Rubian Architecture Of The Soviet Period:

The Socialist Life of Modern Architecture Juliana Maxim, 2018-12-07 The Socialist Life of Modern Architecture is the first systematic architectural history of Romania under socialism written in English It examines the mechanisms through which modern architecture was invested with political meaning and in reverse how specific architectural solutions came to define the socialist experience Each of the book's three parts traces the historical development of one key aspect of Romania's architectural culture between the years 1949-1964 the planning and construction of housing districts in Bucharest the role of typification of design and standardization of construction in a project of cultural transformation the production and management of a folk architectural tradition Going beyond buildings and architects to consider the use of photography painting and novels as well as narrations of history and the formation of an ethnographic architectural heritage the author explores how buildings came to participate in the cultural imagination of socialism and became in fact a privileged medium of socialism Part of the growing interest in the significance of Soviet Bloc architecture this is an important contribution to the fields of architectural history cultural history and visual culture Architecture and Revolution Neil Leach, 2003-09-02 Architecture and Revolution explores the consequences of the 1989 revolutions in Central and Eastern Europe from an architectural perspective It presents new writings from a team of renowned architects philosophers and cultural theorists from both the East and the West They explore the questions over the built environment that now face architects planners and politicians in the region They examine the problems of buildings inherited from the communist era some are environmentally inadequate many were designed to serve a now redundant social programme and others carry the stigma of association with previous regimes Contributors include Daniel Libeskind Bernard Tschumi Laura Mulvey Helene Cixous Andrew Benjamin and Frederic Jameson Russian Architecture of the Soviet Period Андрей Владимирович Иконников, 1988

Re-Humanizing Architecture Ákos Moravánszky, Judith Hopfengärtner, 2016-12-19 After the Second World War a divided Europe was much affected by a period of reconstruction This was influenced by the different political systems in the socialist East and in the capitalist West the focus was on cohesion in society and its cultural and architectural expression In parallel to the rapidly progressing industrialization of the building industry debates on the humanization of the built environment were led on both sides with great intensity The volume shows how on the back of existentialism new monumentality and socialist realism quite similar concepts and strategies were developed in order to find answers to questions relating to adequate structures for new forms of community and identity Guide to the Literature of Art History 2 Max Marmor, Alex Ross, 2005 This bibliography supplements the greatest of modern art bibliographies Etta Arntzen and Robert Rainwater's Guide to the literature of art history ALA 1980 Preface Amnesiopolis Eli Rubin, 2016 Amnesiopolis explores the construction of Marzahn the largest prefabricated housing project in East Germany built on the outskirts of East Berlin in the 1970s and 1980s and touted by the regime as the future of socialism It focuses particularly on the experience of East Germans who moved often from crumbling slums left over as a legacy of the nineteenth century into this radically new place one defined by pure functionality and rationality a material manifestation of the utopian promise of socialism Eli Rubin employs methodologies from critical geography urban history architectural history environmental history and everyday life history to ask whether their experience was a radical break with their personal pasts and the German past Amnesiopolis asks can a dramatic change in spatial and material surroundings sever the links of memory that tie people to their old life narratives and if so does that help build a new socialist mentality in the minds of historical subjects The answer is yes and no as much as the East German state tried to create a completely new socialist settlement divorced of any links to the pre socialist past the massive construction project uncovered the truth buried literally in the ground which was that the urge to colonize the outskirts of Berlin was not new at all Furthermore the construction of a new city out of nothing using repeating identical buildings created a panopticon like effect giving the Stasi the possibility of more complete surveillance than they previously had

Designing for Socialist Need Katharina Pfützner, 2017-12-06 How does industrial design operate outside of capitalist consumer culture Designing for Socialist Need assembles a detailed picture of industrial design practice in the socialist German Democratic Republic GDR Drawing on much previously unexplored material from a wide variety of sources it not only maps out some of the ideological institutional and economic contexts within which GDR design functioned it also critically reconstructs the designers aims and perspectives in order to argue that they shared a profoundly socially responsible approach to design By focusing on their ideas and approaches this volume attends to the previously unacknowledged intellectual and practical richness of GDR design culture and demonstrates that it can provide pertinent insights not only for scholars of GDR history or German design but also for contemporary design practitioners theorists and educators with an interest in sustainability in design

uses social identity theory to explain Putin's leadership. The main source of Putin's political influence she finds lies in how he articulates the shared collective perspective that unites many Russian citizens. Under his tenure the Kremlin's media machine has tapped into powerful group emotions of shame and humiliation derived from the Soviet transition in the 1990s and has politicized national identity to transform these emotions into pride and patriotism. Culminating with the annexation of Crimea in 2014, this strategy of national identity politics is still the essence of Putin's leadership in Russia. But victimhood-based consolidation is also leading the country down the path of political confrontation and economic stagnation. To enable a cultural, social, and political revival in Russia, Sharafutdinova argues, political elites must instead focus on more constructively conceived ideas about the country's future. Integrating methods from history, political science, and social psychology, The Red Mirror offers the clearest picture yet of how the nation's majoritarian identity politics are playing out. The World Encyclopedia of Contemporary Theatre, Don Rubin, 2001. This new paperback edition of World Encyclopedia of Contemporary Theatre covers the Americas from Canada to Argentina, including the United States. Volume 5 covers Asia Pacific. Entries are preceded by specialist introductions on Theatre in Post Colonial Latin America, Theatres of North America, Puppet Theatre, Theatre for Young Audiences, Music Theatre, and Dance Theatre. The essays follow the series format, allowing for cross-referring across subjects both within the volume and between volumes. Each country entry is written by specialists in the particular country, and the volume has its own teams of regional editors overseen by the main editorial team based at the University of York in Canada, headed by Don Rubin. The New York Times Index, 1923. Learning to See, Alan Gowans, 1981. Learning to See starts on the assumption that popular commercial arts are a different kind of activity from avant-garde arts today, but that they represent the same kind of activity that we identify as arts historically. It proceeds then to investigate how popular commercial arts carry out the social functions of historic arts. And it claims that once we can thereby understand how historic arts worked in and for society, art history becomes a significant new tool for objective historical research as never before. Afghanistan in the Post-Cold War Era, Barnett R. Rubin, 2013-05-09. A collection of articles written from 1989 to 2009, updated for this volume.
