My Island Maggie Gordon, Hamish Rosie, 1999 Making Sense in Sign Jenny Froude, 2003-04-17 Language which develops against all the odds is very precious Words were not enough for Tom it was signs that made sense of a world silenced by meningitis Confidence came via joyful and positive steps to communication from babyhood a brush with epilepsy a cochlear implant in his teens and life as an independent young adult followed The Novel André Brink, 1998-05-29 The Postmodernist novel has become famous for the extremes of its narcissistic involvement with language In this challenging and wide ranging new study Andr Brink argues that this self consciousness has been a characteristic of the novel since its earliest stirrings More specifically every novel appears both to construct and to be constructed by its own notion of language elaborated through all the strategies of narrative Taking as his starting point the propensity for story embedded in language he offers stimulating new readings of novels from Cervantes to Calvino demonstrating that in many respects the old familiar texts may be more startlingly modern and the Postmodernist texts more firmly rooted in convention than we tend to think
