In the Shadow of Descartes G.H. Von Wright,1998-03-31 Descartes made a sharp distinction between matter and mind But he also thought that the two interact with one another Is such interaction possible however without either a materialist reduction of mind to matter or an idealist phenomenalist reduction of matter to mind These questions overshadow the Western tradition in metaphysics from the time of Descartes to present times The book makes an effort to stay clear of reductivist views of the two Cartesian substances It defends a dualistic psycho physical parallel theory which reconciles freedom of action with determinism in nature Basic problems in perception theory are also discussed with special emphasis on hearing and sound Because of the intrinsic interest of the subject and the author s non technical presentation of it the book should appeal to all readers with a serious interest in philosophy and psychology     The Substance of Fiction Sophie Volpp,2022-06-28 Do the portrayals of objects in literary texts represent historical evidence about the material culture of the past Or are things in books more than things in the world Sophie Volpp considers fictional objects of the late Ming and Qing that defy being read as illustrative of historical things Instead she argues fictional objects are often signs of fictionality themselves calling attention to the nature of the relationship between literature and materiality Volpp examines a series of objects a robe a box and a shell a telescope a plate glass mirror and a painting drawn from the canonical works frequently mined for information about late imperial material culture including the novels The Plum in the Golden Vase and The Story of the Stone as well as the short fiction of Feng Menglong Ling Mengchu and Li Yu She argues that although fictional objects invite readers to think of them as illustrative in fact inconsistent and discontinuous representation disconnects the literary object from potential historical analogues The historical resonances of literary objects illuminate the rhetorical strategies of individual works of fiction and more broadly conceptions of fictionality in the Ming and Qing Rather than offering a transparent lens on the past fictional objects train the reader to be aware of the fallibility of perception A deeply insightful analysis of late Ming and Qing texts and reading practices The Substance of Fiction has important implications for Chinese literary studies history and art history as well as the material turn in the humanities
