swampland areas offering insights from UIN Raden Fatah Palembang's adaptation efforts. Also, this book provides a thorough review of bio-based business models examining their agility and adaptability in fostering sustainable innovations that respond to market and environmental changes. Moreover, the book explores a novel approach to renewable energy; this chapter assesses the feasibility of using vortex bladeless wind turbines for energy generation at airport runways, offering both conceptual and economic analyses. In addition, it discusses the creation and role of multi-actor forums in promoting a sustainable blue economy in the Black Sea region, emphasizing collaborative efforts to preserve marine resources. This book investigates the use of halophyte biochar as a sustainable soil amendment for sandy soils, demonstrating its potential to improve soil quality and promote sustainable agriculture. Also, the book aims to assess the sustainability of food-energy-water systems at the household level, advocating for integrated solutions that enhance resource efficiency and sustainability. This book delves into societal perceptions of climate change adaptation using interaction analysis to better understand public attitudes and their implications for policy and communication strategies. This book presents a case study from Istanbul, offering insights into how local identity can strengthen community resilience and sustainability efforts. Finally, the book provides a comprehensive guide to understanding and implementing sustainable practices across various sectors, from energy management and water resources to food systems and environmental education. It emphasizes the importance of interdisciplinary approaches and innovation agility in addressing global sustainability challenges.

Musical Worlds in Yogyakarta Max M. Richter, 2013. Musical Worlds in Yogyakarta is an ethnographic account of a vibrant Indonesian city during the turbulent early post-Soeharto years. The book examines musical performance in public contexts ranging from the street and neighbourhood through to commercial venues and state environments such as Yogyakarta's regional parliament, its military institutions, universities, and the Sultan's palace. It focuses on the musical tastes and practices of street workers, artists, students, and others. From street corner jam sessions to large-scale concerts, a range of genres emerge that cohere around notions of campursari, mixed essences, and jalanan of the street. Musical Worlds addresses themes of social identity and power, counterpoising Pierre Bourdieu's theories on class, gender, and nation with the author's alternative perspectives of inter-group, social capital, physicality, and grounded cosmopolitanism. The author argues that Yogyakarta is exemplary of how everyday people make use of music to negotiate issues of power and, at the same time, promote peace and intergroup appreciation in culturally diverse inner-city settings.

After the New Order Abidin Kusno, 2013-11-30. After the New Order follows up Abidin Kusno's well-received Behind the Postcolonial and The Appearances of Memory. This new work explores the formation of populist urban programs in post-Suharto Jakarta and the cultural and political contradictions that have arisen as a result of the continuing influence of the Suharto era's neoliberal ideology of development. Analyzing a spectrum of urban agendas from waterfront city to green environment and housing for the poor, Kusno deepens our understanding of the spatial mediation of power, the interaction between elite and populist urban imaginings, and how past ideologies are integral to the present even as they are newly reconfigured The book brings together eight chapters that examine the anxiety over the destiny of Jakarta in its efforts to resolve the crisis of the city In the first group of chapters Kusno considers the fate and fortune of two building types namely the city hall and the shop house over a longue duree as a metonymy for the culture politics and society of the city and the nation Other chapters focus on the intellectual legacies of the Sukarno and Suharto eras and the influence of their spatial paradigms The final three chapters look at social and ecological consciousness in the post Suharto era One reflects on citizens responses to the waterfront city project another on the efforts to green the city as it is overrun by capitalism and reaching its ecological limits The third discusses a recent low income housing program by exploring the two central issues of land and financing it illuminates the interaction between the politics of urban space and that of global financial capitalism The epilogue consisting of an interview with the author discusses Kusno s writings on contemporary Jakarta his approach to history and how his work is shaped by concerns over the injustices violence and environmental degradation that continue to accompany the city s democratic transition After the New Order will be essential reading for anyone including Asianists urban historians social scientists architects and planners concerned with the interplay of space power and identity
