Contested Water Joanna L. Robinson, 2013 An examination of anti water privatization movements in the United States and Canada that explores the interplay of the local and the global Attempts by local governments to privatize water services have met with furious opposition Activists argue that to give private companies control of the water supply is to turn water from a common resource into a marketized commodity Moreover to cede local power to a global corporation puts communities at the center of controversies over economic globalization In Contested Water Joanna Robinson examines local social movement organizing against water privatization looking closely at battles for control of local water services in Stockton California and Vancouver British Columbia The movements in these two communities had different trajectories used different tactics and experienced different outcomes Robinson analyzes the factors that shaped these two struggles Drawing on extensive interviews with movement actors political leaders and policymakers and detailed analysis of textual material Robinson shows that the successful campaign in Vancouver drew on tactics opportunities and narratives from the broader antiglobalization movement with activists emphasizing the threats to local democracy and accountability the less successful movement in Stockton centered on a ballot initiative that was made meaningless by a pre emptive city council vote Robinson finds that global forces are reshaping local movements particularly those that oppose neoliberal reforms at the municipal level She argues that anti water privatization movements that link local and international concerns and build wide ranging coalitions at local and global levels offer an effective way to counter economic globalization Successful challenges to globalization will not necessarily come from transnational movements but rather from movements that are connected globally but rooted in local communities Just As ... I Am , White Shell Water Place F. Richard Sanchez, 2010 This anthology a companion to the Santa Fe 400th Anniversary Commemoration publication All Trails Lead to Santa Fe affords Native American authors the opportunity to unreservedly express their ideas opinions and perspectives on the historical and cultural aspects of Santa Fe using their own voice and preferred writing styles that are not necessarily in accord with western academic and writing conventions One cannot truly contemplate the history and culture of Santa Fe without the voices of the Native Americans the original inhabitants of Po oge White Shell Water Place Indeed much of Santa Fe s story is conveyed from a western colonial perspective which until fairly recently has predominantly relegated Native Americans to the fringes However over the last thirty years colonial narratives regarding Native American history and culture have been and continue to be disputed and amended as the pursuit of academic intellectual and cultural self determination gains momentum in respective Native American tribal and academic communities The Santa Fe 400th Commemoration has created an opportunity for the Native American voice to be heard This anthology is a ceremony of Native voices a gathering of Native people offering scholarly dialogue personal points of view opinions and stories regarding the pre and post historical and cultural foundations of Santa Fe Includes Study Guide and Index Who Will Water the Flowers? CADET #271 (Louis F. Horner), 2016-05-23 aThe author invites you to embark on a journey to provoke your thinking about friendship opportunity and race relations in America This may take you in a direction you had not previously considered as you navigate the course of your own life Resetting your own sails may reap rewards The author s inspiration to write came from a startling spiritual experience which he describes in The Awakening This led to introspection and an urgent sense that a story must be told More than twenty years passed before he understood the specifics of why what and when he was to write He tells of his 2002 epiphany and a story spanning three quarters of a century Mr Horner tells a story of overcoming adversity and making a full life beyond what his racial and family background might predict He tells a story of working class boys from divergent roots building lifelong bonds beginning in military college Everyone has a story In telling his Mr Horner answers the question Who will water the flowers Testimonial As a PMC cadet of the class of 1963 I found the book a compelling read Many of the stories by the class of 62 relate and resonate with my experiences and without speculation probably to PMC cadets at large The complex thoughts of boys to men strangers who through leadership subsumed their individual needs for the greater good of a brotherhood of men This is a complex formula for those who have not been in the cauldron the formative chemistry of all of us good and bad To me the most compelling aspect of the book was the author s journey though life and the role of PMC friendship mentorship and leadership played in his life s journey The lessons learned of this journey may help us set the course to make our great nation better General John H Tillie USA Retired Oil and Water Tom Cliff, 2016-06-10 Xinjiang is like Tibet one of China s autonomous regions Despite the overwhelming attention scholars and activists have given to Tibet Xinjiang has garnered relatively little attention Never a quiescent place however it has seen one uprising after another most recently in violent flare ups over the cultural repression and economic exclusion of the local Muslim Uyghurs Oil and Water by anthropologist and photographer Tom Cliff is the first book to turn the lens onto Han Chinese settlers Using ethnographic vignettes life histories and arresting photographs Cliff shows how large scale social and institutional structures historical narratives and national political imperatives have shaped the lives of ordinary Han settlers in Xinjiang The book weaves together the individual threads of life histories to show what it means to be Han in this frontier zone Along the way Cliff makes a number of surprising points for example that the Communist Party is in fact more concerned with stability among the Han in frontier regions than Uyghur cooperation itself or that the frontier is simultaneously seen as backward and ahead in that it is the testing ground for policies and practices that may later be put to use in the core Most important by shifting the focus away from often studied state actions and Uyghur reactions and onto the daily experience of diverse Han settlers Oil and Water provides the first behind the scenes look into the colonial enterprise that China has tried to hide from the
