Family Care and Social Capital: Transitions in Informal Care Patrick Barrett, Beatrice Hale, Mary Butler, 2013-08-04 Becoming a caregiver is increasingly an inevitable experience for many people and therefore a likely life transition Drawing on research and personal experiences of working with family caregivers this book examines a range of family caregiving situations from across the life course It seeks to capture the dynamics of caregiving in a number of common situations caregiving during infancy for adults who acquire a disability through accidents or illness for older people with age related issues and caregiving by children and adolescent carers and grandparent carers In drawing attention to key moments of vulnerability faced by family and informal caregivers and by suggesting how to assist reconnection at these moments the book provides a guide for those working in the area of health disability and care Informal care is conceptualised as occurring with the context of personal interrelationships these being nested within wider kin networks and linked with wider professional formal care networks Informal care is seen both as an expression of social capital and as an activity that builds social capital It is an indicator of resources of mutual support within social networks and it has the effect of adding to the stock of social resources The book makes a case therefore for facilitating the development of social capital by strengthening the capacity of informal caregivers and caregiver groups and by improving the linkages with formal care organisations

Reconceptualising Work with 'carers' Kirsten Stalker, 2003 Demonstrating the scope and diversity of caring the contributors highlight the positive aspects of caring and the interdependence of many caring relationships but also broach the sensitive and complex subject of poor care and the importance of identifying and meeting the needs of hidden carers Auto/biography in Canada Julie Rak, 2009-08-02 Auto biography in Canada Critical Directions widens the field of auto biography studies with its sophisticated multidisciplinary perspectives on the theory criticism and practice of self community and representation Rather than considering autobiography and biography as discrete genres with definable properties and rather than focusing on critical approaches the essays explore auto biography as a discourse about identity and representation in the context of numerous disciplinary shifts Auto biography in Canada looks at how life narratives are made in Canada Originating from literary studies history and social work the essays in this collection cover topics that range from queer Canadian autobiography autobiography and autism and newspaper death notices as biography to Canadian autobiography and the Holocaust Grey Owl and authenticity France Thoret and autofiction and a new reading of Stolen Life the collaborative text by Yvonne Johnson and Rudy Wiebe Julie Rak's useful big picture introduction traces the history of auto biography studies in Canada While the contributors chart disciplinary shifts taking place in auto biography studies their essays are also part of the ongoing scholarship that is remaking ways to understand Canada What Do the Doctors Say? Janet Farrell Leontiou Ph.D., 2010-07-16 The medical world creates its own culture This culture however would not continue if it were not for our participation As consumers of health care the way in which we talk too maintains the medical culture as it is This culture frequently dismisses the wisdom of parents and talks them out of their own sense We as parents co create a culture that continually diminishes us This collaboration has disastrous consequences for our children How many times have you heard about a parent having a particular insight into his/her child only to be dissuaded from the truth by the doctor What Do the Doctors Say provides stories from the authors own experience as a mother As a scholar of communication she has identified twelve language patterns that are used to create medical culture The book is written particularly for parents of children with disabilities but may be a useful tool for all consumers of health care The Development of Children Study Guide Stephanie Stolarz-Fantino, Michael Cole, Sheila R. Imagining Care Amelia DeFalco, 2016-04-06 Imagining Care brings literature and philosophy into dialogue by examining caregiving in literature by contemporary Canadian writers alongside ethics of care philosophy Through close readings of fiction and memoirs by Margaret Atwood Alice Munro Michael Ignatieff Ian Brown and David Chariandy Amelia DeFalco argues that these narratives expose the tangled particularities of relations of care dependency and responsibility as well as issues of marginalisation on the basis of gender race and class DeFalco complicates the myth of Canada as an unwaveringly caring nation that is characterized by equality and compassion Caregiving is unpredictable one person's altruism can be another's narcissism one's compassion another's condescension or even cruelty In a country that conceives of itself as a caring society these texts depict in stark terms the ethical dilemmas that arise from our attempts to respond to the needs of others
