Remembering Victoria James M. Taggart,2010-01-01 On October 15 1983 a young mother of six was murdered while walking across her village of Huitzilán de Serd n Mexico with her infant son and one of her daughters This woman Victoria Bonilla was among more than one hundred villagers who perished in violence that broke out soon after the Mexican army chopped down a cornfield that had been planted on an unused cattle pasture by forty Nahuatl villagers In this anthropological account based on years of fieldwork in Huitzilán James M Taggart turns to Victoria s husband Nacho Angel Hernández to try to understand how a community based on respect and cooperation descended into horrific violence and fratricide When the army chopped down the cornfield at Talcuaco the war that broke out resulted in the complete breakdown of the social and moral order of the community At its heart this is a tragic love story chronicling Nacho s feelings for Victoria spanning their courtship marriage family life and her death Nacho delivered his testimonio to the author in Nahuatl making it one of the few autobiographical love stories told in an Amerindian language and a very rare account of love among the indigenous people of Mesoamerica There is almost nothing in the literature on how a man develops and changes his feelings for his wife over his lifetime This study contributes to the anthropology of emotion by focusing on how the Nahuatl attempt to express love through language and ritual

The Gospeller ,1877 The Memoirs of Jacques Casanova de Seingalt, 1725-1798 (Complete) Giacomo Casanova,2020-09-28 The Memoirs of Casanova though they have enjoyed the popularity of a bad reputation have never had justice done to them by serious students of literature of life and of history One English writer indeed Mr Havelock Ellis has realised that there are few more delightful books in the world and he has analysed them in an essay on Casanova published in Affirmations with extreme care and remarkable subtlety But this essay stands alone at all events in English as an attempt to take Casanova seriously to show him in his relation to his time and in his relation to human problems And yet these Memoirs are perhaps the most valuable document which we possess on the society of the eighteenth century they are the history of a unique life a unique personality one of the greatest of autobiographies as a record of adventures they are more entertaining than Gil Blas or Monte Cristo or any of the imaginary travels and escapes and masquerades in life which have been written in imitation of them They tell the story of a man who loved life passionately for its own sake one to whom woman was indeed the most important thing in the world but to whom nothing in the world was indifferent The bust which gives us the most lively notion of him shows us a great vivid intellectual face full of fiery energy and calm resource the face of a thinker and a fighter in one A scholar an adventurer perhaps a Cabalist a busy stirrer in politics a gamester one born for the fairer sex as he tells us and born also to be a vagabond this man who is remembered now for his written account of his own life was that rarest kind of autobiographer one who did not live to write but wrote because he had lived and when he could live no longer And his Memoirs take one all over Europe giving sidelights all the more valuable in being almost accidental upon many of the affairs and people most interesting to us during two thirds of the eighteenth century Giacomo Casanova was born in Venice of Spanish and Italian parentage on April 2 1725 he died at the Chateau of Dux in Bohemia on June 4 1798 In that lifetime of seventy three years he travelled as his Memoirs show us in Italy France Germany Austria England Switzerland Belgium Russia Poland Spain Holland Turkey he met Voltaire at Ferney Rousseau at Montmorency Fontenelle d Alembert and Crebillon at Paris George III in London Louis XV at Fontainebleau Catherine the Great at St Petersburg Benedict XII at Rome Joseph II at Vienna Frederick the Great at Sans Souci Imprisoned by the Inquisitors of State in the Piombi at Venice he made in 1755 the most famous escape in history His Memoirs as we have them break off abruptly at the moment when he is expecting a safe conduct and the permission to return to Venice after twenty years wanderings He did return as we know from documents in the Venetian archives he returned as secret agent of the Inquisitors and remained in their service from 1774 until 1782 At the end of 1782 he left Venice and next year we find him in Paris where in 1784 he met Count Waldstein at the Venetian Ambassador s and was invited by him to become his librarian at Dux He accepted and for the fourteen remaining years of his life lived at Dux where he wrote his Memoirs
