My Son The Fanatic:

My Son the Fanatic Hanif Kureishi, 2008 Empire and After Graham MacPhee, Prem Poddar, 2007 Ranging from analyses of contemporary culture postcolonial writing political rhetoric and postimperial memory after 9 11 this collection demonstrates that far from being parochial and self involved the question of Englishness offers an important avenue for thinking about the politics of national identity Transcultural English Studies Frank Schulze-Engler, Sissy Helff, 2009 What is most strikingly new about the transcultural is its sudden ubiquity Following in the wake of previous concepts in cultural and literary studies such as creolization hybridity and syncretism and signalling a family relationship to terms such as transnationality translocality and transmigration transcultural terminology has unobtrusively but powerfully edged its way into contemporary theoretical and critical discourse The four sections of this volume denote major areas where transcultural questions and problematics have come to the fore theories of culture and literature that have sought to account for the complexity of culture in a world increasingly characterized by globalization transnationalization and interdependence realities of individual and collective life worlds shaped by the ubiquity of phenomena and experiences relating to transnational connections and the blurring of cultural boundaries fictions in literature and other media that explore these realities negotiate the fuzzy edges of ethnic or national cultures and participate in the creation of transnational public spheres as well as transcultural imaginations and memories and finally pedagogy and didactics where earlier models of teaching other cultures are faced with the challenge of coming to terms with cultural complexity both in what is being taught and in the people it is taught to and where target cultures have become elusive The idea of locating culture and literature exclusively in the context of ethnicities or nations is rapidly losing plausibility throughout an English speaking world that has long since been multi rather than monolingual Exploring the prospects and contours of Transcultural English Studies thus reflects a set of common challenges and predicaments that in recent years have increasingly moved centre stage not only in the New Literatures in English but also in British and American studies My Son the Fanatic Hanif Kureishi, 2019-10-15 I m going to tell him to pick up his prayer mat and get out of my house When Parvez s son Ali starts clearing out his bedroom Parvez assumes he s taking drugs and selling his possessions to pay for them His fellow taxi drivers are triumphant they knew something was wrong Bettina the prostitute Parvez regularly drives home tells him what signs to look out for But nothing is physically different about Ali except that he is growing a beard and praying five times a day He condemns his father for drinking alcohol and eating bacon and assures him that the Law of Islam will rule the world First published in March 1994 Hanif Kureishi s comedy of assimilation is both uproariously funny and so prescient it s barely funny at all

Reconstructing Hybridity Joel Kuortti, Jopi Nyman, 2007 This interdisciplinary collection of critical articles seeks to reassess the concept of hybridity and its relevance to post colonial theory and literature The challenging articles written by internationally acclaimed scholars discuss the usefulness of the term in relation to such questions as citizenship whiteness studies and transnational identity politics In addition to developing theories of hybridity the articles in this volume deal with the role of hybridity in a variety of literary and cultural phenomena in geographical settings ranging from the Pacific to native North America The collection pays particular attention to questions of hybridity migrancy and diaspora

Bidding for the Mainstream? Barbara Korte, Claudia Sternberg, 2021-07-26 This book looks at a sector of black and Asian British film and television as it presented itself in the 1990s and early 2000s For this period a mainstreaming of black and Asian British film has been observed in criticism and theory and articulated by an increasing number of practitioners themselves referring to changing modes of production distribution and reception and implying a more popular and commercial orientation of certain media products This idea is a leitmotif for the authors readings of recent films and examples of television drama including such diverse products as Young Soul Rebels and Babymother East Is East and Bend It Like Beckham The Buddha of Suburbia and White Teeth These analyses are supplemented with a look at earlier landmark productions like Pressure as well as relevant social institutional and aesthetic frameworks The book closes with a selection of statements by black and Asian media practitioners who operate from within Britain's cultural industries Mike Phillips Horace O'Vey Julian Henriques Parminder Vir and Gurinder Chadha

Shooting the Family Patricia Pisters, Wim Staat, 2005 Shooting the Family a collection of essays on the contemporary media landscape explores ever changing representations of family life on a global scale The contributors argue that new recording technologies allows families an unusual kind of freedom until now unknown to define and respond to their own lives and memories Recently released videos made by young migrants as they discover new homelands and resolve conflicts with their parents for example reverberate alongside the dark portrayals of family life in the formal filmmaking of Ang Lee This book will be a boon to scholars of film theory and media studies as well as to anyone interested in the construction of the family in a postmodern world
