 1818 to his death in 1827 although it includes some of his greatest works In The Traveller in the Evening Morton Paley argues that this late phase involves attitudes themes and ideas that are either distinctively new or different in emphasis from what preceded them After an introduction on Blake and his milieu during this period Paley begins with a chapter on Blake's illustrations to Thornton's edition of Virgil Paley relates these to Blake's complex view of pastoral before proceeding to a history of the project its near abortion and its fulfillment as Blake's one of greatest accomplishments as an illustrator In Yah and His Two Sons the presentation of the divine except where it is associated with art is ambiguous where it is not negative Paley takes up this separate plate in the context of artists's representations of the Laocoön that would have been known to Blake and also of what Blake would have known of its history from classical antiquity to his own time Blake's Dante water colours and engravings are the most ambitious accomplishment of the last years of his life and Paley shows that the problematic nature of some of these pictures with Beatrice Addressing Dante from the Car as a main example arises from Blake's own divided and sharply polarized attitude toward Dante's Comedy The closing chapter called Blake's Bible is on the Bible related designs and writings of Blake's last years Paley discusses The Death of Abel addressed to Lord Byron in the Wilderness as a response to its literary forerunners especially Gessner's Death of Abel and Byron's Cain For the Job engravings Paley shows how the border designs and the marginal texts set up a dialogue with the main illustrations unlike anything in Blake's Job water colours on the same subjects Also included here are Blake's last pictorial work on a Biblical subject The Genesis manuscript and Blake's last writing on a Biblical text his vitriolic comments on Thornton's translations of the Lord's Prayer
