My Moments In The Twentieth Century An Immigrants Story:

My Moments in the Twentieth Century Masao Yoshitsu, 1987-04-01 The Columbia Guide to Asian American History Gary Y. Okihiro, 2001 Offering a rich and insightful road map of Asian American history as it has evolved over more than 200 years this book marks the first systematic attempt to take stock of this field of study It examines comments and questions the changing assumptions and contexts underlying the experiences and contributions of an incredibly diverse population of Americans Arriving and settling in this nation as early as the 1790s with American born generations stretching back more than a century Asian Americans have become an integral part of the American experience this cleverly organized book marks the trajectory of that journey offering researchers invaluable information and interpretation Part 1 offers a synoptic narrative history a chronology and a set of periodizations that reflect different ways of constructing the Asian American past Part 2 presents lucid discussions of historical debates such as interpreting the anti Chinese movement of the late 1800s and the underlying causes of Japanese American internment during World War II and such emerging themes as transnationalism and women and gender issues Part 3 contains a historiographical essay and a wide ranging compilation of book film and electronic resources for further study of core themes and groups including Chinese Japanese Filipino Hmong Indian Korean Vietnamese and others In Defense of Asian American Studies Sucheng Chan, 2005 In Defense of Asian American Studies offers fascinating tales from the trenches on the origins and evolution of the field of Asian American studies as told by one of its founders and most highly regarded scholars Wielding intellectual energy critical acumen and a sly sense of humor Sucheng Chan discusses her experiences on three campuses within the University of California system as Asian American studies was first developed in response to vehement student demand under the rubric of ethnic studies Chan speaks by turns as an advocate and an administrator striving to secure a place for Asian American studies as a teacher working to give Asian American students a voice and white students a perspective on race and racism and as a scholar and researcher still asking her own questions The essays span three decades and close with a piece on the new challenges facing Asian American studies Eloquently documenting a field of endeavor in which scholarship and identity define and strengthen each other In Defense of Asian American Studies combines analysis personal experience and indispensable practical advice for those engaged in building and sustaining Asian American studies programs Encyclopedia of Japanese American Internment Gary Y. Okihiro, 2013-06-11 This book addresses the forced removal and confinement of Japanese Americans during World War II a topic significant to all Americans regardless of race or color The internment of Japanese Americans was a violation of the Constitution and its guarantee of equal protection under the law yet it was authorized by a presidential order given substance by an act of Congress and affirmed by the U S Supreme Court Japanese internment is a topic that we as Americans cannot afford to forget or be ignorant of This work spotlights an important subject that is often only described in a cursory fashion in general textbooks It provides a comprehensive accessible treatment of the events of Japanese American internment that includes topical event and biographical entries a chronology and comprehensive bibliography and primary documents that help bring the event to life for readers and promote inquiry and critical thinking

Teaching Writing through the Immigrant Story Heather Ostman, Howard Tinberg, Danizete Martínez, 2021-12-01 Teaching Writing through the Immigrant Story explores the intersection between immigration and pedagogy via the narrative form Embedded in the contexts of both student writing and student reading of literature chapters by scholars from four year and two year colleges and universities across the country this book engages the topic of immigration within writing and literature courses as the site for extending critiquing and challenging assumptions about justice and equity while deepening students sense of ethics and humanity Each of the chapters recognizes the prevalence of immigrant students in writing classrooms across the United States including foreign born first and second generation Americans and more and the myriad opportunities and challenges those students present to their instructors These contributors have seen the validity in the stories and experiences these students bring to the classroom evidence of their lifetimes of complex learning in both academic and nonacademic settings Like thousands of college level instructors in the United States they have immigrant stories of their own The immigrant narrative offers a unique framework for knowledge production in which students and teachers may learn from each other in which the ordinary power dynamic of teacher and students begins to shift to enable empathy to emerge and to provide space for an authentic kind of pedagogy By engaging writing and literature teachers within and outside the classroom Teaching Writing through the Immigrant Story speaks to the immigrant narrative as a viable frame for teaching writing an opportunity for building and articulating knowledge through academic discourse The book creates a platform for immigration as a writing and literary theme a framework for critical thinking and a foundation for significant social change and advocacy Contributors Tuli Chatterji Katie Daily Bruckner Libby Garland Silvia Giagnoni Sibylle Gruber John Havard Timothy Henderson Brennan Herring Lilian Mina Rachel Pate Emily Schnee Elizabeth Stone Forthcoming Books Rose Arny, 1992

Migrants, Immigration and Diversity in Twentieth-century Northern Ireland Jack Crangle, 2023-01-01 Addressing questions about what it means to be British or Irish in the twenty first century this book focuses its attention on twentieth century Northern Ireland and demonstrates how the fragmented and disparate nature of national identity shaped and continues to shape responses to social issues such as immigration Immigrants moved to Northern Ireland in their thousands during the twentieth century continuing to do so even during three decades of the Troubles a violent and bloody conflict that cost over 3 600 lives Foregrounding the everyday lived experiences of settlers in this region this ground breaking book comparatively examines the perspectives of Italian Indian Chinese and Vietnamese migrants in Northern Ireland outlining the specific challenges of migrating to this small intensely divided part of the UK The book explores whether it was possible for migrants and minorities to remain neutral within an intensely politicised society and how internal divisions affected the identity and belonging of later generations An analysis of diversity and immigration within this divided society enhances our understanding of the forces that can shape conceptions of national insiders and outsiders not just in the UK and Ireland but across the world It provokes and addresses a range of questions about how conceptions of nationality race culture and ethnicity have intersected to shape attitudes towards migrants In doing so the book invites scholars to embrace a more diverse four nation approach to UK immigration studies making it an essential read for all those interested in the history of migration in the UK

Vision's Immanence Peter Lurie, 2004-08 Lurie takes particular interest in the influence of cinema on Faulkner's fiction and the visual strategies he both deployed and critiqued These include the suggestion of cinematic viewing on the part of readers and of characters in each of the novels the collective and individual acts of voyeurism in Sanctuary and Light in August the exposing in Absalom Absalom and Light in August of stereotypical and cinematic patterns of thought about history and race and the evocation of popular forms like

melodrama and the movie screen in If I forget thee Jerusalem Offering innovative readings of these canonical works this study sheds new light on Faulkner's uniquely American modernism BOOK JACKET My Generations Arthur Kurzweil, 1983 This course in family history naturally lends itself to family learning Migrant Representations Peter Leese, 2022-01-15 Migrant Representations pairs twenty-four carefully selected histories in order to compare how migrants themselves Irish labourer Lithuanian refugee or Indian doctor and their social investigators capture in words and images defining private and historical moments These comparative case studies from the 1780s to the 2000s explore how migrants constructed their own narratives of mobility and settlement through procedures of reflecting remembering and recording Moreover these studies examine how speech writing and picture were used for instance by a missionary social scientist or activist to make outside representations of the migrant Such life stories social surveys and pictures emerge as alternative archives Leese's transnational cultural history considers life story forms and their uses the tension between external surveillance and self-observation the power of narratives to afford legibility and acknowledgement Leese argues that historically and in the present first person migrant stories and outsider investigations create a continuous charged exchange of views where both migrant and observer negotiate position authority authenticity and potential advantage Within the history of migrant representations this exchange generates a persistent subversive strain of opposition and critique Such self-observations observations of others and images never settle The Koreans in Hawaii Roberta Chang, Wayne Patterson, 2003-05-31 The Koreans in Hawaii: A Pictorial History 1903-2003 brings together hundreds of photographs to tell the powerful story of the people who have shaped the Korean immigrant experience in America over the past one hundred years Although Koreans faced the same hardships and barriers as other East Asian immigrants in the New World the story of their migration settlement and assimilation into American society has received relatively little attention This volume not only commemorates the centennial of Koreans in Hawaii but also offers readers an unprecedented look at the rich history of a community that continues to develop and change to this day The photographs which illuminate and complement writings and oral histories found elsewhere provide insight into Hawaii's Korean immigrant community politics and everyday life They reveal the struggles and successes of the first and subsequent generations allowing viewers to connect with the past Together with chapter introductions the wide range of photographs many only recently discovered in archives and family albums represents an engaging record that uncovers the deep roots of Korean Americans in Hawaii The Palgrave Handbook of Literary Memory Studies Lucy Bond, Susannah Radstone, Jessica Rapson, 2025-05-23 This handbook offers a comprehensive overview of the connections between memory and literature Organized into six interrelated sections the book explores both the value of approaches and concepts from literary studies for memory scholarship and the plurality of ways in which literature can advance theories of memory Chapters cover reading and writing memory and literature remediations and intersections local and global cultures postcolonial and decolonial approaches environmental and more than human

California Exposures: Envisioning Myth and History Richard White, 2020-03-17 Winner of the 2021 California Book Award Californiana category A brilliant California history in word and image from an award winning historian and a documentary photographer This is the West sir When the legend becomes fact print the legend This indelible quote from The Man Who Shot Liberty Valance applies especially well to California where legend has so thoroughly become fact that it is visible in everyday landscapes Our foremost historian of the West Richard White never content to print the legend collaborates here with his son a talented photographer in excavating the layers of legend built into California's landscapes Together they expose the bedrock of the past and the history they uncover is astonishing Jesse White's evocative photographs illustrate the sites of Richard's historical investigations A vista of Drakes Estero conjures the darkly amusing story of the Drake Navigators Guild and its dubious efforts to establish an Anglo Saxon heritage for California The restored Spanish missions of Los Angeles frame another origin story in which California's native inhabitants civilized through contact with friars gift their territories to white settlers But the history is not so placid A quiet riverside park in the Tulare Lake Basin belies scenes of horror from when settlers in the 1850s transformed native homelands into American property Near the lake bed stands a small marker commemorating the Mussel Slough massacre the culmination of a violent struggle over land titles between local farmers and the Southern Pacific Railroad in the 1870s Tulare is today a fertile agricultural county but its population is poor and unhealthy The California Dream lives elsewhere The lake itself disappeared when tributary rivers were rerouted to deliver government subsidized water to big agriculture and cities But climate change ensures that it will be back the only question is when

Mega-events and social change Maurice Roche, 2017-06-05 The spectacle of major cultural and sporting events can preoccupy modern societies This book is concerned with contemporary mega events like the Olympics and Expos Using a sociological perspective Roche argues that mega events reflect the major social changes which now influence our societies particularly in the West and that these amount to a new second phase of the modernization process Changes are particularly visible in the media urban and global locational aspects of mega events Thus he suggests that contemporary mega events both in their achievements and their vulnerabilities reflect in the media sphere the rise of the internet in the urban sphere de industrialisation and the growing ecological crisis and in the global sphere the relative decline of the West and the rise of China and other emerging countries

The Ice Cream Queen of Orchard Street Susan Jane Gilman, 2014-06-10 A clever and complex woman builds an ice cream empire after immigrating from Russia in this stunning novel of power Prohibition and performance set against the backdrop of early 20th century America In 1913 little Malka Treynovsky flees Russia with her family Bedazzled by tales of gold and movie stardom she tricks them into buying tickets for America Yet no sooner do they land on the squalid Lower East Side of Manhattan than Malka is crippled and abandoned in the street Taken in by a tough loving Italian ices peddler she manages to survive through cunning and inventiveness As she learns the secrets of his trade she begins to shape her own destiny She falls in love with a gorgeous illiterate radical named Albert and they set off across America in an ice cream truck Slowly she transforms herself into Lillian Dunkle The Ice Cream Queen doyenne of an empire of ice cream franchises and a celebrated television personality Lillian's rise to fame and fortune spans seventy years and is inextricably linked to the course of American history itself from Prohibition to the disco days of Studio 54 Yet Lillian Dunkle is nothing like the whimsical motherly persona she crafts for herself in the media Conniving profane and irreverent she is a supremely complex woman who prefers a good stiff drink to an ice cream cone And when her past begins to catch up with her everything she has spent her life building is at stake

Alternate Roots Christine Scodari, 2018-06-14 In recent years the media has attributed the increasing numbers of people producing family trees to the aging of baby boomers a sense of mortality a proliferation of Internet genealogy sites and a growing pride in ethnicity A spate of new genealogy themed television series and Internet driven genetic ancestry testing services have now emerged capitalizing on the mapping of the human genome in 2003 This genealogical trend poses a need for critical analysis particularly along lines of race and ethnicity In contextual ways as she intersperses an account of her own journey chronicling her Italian and Italian American family history Christine Scodari lays out how family historians can understand intersections involving race and or ethnicity and other identities inflecting families Through engagement in and with genealogical texts and practices such as the classic television series Roots Ancestry.com and Henry Louis Gates's documentaries Scodari also explains how to interpret their import to historical and ongoing relations of power beyond the family Perspectives on hybridity and intersectionality gesture toward making connections not only between and among identities but also between localized findings and broader contexts that might given only cursory attention seem tangential to chronicling a family history Given current tools texts practices cultural contexts and technologies Scodari's study determines whether a critical genealogy around race ethnicity and intersectional identities is viable She delves into the implications of adoption orientation and migration while also investigating her own genealogy examining the racial ethnic experiences of her forebears and positioning them within larger cross cultural contexts There is little research on genealogical media in relation to race and ethnicity Thus Scodari blends cultural studies critical media studies and her own genealogy as a critical pursuit to interrogate issues bound up in the nuts and bolts of engaging in family history alizing on the mapping of the human genome in 2003 This genealogical trend poses a need for critical analysis particularly along lines of race and ethnicity In contextual ways Christine Scodari lays out how family historians can understand intersections involving race and or ethnicity within families Through engagement in and with genealogical texts and practices such as the classic television series Roots

Ancestry.com and Henry Louis Gates documentaries. Scodari also explains how to decipher their import to historical and ongoing relations of power beyond the family. Perspectives on hybridity and intersectionality gesture toward making connections not only between and among identities but also between localized findings and broader contexts that might given only cursory attention seem tangential to chronicling a family history. Given current tools, texts, practices, cultural contexts, and technologies, Scodari's study determines whether a critical genealogy around race, ethnicity, and intersectional identities is viable. She delves into the implications of adoption, orientation, and migration while also investigating her own genealogy, examining the racial, ethnic experiences of her forebears and positioning them within larger cross-cultural contexts. There is little research on genealogical media in relation to race and ethnicity. Thus, Scodari blends cultural studies, critical media studies, and her own genealogy as a critical pursuit to interrogate issues bound up in the nuts and bolts of engaging in family history.

Reading the New Testament in the Manifold Contexts of a Globalized World Eve-Marie Becker, Jens Herzer, Angela Standhartinger, Florian Wilk, 2022-12-12 This volume gathers the perspectives of teachers in higher education from all over the world on the topic of New Testament scholarship. The goal is to understand and describe the contexts and conditions under which New Testament research is carried out throughout the world. This endeavor should serve as a catalyst for new initiatives and the development of questions that determine the future directions of New Testament scholarship. At the same time, it is intended to raise awareness of the global dimensions of New Testament scholarship, especially in relation to its impact on socio-political debates. The occasion for these reflections are not least the present questions that have been posed with the corona pandemic and have received a focus on the system relevance of churches, which is openly questioned by the media. The church and theology must face this challenge. Towards that end, it is important to gather impulses and suggestions for the discipline from a variety of contexts in which different dimensions of context-related New Testament research come to the fore.
