

My Own Philosophy in Life

My philosophy of Life is we have to accept what we are, and what we have in our lives, live the life that we have today, and the people who inspire and support us every day. Because acceptance leads to acknowledging the facts of every circumstance and the awareness to solve the issues and all the challenges we face. What we have in our lives is the reason for us to stand and fight for who we are in the future, we must implement the desire in our lives to have a peaceful and joyful life as long as we cannot create harm to other people. We can't ignore the people who became our inspiration in life, this is also one of the reasons why we keep fighting every day because it motivates us to do something that makes us happy. Especially the one who supports us from we were born until now.

I come up with this idea with knowledge and life experience because I envy other peoples lives who have happy, luxurious, different living or traditional lives. Early Unmeet moments from childhood experiences and to the present. Sometimes I also question myself "Why do I have this kind of life?" "Why can't have what other people have?" , but still I am grateful to have this kind of life with my family.

The Origin of the Soul Joshua Farris, Joanna Leidenhag, 2024-02-01 The Origin of the Soul is a contemporary retrieval of an important theological discussion throughout history The origin of the soul is thought by many to be an outdated discussion that is theologically antiquated And yet in recent years there has been a renewed and growing interest not only in the soul immaterial substances and theistic explanations for the origins of consciousness but a more vibrant interest in the origins of the soul and the implications it has for numerous theological topics This is due in part to the growing recognition in theistic circles that we are not material beings at least not solely but rather we are ensouled beings and it is this part aspect or feature of us that needs some explaining beyond biological evolution The conversation that takes place in this volume will be of interest to scholars and students of both theology and philosophy

Paradox and Contradiction in the Biblical Traditions Brayton Polka,2021-03-19 The principal thesis that the author advances in this book is that paradox and contradiction constitute the two ways of the world Paradox represents the way of the people of the Bible and contradiction represents the way of all peoples who having lived without knowledge of the Bible have traditionally been known as gentiles or pagans The two ideas that are central to the biblical way of life as known historically by Jews Christians and Muslims are creation and covenant while the contradictory way of paganism has precisely been marked by the absence of these two concepts In his book the author distinguishes the paradoxical way of the world from the contradictory way of the world through the examination of principal texts of four of the most significant early modern European thinkers from the later sixteenth century to the earlier eighteenth century Montaigne Descartes Spinoza and Vico He shows that each of these four authors in distinctive yet fundamentally interrelated fashion provides us with profound insight into how absolutely different the paradoxical way of the world as biblical is from the contradictory way of the world as found primarily and specifically in Greek and Roman antiquity
