The Moses Quilt Kathi Macias, 2012-12-05 The Moses Quilt bridges racial and generational divides as a young woman

wrestles with difficult issues and finds answers from an unexpected source Binding Us Together Alvin Brooks, 2021-02-23

A heartfelt inspiring narrative that is inextricably linked to the nation's past and present civil rights activist and public servant Alvin Brooks shares engaging funny and tragic stories of his life and career of advocacy. Few have faced adversity like Alvin Brooks has. He was born into an impoverished family; he nearly lost his adoptive father to the justice system of the South and he barely survived a health crisis in infancy. However, his greatest challenges would be learning how to navigate a racist society as a young boy and then later protecting his beloved wife Carol and their six children. Despite all the adversity he faced, Brooks became a lifelong leader and a servant of his community. Brooks served as one of Kansas City's first Black police officers in the fifties, helped to heal the racial divide after the riots following the assassination of Martin Luther King Jr., founded the AdHoc Group Against Crime affecting real change in city government and met with successive American presidents on national issues. When it comes to criminal justice, civil rights and racial inequity, Brooks's lifetime of building bridges across society's divides helps us better understand our past, make sense of our present and envision our future. Alvin Brooks proves that a good heart, a generous spirit and a lot of work can connect the world; one person can make a difference by binding us together.

And Nanny Makes Three Jessika Auerbach, 2007-05 From the playground to the playroom, mothers and nannies are engaged in a relationship like no other; they are sometimes co-parents and comrades, often confidants and much more than employer and employee. It is a complex relationship that touches on issues of love, trust and money. It can be a wonderful collaboration between two women who care for the same child or it can be a difficult situation with unfulfilled expectations on both sides. Mothers can be obsessed, conflicted and confused about how to manage caregivers, but they also must contend with how they feel about having another woman take care of their children. Caregivers love the kids but often run into trouble dealing with mom. And Nanny Makes Three goes behind the scenes of domestic arrangements to discover what moms and nannies are really thinking about each other, the kids, their respective jobs and their identities. In this eye-opening book, Jessika Auerbach plumbs the depth of this unique relationship and presents a perspective that draws from both sides. Mothers and caregivers' genuine and unique voices are equally represented, giving a balanced view to this highly complicated, emotionally charged relationship. Anyone who is a mother, working or not, or thinking of becoming a mother and wondering how to juggle career and children without dropping the ball somewhere along the way will gain invaluable insight from And Nanny Makes Three. The relationship between any working mother and the caretaker of her child involves some of the most intense, important, conflicted and complicated interactions a woman is ever likely to have. Once a mother returns to work, full time, part time, any time and anywhere, it's the one relationship that almost more than any other will keep her awake at night, make her furious, desperate, grateful and guilty. As a mother who both loves her children and needs her job, it's also often a relationship she wishes she would never have to have. Yet from the moment it begins, it becomes hopelessly and forever entangled with her view of herself her love of her family and her need to support them In this way it becomes instantly and inextricably folded into the dialogue every mother carries on within herself with her partner her colleagues and her friends If playground cocktail party and book group conversation is anything to go by the topic of nannies what they do to us and what we do to them is right up there with talk about love sex and school waiting lists from the Introduction Jessika Auerbach was born in Germany but grew up primarily in England She studied at the Institut des Sciences Politiques and the Sorbonne in Paris and at Oxford University and since that time has lived and worked as an editor and writer in New York Connecticut the Netherlands and Hong Kong Her four daughters were born on three different continents and she and her husband remain happily in touch with almost all the nineteen nannies au pairs and part time babysitters who have provided them with childcare over the years She currently lives with her family in Singapore where she is working on her next book
