Paradise Laborers Patricia A. Adler, Peter Adler, 2018-08-06 Resorts have become important to American society and its economy one in eight Americans is now employed by the tourism industry Yet despite the ubiquity of hotels little has been written about those who labor there Drawing on eight years of participant observation and in depth interviews the renowned ethnographers Patricia A Adler and Peter Adler reveal the occupational culture and lifestyles of workers at five luxury Hawaiian resorts These resorts employ a workforce that is diverse in gender class ethnicity and nationality Hawaiian resort workers like those in nearly all resorts consist of four groups New immigrants hold difficult and dirty low status jobs for little pay Locals provide an authentic Polynesian flavor for guests a ready pool of youthful high turnover employees and a population trapped in a place that offers few occupational alternatives Managers tend to be middle class college educated young and middle aged men from the mainland whose lifestyles are occupationally transient Seekers mostly young white and from the mainland as well escape to paradise seeking adventure warmth extreme sports or some alternate life experiences The Adlers describe the work lives and careers of these four groups that labor in organizations that never close with shifts scheduled around the clock and around the year Paradise Laborers adds to the growing interest in the global flow of labor as these immigrant workers display different trends in gendered opportunities and mobility than those exhibited by other groups The authors propose a political economy of tourist labor in which they compare the different expectations and rewards of organizations employees and local labor markets

Service Work Cameron MacDonald, Marek Korczynski, 2008-08-20 This is the only book available that brings together major scholars to apply different theoretical perspectives to explore the nature of service work

Nothing Without Tourism Danaé Leitenberg, 2025-10-01 For centuries locals in many Swiss Alpine villages have depended on visitors wanderlust to sustain their livelihoods Based on ethnographic fieldwork conducted in a German speaking village and tourist resort between 2017 and 2023 this book explores people s everyday experience of tourism as a volatile yet vital industry where successes and failures in the past present and future intersect in puzzling ways Following native locals migrant hospitality workers from mostly Southern and Eastern Europe as well as tourism lobbyists in this globalized mountain village it examines how power imbalance among those dependent on tourism elicit different responses to the dilemmas of tourism

A Sustainable Tourism Workforce Shelagh Mooney, Richard N.S. Robinson, David J. Solnet, Tom Baum, 2024-02-15 This book brings together issues of social justice and the neglect of a sustainable orientation to the tourism workforce This has resulted in an impoverished unsustainable and transient workforce that does not meet the aims of UN sustainable goals within the sector or indeed the UNTWO Code of ethics towards its employees The introductory review and 15 chapters in this volume each make a unique and distinct contribution to knowledge The opening review presents a critique of current definitions of sustainability in an employment and specifically in a tourism employment context acknowledging and critiquing extant literature It uniquely recognises the themes submitted on the topic of sustainable work in the book as well as those which comprise the final selection of chapters These exercises culminate in the presentation of a refreshed conceptualisation of sustainable employment The chapters were mapped onto a proposed conceptual framework which recognises the multi dimensional influences of the evolving Sustainable Development Goals SDGs recent Sustainable Human Resource Management SHRM and tourism literature and fresh contributions to theory Additionally the introductory review offers concluding remarks that the authors hope will influence and guide future research endeavours The book will be invaluable to educators students and policymakers interested in information and guidance on managing sustainable tourism Several chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of the Journal of Sustainable Tourism

The State of Sex Barbara Brents, Crystal Jackson, Kathryn Hausbeck, 2009-12-16 The State of Sex is a study of Nevada's brothels that situates the nation's only legal brothel industry in the political economy of contemporary tourism Nevada is part of the new American heartland as its pastimes people and politics have become more central to the nation The rise of a service and leisure economy over the past sixty years has propelled sexuality into the heart of contemporary markets Yet neoliberal laws in the United States promote business but limit sexual commerce How have Nevada's legal brothels survived while the rest of the country criminalizes prostitution How do brothels operate Who works in them This book brings social theory on globalizing economies politics leisure consumption and emotional labor in interactive service work together with research on contemporary prostitution and sexual commerce The authors employ an innovative multi method sociological approach combining historical analysis of how the brothels came to be with over a decade's worth of ethnographic research on the current state of the industry

Becoming an Educational Ethnographer Juana M. Sancho-Gil, Fernando Hernández-Hernández, 2020-12-28 This book provides practical advice on the learning and teaching perspectives of ethnography including what undertaking research looks like and the experiences it will bring It considers what it means to be and become an educational ethnographer and builds on an inextricable entanglement between the researchers field of study and their research trajectories With a range of carefully chosen international contributions this book uses a variety of practical case studies to provide further information about the pros and cons of this research perspective Chapter authors share the knowledge and experience gained from the research and how it has affected their approach to social phenomena This book is an ideal introduction for anyone considering research approach or becoming an educational ethnographer and will be of interest to researchers already working in this field

Tourism, Tradition and Culture David Harrison, 2020-11-18 David Harrison has contributed to the academic study of tourism over the last 30 years This book brings together a collection of his published material that reflects the role played by tourism in development both in societies emerging from Western colonialism and in societies previously part of the Soviet system The overarching theme looks at how promoted as a tool for development tourism can lead to conflict between competing elites but can also empower groups previously subject to constraint by traditional authorities Tradition is intensely manipulatable and always reflects power relations Such pressure on tradition is but one aspect of tourism s wider social impacts This includes changes in economic and social structure which for many constitute social problems that need to be addressed At the same time sustainability though apparently a worthy aim can be a problematic concept especially when applied to traditional cultures and may conflict with such ideals as egalitarianism

The Hungry Cowboy Karla A. Erickson,2010-07-07 At a Tex Mex restaurant in a Minneapolis suburb customers send Christmas and Hanukkah cards to the restaurant bring in home baked treats for the staff and attend the annual employee party One customer even posts in the entryway a sign commemorating the life of his dog Diners and servers alike use the Hungry Cowboy as a place to gather celebrate relax and even mourn Moments such as these fascinate Karla A Erickson who worked for the restaurant and they make up her new book The Hungry Cowboy Weaving together narratives from servers customers and managers Erickson explores a type of service work that is deeply embedded in personal relationships and community Feelings play and emotions are inseparable from the market transactions within the restaurant Based on extensive interviews and two years of working as a waitress Erickson provides insights into the ways that people make contact in our society and how they build on the fleeting connections in the service exchange to form more intimate relationships Written for readers scholars and students interested in American culture consumerism and community The Hungry Cowboy offers a case study in how consumers and producers in the marketplace perform and how dignity meaning and community can all be built at work

Front of the House, Back of the House Eli Revella Yano Wilson,2020-12-29 Honorable Mention Mirra Komarovsky Book Award given by the Eastern Sociological Society 2021 Outstanding Academic Title Choice Magazine How workers navigate race gender and class in the food service industry Two unequal worlds of work exist within the upscale restaurant scene of Los Angeles White college educated servers operate in the front of the house also known as the public areas of the restaurant while Latino immigrants toil in the back of the house and out of customer view In Front of the House Back of the House Eli Revelle Yano Wilson shows us what keeps these workers apart exploring race class and gender inequalities in the food service industry Drawing on research at three different high end restaurants in Los Angeles Wilson highlights why these inequalities persist in the twenty first century pointing to discriminatory hiring and supervisory practices that ultimately grant educated whites access to the most desirable positions Additionally he shows us how workers navigate these inequalities under the same roof making sense of their jobs their identities and each other in a world that reinforces their separateness Front of the House Back of the House takes us behind the scenes of the food service industry providing a window into the unequal lives of white and Latino restaurant workers Markets and Bodies Eileen M. Otis, 2011-12-07 Insulated from the dust noise and crowds churning outside China's luxury hotels are staging areas for the new economic and political landscape of the country These hotels along with other emerging service businesses offer an important new source of employment for millions of workers but also bring to light levels of inequality that surpass most developed nations Examining how gender enables the globalization of markets and how emerging forms of service labor are changing women's social status in China Markets and Bodies reveals the forms of social inequality produced by shifts in the economy No longer working for the common good as defined by the socialist state service workers are catering to the individual desires of consumers This economic transition ultimately affords a unique opportunity to investigate the possibilities and current limits for better working conditions for the young women who are enabling the development of capitalism in China probable change into the future It discusses significant travel tourism and hospitality events while referring to tourism related notions and theories that have been developed since the beginnings of tourism Its scope moves beyond a comprehensive historical account of facts and events Instead it bridges these with contemporary issues challenges and concerns hence enabling readers to connect tourism past with the present and future This textbook aspires to enhance readers comprehension of the perplexed system of tourism promoting decision making and even the development of new theories This book will be of great interest to academics practitioners and students from a wide variety of disciplines including tourism hospitality events sociology psychology philosophy history and human geography

Life in a New Language Ingrid Piller, Donna Butorac, Emily Farrell, Loy Lising, Shiva Motaghi-Tabari, Vera Williams Tetteh, 2024

International migration and the social diversity it creates constitute one of the key global challenges of the early 21st century Language and communication barriers can compromise equitable access in diverse societies and where socioeconomic disadvantage becomes entrenched it poses risks to security productivity and quality of life Clearly this is an important issue and migrants and their language choices are heavily politicized though political and media debates often rely on anecdotal conjecture or are ill informed Life in a New Language examines the language learning and settlement experiences of 130 migrants to Australia from 34 different countries in Africa Asia Europe and Latin America over a period of 20 years Reusing data shared from six separate sociolinguistic ethnographies the book illuminates participants lived experience of learning and communicating in a new language finding work and doing family Additionally participants experiences with racism and identity making in a new context are explored The research uncovers significant hardship but also migrants courage and resilience The book has implications for language service provision migration policy open science and social justice movements

Economies of Desire Amalia L. Cabezas, 2009-04-28 Money sex and love Are they merely market forces in transnational tourism Fieldwork in Tourism Michael C. Hall, 2010-10-04 The inherent mobility of tourists and consequent relative ephemerality of contact between the visitor and the visited tourism phenomenon have specific characteristics that challenge the usual fieldwork practices of the social and physical sciences Such conditions create specific concerns for the tourism researcher in terms of their positionality relationality accessibility ethics reflexivity and methodological appropriateness Fieldwork in Tourism is the first book to focus on this extremely significant component of contemporary tourist research and provides hands on approaches to conducting tourism fieldwork in a range of settings exploring the methodological considerations and offering strategies to mitigate these The book also discusses how fieldwork affects researchers personally and what happens to field relationships Divided into five sections each with an introduction and a guide to further reading the chapters cover the context of fieldwork research relationships politics and power the position of the researcher in the field research methods and processes including virtual fieldwork and the relationships between being a tourist and doing fieldwork The concluding chapter suggests that the link between tourism and fieldwork perhaps offers greater insights into understanding creative fieldwork than may be imagined This book incorporates a rich and diverse set of fieldwork experiences insights and reflections on conducting fieldwork in different settings the problems that emerge the solutions that were developed and the realities of being in the field Fieldwork in Tourism is an essential guide for Tourism higher level students academics and researchers embarking on research in this field Cleaning Up Dan Zuberi, 2013-09-20 To cut costs and maximize profits hospitals in the United States and many other countries are outsourcing such tasks as cleaning and food preparation to private contractors In Cleaning Up the first book to examine this transformation in the healthcare industry Dan Zuberi looks at the consequences of outsourcing from two perspectives its impact on patient safety and its role in increasing socioeconomic inequality Drawing on years of field research in Vancouver Canada as well as data from hospitals in the U S and Europe he argues that outsourcing has been disastrous for the cleanliness of hospitals leading to an increased risk of hospital acquired infections a leading cause of severe illness and death as well as for the effective delivery of other hospital services and the workers themselves Zuberi s interviews with the low wage workers who keep hospitals running uncover claims of exposure to near constant risk of injury and illness Many report serious concerns about the quality of the work due to understaffing high turnover poor training and experience inadequate cleaning supplies and on the job injuries Zuberi also presents policy recommendations for improving patient safety by reducing the risk of hospital acquired infection and ameliorating the work conditions and quality of life of hospital support workers He makes the case that hospital outsourcing exemplifies the trend towards low road service sector jobs that threatens to undermine society s social health as well as the physical health and well being of patients in health care settings globally
