Conflicted American Landscapes David E. Nye, 2021-04-27 How conflicting ideas of nature threaten to fracture America's identity Amber waves of grain purple mountain majesties American invest much of their national identity in sites of natural beauty And yet American lands today are torn by conflicts over science religion identity and politics Creationists believe that the Biblical flood carved landscapes less than 10 000 years ago environmentalists protest pipelines Western states argue that the federal government's land policies throttle free enterprise Native Americans demand protection for sacred sites In this book David Nye looks at Americans irreconcilably conflicting ideas about nature A landscape is conflicted when different groups have different uses for the same location for example when some want to open mining sites that others want to preserve or when suburban development impinges on agriculture Some landscapes are so degraded from careless use that they become toxic anti landscapes Nye traces these conflicts to clashing conceptions of nature ranging from pastoral to Native American to military industrial that cannot be averaged into a compromise Nye argues that today's environmental crisis is rooted in these conflicting ideas about land Depending on your politics global warming is either an inconvenient truth or fake news America's contradictory conceptions of nature are at the heart of a broken national consensus The Video Librarian, 1995 Winnebago Nation James B. Twitchell, 2014-04-08 In Winnebago Nation popular critic James B. Twitchell takes a light hearted look at the culture and industry behind the yearning to spend the night in one's car For the young the roadtrip is a coming of age ceremony for those later in life it is the realization of a lifelong desire to be spontaneous nomadic and free Informed by his own experiences on the road Twitchell recounts the RV's origins and evolution over the twentieth century its rise fall and rebirth as a cultural icon its growing mechanical complexity as it evolved from an estate wagon to a converted bus to a mobile home and its role in bolstering and challenging conceptions of American identity Mechanical yet dreamy independent yet needful solitary yet clubby adventurous yet homebound life in a mobile home is a distillation of the American character and an important embodiment of American exceptionalism Richie Rich and Hobo Hank spend time in essentially the same rig at the same campground albeit for different reasons and in different levels of comfort The frontier may be tapped out but we still yearn for the exploratory life Twitchell concludes with his thoughts on the future of RV communities and the possibility of mobile cities becoming a real part of the American landscape
