Picardia Mexicana 2:

The Mexican Filmography, 1916 through 2001 David E. Wilt, 2024-10-17 Mexican cinema has largely been overlooked by international film scholars because of a lack of English language information and the fact that Spanish language information was difficult to find and often out of date This comprehensive filmography helps fill the need Arranged by year of release and then by title the filmography contains entries that include basic information film and translated title production company genre director cast a plot summary and additional information about the film Inclusion criteria a film must be a Mexican production or co production feature length one hour or more silent films excepted fictional documentaries and compilation films are not included unless the topic relates to Mexican cinema some docudramas and films with recreated or staged scenes are included and theatrically released or intended for theatrical release Federal Register ,1995-02-10

Reality in Movement Maarten van Delden, 2021-03-15 In the last couple of decades there has been a surge of interest in Octavio Paz's life and work and a number of important books have been published on Paz However most of these books are of a biographical nature or they examine Paz's role in the various intellectual initiatives he headed in Mexico specifically the journals he founded Reality in Movement looks at a wide range of topics of interest in Paz's career including his engagement with the subversive adversary strain in Western culture his meditations on questions of cultural identity and intercultural contact his dialogue with both leftist and conservative ideological traditions his interest in feminism and psychoanalysis and his theory of poetry It concludes with a chapter on Octavio Paz as a literary character a kind of reception study Offering a complex and nuanced portrait of Paz as a writer and thinker as well as an understanding of the era in which he lived Reality in Movement will appeal to students of Octavio Paz and of Mexican literature more generally and to readers with an interest in the many significant literary cultural political and historical topics Paz wrote about over the course of his long career

The Contemporáneos Group Salvador A. Oropesa, 2010-01-01 In the years following the Mexican Revolution a nationalist and masculinist image of Mexico emerged through the novels of the Revolution the murals of Diego Rivera and the movies of Golden Age cinema Challenging this image were the Contemporaneos a group of writers whose status as outsiders sophisticated urbanites gay men women gave them not just a different perspective but a different gaze a new way of viewing the diverse Mexicos that exist within Mexican society In this book Salvador Oropesa offers original readings of the works of five Contemporaneos Salvador Novo Xavier Villaurrutia Agustín Lazo Guadalupe Marín and Jorge Cuesta and their efforts to create a Mexican literature that was international attuned to the realities of modern Mexico and flexible enough to speak to the masses as well as the elites Oropesa discusses Novo and Villaurrutia in relation to neo baroque literature and satiric poetry showing how these inherently subversive genres provided the means of expressing difference and otherness that they needed as gay men He explores the theatrical works of Lazo Villaurrutia's partner who offered new representations of the closet and of Mexican history from an emerging middle class viewpoint Oropesa also looks at women's participation in the Contemporaneos through Guadalupe Marín the sometime wife of Diego Rivera and Jorge Cuesta whose novels present women's struggles to have a view and a voice of their own He concludes the book with Novo's self transformation from intellectual into celebrity which fulfilled the Contemporaneos desire to merge high and popular culture and create a space where those on the margins could move to the center

Compromised Positions Katherine Elaine Bliss, 2010-11-01 To illuminate the complex cultural foundations of state formation in modern Mexico Compromised Positions explains how and why female prostitution became politicized in the context of revolutionary social reform between 1910 and 1940 Focusing on the public debates over legalized sexual commerce and the spread of sexually transmitted disease in the first half of the twentieth century Katherine Bliss argues that political change was compromised time and again by reformers' own antiquated ideas about gender and class by prostitutes' outrage over official attempts to undermine their livelihood and by clients' unwillingness to forgo visiting brothels despite revolutionary campaigns to promote monogamy sexual education and awareness of the health risks associated with sexual promiscuity In the Mexican public's imagination the prostitute symbolized the corruption of the old regime even as her redemption represented the new order's potential to dramatically alter gender relations through social policy Using medical records criminal case files and letters from prostitutes and their patrons to public officials Compromised Positions reveals how the contradictory revolutionary imperatives of individual freedom and public health clashed in the effort to eradicate prostitution and craft a model of morality suitable for leading Mexico into the modern era
