Lords and Towns in Medieval Europe Howard B. Clarke,Anngret Simms,2017-07-14 This volume is based on possibly the biggest single Europe wide project in urban history In 1955 the International Commission for the History of Towns established the European historic towns atlas project in accordance with a common scheme in order to encourage comparative urban studies Although advances in urban archaeology since the 1960s have highlighted the problematic relationship between the oldest extant town plan and the actual origins of a town the large scale cadastral maps as they have been made available by the European historic towns atlas project are still necessary if we want to understand the evolution of the physical form of our towns By 2014 the project consisted of over 500 individual publications from over 18 different countries across Europe Each atlas comprises at least a core map at the scale of 1 2500 analytical maps and an explanatory text The time has come to use this enormous database that has been compiled over the last 40 years This volume itself based on a conference related to this topic that was held in the Royal Irish Academy in Dublin in 2006 takes up this challenge The focus of the volume is on the question of how seigneurial power influenced the creation of towns in medieval Europe and of how this process in turn influenced urban form Part I of the volume addresses two major issues the history of the use of town plans in urban research and the methodological challenges of comparative urban history Parts II and III constitute the core of the book focusing on the dynamic relationship between lordship and town planning in the core area of medieval Europe and on the periphery In Part IV the symbolic meaning of town plans for medieval people is discussed Part V consists of critical contributions by an archaeologist an art historian and an historical geographer By presenting case studies by leading researchers from different European countries this volume combines findings that were hitherto not available in English A comparison of the English and German bibliographies attached to this volume reveals some interesting insights as to how the focus of research shifted over time The book also shows how work on urban topography integrates the approaches of the historian archaeologist and historical geographer The narrative of medieval urbanization becomes enriched and the volume is a genuine contribution to European studies The Sketch ,1901 Familiar Allusions William Adolphus Wheeler,1887

Comprehensive Manual of European Geography and History ... Franz Heinrich Ungewitter, 1854 Peter the Great Paul Bushkovitch, 2001-09-27 A narrative of the fifty years of political struggles at the Russian court 1671 1725 This book shows how Peter the Great was not the all powerful tsar working alone to reform Russia but that he colluded with powerful and contentious aristocrats in order to achieve his goals After the early victory of Peter s boyar supporters in the 1690s Peter turned against them and tried to rule through favourites an experiment which ended in the establishment of a decentralized aristocratic administration followed by an equally aristocratic Senate in 1711 The aristocrats hegemony came to an end in the wake of the affair of Peter s son Tsarevich Aleksei in 1718 After that moment Peter ruled through a complex group of favourites a few aristocrats and appointees promoted through merit and carried out his most long lasting reforms The outcome was a new balance of power at the centre and a new European conception of politics Seats of Power in Europe during the Hundred Years War Anthony Emery, 2015-12-31 The Hundred Years War between England and France is a story of an epic conflict between two nations whose destinies became inextricably entwined throughout the later Middle Ages During that time the balance of architectural power moved from religious to secular domination the Gothic form continued to grow and the palace fortress was in the ascendancy Seats of Power in Europe is a major new study of the residences of the crowned heads and the royal ducal families of the countries involved in the Hundred Years War Though they were the leading protagonists and therefore responsible for the course of the war do their residences reflect an entirely defensive purpose a social function or the personality of their builders As well as the castles of England and France it also looks at rulers residences in other European countries who supported one of the protagonists They include Scotland Castile Aragon Navarre Portugal the Low Countries the imperial territories of Bohemia and the papacy in Avignon and then Rome The study concentrates on sixty properties extending from the castles at Windsor and Denilworth to those at Saumur and Rambures and from the palaces at Avignon and Seville to the manor houses at Germolles and Launay A number of subsidiary or associated properties are also considered in more broad based sections Each region and its residences are prefaced by supporting historical and architectural surveys to help position the properties against the contemporary military financial and aesthetic backgrounds Extensively illustrated in full color with over 120 photographs and over 70 plans this is an attractive and accessible overview of how architecture both shaped and was influenced by events during this tumultuous period in the history of Europe Essential reading for students of architecture architectural historians historians and those interested in Medieval Europe The Hundred Years War between England and France is a story of an epic conflict between two nations whose destinies became inextricably entwined throughout the later Middle Ages During that time the balance of architectural power moved from religious to secular domination the Gothic form continued to grow and the palace fortress was in the ascendancy Seats of Power in Europe is a major new study of the residences of the crowned heads and the royal ducal families of the countries involved in the Hundred Years War Though they were the leading protagonists and therefore responsible for the course of the war do their residences reflect an entirely defensive purpose a social function or the personality of their builders As well as the castles of England and France it also looks at rulers residences in other European countries who supported one of the protagonists They include Scotland Castile Aragon Navarre Portugal the Low Countries the imperial territories of Bohemia and the papacy in Avignon and then Rome The study concentrates on sixty properties extending from the castles at Windsor and Denilworth to those at Saumur and Rambures and from the palaces at Avignon and Seville to the manor houses at Germolles and Launay A number of subsidiary or associated properties are also considered in more broad based sections Each region and its residences are prefaced by supporting historical and architectural surveys to help position the properties against the contemporary military financial and aesthetic backgrounds Extensively illustrated in full color with over 120 photographs and over 70 plans this is an attractive and accessible overview of how architecture both shaped and was influenced by events during this tumultuous period in the history of Europe Essential reading for students of architecture architectural historians historians and those interested in Medieval Europe

Staging Authority Eva Giloi, Martin Kohlrausch, Heikki Lempa, Heidi Mehrkens, Philipp Nielsen, Kevin Rogan, 2022-10-24 Staging Authority Presentation and Power in Nineteenth Century Europe is a comprehensive handbook on how the presentation embodiment and performance of authority changed in the long nineteenth century It focuses on the diversification of authority what new forms and expressions of authority arose in that critical century how traditional authority figures responded and adapted to those changes and how the public increasingly participated in constructing and validating authority It pays particular attention to how spaces were transformed to offer new possibilities for the presentation of authority and how the mediatization of presence affected traditional authority The handbook s fourteen chapters draw on innovative methodologies in cultural history and the aligned fields of the history of emotions urban geography persona studies gender studies media studies and sound studies Europe, Past and Present Franz Heinrich Ungewitter, 1850 Early European Castles Oliver Creighton, 2015-10-20 Medieval castles were alongside the great cathedrals the most recognisable buildings of the medieval world Closely associated with concepts of justice lordship and authority as well as military might castles came to encapsulate the period s very essence Looking at above and below ground evidence and examining a wide variety of sites from towering donjons to earth and timber castles in different parts of western Europe this book explores the relationship between early castle building and the emergence of a new aristocracy and investigates the impact of authority on the organisation of the landscape A particular focus is on the social context of early private fortifications Europe's earliest castles came to embody a new and radically different form of power and aristocratic authority that was highly personal in nature glaringly visible in its presence and enforceable through violence both threatened and real The volume reassesses traditional models of castle origins examines aspects of elite lifestyle in and around these structures including pastimes and diet considers medieval visual experiences of sites and their settings and explores some future directions for research
