Shaitan A Novel:

Shaitan Max Ehrlich, 1981 British white hunter Dennis Brooke is persuaded to return to India to try to capture a dreaded man eating leopard whom the Hindus believe is possessed by the evil spirit of a holy man Offspring Fictions Matt Kimmich, 2008 The first book length study that examines families and especially the parent child relationship in Rushdie s core works The book provides a sustained examination of how the parents and children that people Rushdie s fictions reflect the larger issues his work is concerned with nationalism religion history and authorship The Return of the Storyteller in Contemporary Fiction Areti Dragas, 2014-08-31 Focusing on the figure of the storyteller this study breaks new ground in the approach to reading contemporary literature by identifying a growing interest in storytelling For the last thirty years contemporary fiction has been influenced by theoretical discourses textuality and writing Only since the rise of postcolonialism have academic critics been more overtly interested in stories where high theory frameworks are less applicable However as we move through various contemporary contexts engaging with postcolonial identities and hybridity to narratives of disability and evolutionary accounts of group and individual survival a common feature of all is the centrality of story which posits both the idea of survival and the passing on of traditions The Return of the Storyteller in Contemporary Fiction closely examines this preoccupation with story and storytelling through a close reading of six contemporary international novelists that are either about actual storytellers or engage with the figure of the storyteller revealing how death of the author has given birth to the storyteller Catalogue of Arabic Printed Books in the British Museum: A-Z. 1894-1901 British Museum. A Novel Bithia Mary Croker, 2024-04-09 Reprint of the original first published in 1882 The Fiction of Postmodernity Stephen Baker, 2000-06-07 The Fiction of Postmodernity is a significant and accessible study of the relation of postmodern fiction to theories of the postmodern Contemporary works of fiction by novelists such as Don DeLillo Toni Morrison Salman Rushdie Thomas Pynchon and Martin Amis are viewed in relation to critiques of the culture industry analyses of the postmodern condition and theories of simulacra The work of influential theorists of the postmodern such as Theodor Adorno Jean Fran ois Lyotard Fredric Jameson and Jean Baudrillard is explained and compared The book offers descriptions of the postmodern from both the Marxist critical tradition and from the perspective of postmarxism Key features in both these definitions are explained in relation to modernist and postmodern works of fiction Issues relating to the postmodern representation of history and the development of a postmodern politics are also addressed in relation to works of contemporary fiction

Literary Secularism Amardeep Singh, 2008-12-18 Literary Secularism Religion and Modernity in Twentieth Century Fiction shows the path to secularization in the modern novel in comparative perspective Writers as diverse as George Eliot James Joyce Salman Rushdie Orhan Pamuk Taslima Nasrin and James Wood have all struggled with religious orthodoxy in their personal lives and are some of the most important and representative secular writers in the modern world canon But their novels which are far more than mere anti religious manifestos directly reflect the continued power of religious communities and institutions in the modern world While religion is in a very real sense displaced from epistemological centrality in modernity all of these writers suggest that religious texts rituals and communities have a force that is in George Eliot s words still throbbing in modern life In a series of close readings Literary Secularism argues that the intimate often deeply ambivalent representation of religion is a key feature of modern writing and is central to the larger intellectual and historical project of modernity Literary Secularism is then a complex literary ethos which impinges as much on style language and novelistic form as on theme The close readings here of novels such as George Eliot s Daniel Deronda Rabindranath Tagore s Gora James Joyce s Ulysses and Salman Rushdie s The Satanic Verses all hinge on the ambiguity of religious and secular discourses In some cases the ambiguity is expressed through the affective and embodied experience of the protagonists whose private subjectivity often conflicts with their public identities The conflict between present and private is also explored in a dedicated chapter on secularism and feminism in India as well as with regard to the global crisis of secularism that has emerged following the terrorist attacks of 9 11 While the particular experiences of the various narratives vary somewhat from author to author all of the authors in this study are interested in defining a way of being secular that no sociological or ideological formula can fully describe Correspondingly while works of literature are certainly artifacts marking key moments in the history of secularisation literature by itself doesn t produce secularism in either the cultural or the political context In arguing for the literary as a historically specific social and cultural mode of secularity Literary Secularism offers a unique perspective on the problem of secularisation that may be of interest to fields such as literary criticism religious studies the sociology of religion and political theory Catalogue of Hindustani Printed Books in the Library of the British Museum British Museum.
