My Revolution Promenades In Paris 1789:

My Revolution Alex Karmel, 1970 Working away in two rooms on an obscure street is Restif de la Bretonne an eccentric underground writer whose salacious works have earned him the title of the Rousseau of the gutter and the Voltaire of the chambermades In My Revolution Alex Karmel has brought to life a fascinating man and a turbulent era with absolute authenticity and wry humor The six decisive years of the Revolution are seen through Restif's eyes his private concerns interwoven with the great upheaval Always personal the narrative shows the development of a revolutionary sensibility In his more intimate relations Restif the Nocturnal Spectator displays a frankness that reminds us that sex like revolution is not a twentieth century invention Jacket

My Revolution Alex Karmel, Restif de La Bretonne, 1970 My Revolution Alexis Karmel, 1970 My revolution Alex Karmel, 1970 Utopianism for a Dying Planet Gregory Claeys, 2024-12-10 How the utopian tradition offers answers to today's environmental crises In the face of Earth's environmental breakdown it is clear that technological innovation alone won't save our planet A more radical approach is required one that involves profound changes in individual and collective behavior Utopianism for a Dying Planet examines the ways the expansive history of utopian thought from its origins in ancient Sparta and ideas of the Golden Age through to today's thinkers can offer moral and imaginative guidance in the face of catastrophe The utopian tradition which has been critical of conspicuous consumption and luxurious indulgence might light a path to a society that emphasizes equality sociability and sustainability Gregory Claeys unfolds his argument through a wide ranging consideration of utopian literature social theory and intentional communities He defends a realist definition of utopia focusing on ideas of sociability and belonging as central to utopian narratives He surveys the development of these themes during the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries before examining twentieth and twenty first century debates about alternatives to consumerism Claeys contends that the current global warming limit of 1.5C 2.7F will result in cataclysm if there is no further reduction in the cap In response he offers a radical Green New Deal program which combines ideas from the theory of sociability with proposals to withdraw from fossil fuels and cease reliance on unsustainable commodities An urgent and comprehensive search for antidotes to our planet's destruction Utopianism for a Dying Planet asks for a revival of utopian ideas not as an escape from reality but as a powerful means of changing it

To be human is to experience fear but what is it exactly that makes us fearful Here is one geographer s striking exploration of our landscapes of fear as they change throughout our lives and have changed throughout history Yi fu Tuan investigates landscapes of the natural environment which are threatening and landscapes filled with the dark imageries of the mind fears of drought flood famine and disease shared by all members of a community and fears of the particular ghosts which haunt the individual imagination In this lucidly written ground breaking survey Professor Tuan delves into many cultures and reaches back into our prehistory to discover what is universal and what is particular in our inheritance of fear Starting with fear in animals he raises and explores a variety of questions What is specifically human about fear Is there or has there ever been a fearless society Professor Tuan examines the most specific forms fear takes in the mind of the child among hunters and agriculturists inside the walls of a medieval Chinese city among Navaho Indians and American immigrants He explores the ways in which authorities create landscapes of terror to instill fear in their own populations and he probes that most basic of all contradictions between the need for human security and the fear of human nature Professor Tuan particularly emphasizes how in coping with fears of enemies strangers the insane wolves wind witches mountains dragons rain or the terror that the universe itself might crumble humans respond adventurously by creating shelters ranging from fairy tales to cosmological myths We watch as human beings continually draw and redraw their circles of safety never feeling entirely at peace within them

The Transparent Illusion Rebecca M. Pauly, 1993 This unique study interprets forty major French films their texts and intertexts analyzing them both as windows on their subject projections of the imagination and as frames or mirrors reflecting the cultural contexts that produced them They are grouped in three major categories foregrounding their relationship to history literature or the filmmaking process itself in ascending order of opacity and modernity This much needed work offers not only comparative cultural perspectives on French text and film but also a better understanding of the poetics of image and ideology
