Parenting Under Pressure Timothy A. Booth, Wendy Booth, 1994 Gives an insight into what it means to be a parent with learning difficulties By looking at the common threads in their lives the authors aim to produce personal accounts that are true to the experience of parents themselves

Parents with Intellectual Disabilities Gwynnyth Llewellyn, Rannveig Traustadottir, David McConnell, Hanna Bjorg Sigurjonsdott, 2010-02-18 The first international cross disciplinary book to explore and understand the lives of parents with intellectual disabilities their children and the systems and services they encounter Presents a unique pan disciplinary overview of this growing field of study Offers a human rights approach to disability and family life Informed by the newly adopted UN Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities 2006 Provides comprehensive research based knowledge from leading figures in the field of intellectual disability

Growing up with Parents who have Learning Difficulties Tim Booth, Wendy Booth, 2005-08-10 Growing up with Parents who have Learning Difficulties uses a life story approach to present new evidence about how children from such families manage the transition to adulthood and about the longer term outcomes of such an upbringing It offers a view of parental competence as a social attribute rather than an individual skill assessing the implications for institutional policies and practices The authors address the notion of children having to parent their disabled parents and argue for a shift in emphasis from protecting children to supporting families This innovative book provides a fresh approach to a subject rife with prejudice and challenges us to think again about many taken for granted ideas about the process of parenting and the needs of children It also demonstrates the power of narrative research and its capacity for bringing alive people s experience in a way that enables us to better understand their lives

Parental Learning Disability and Children's Needs Hedy Cleaver, Don Nicholson, 2007-12-15 Parental Learning Disability and Children s Needs explores how to effectively assess children in families where one or more parent has a learning disability These children often have unmet needs because their parents are more likely to be coping with mental and physical illness domestic violence or substance abuse

Oxford Handbook of Learning and Intellectual Disability Nursing Bob Gates, Owen Barr, 2009 Intellectual disability nurses can be found working and supporting people in a variety of different care contexts These include the healthcare system social care and education as well as the private sector including voluntary and not for profit organizations Numerous other professional disciplines also work alongside these areas including clinical psychologists social workers occupational therapists speech and language therapists and consultant psychiatrists The Oxford Handbook of Learning and Intellectual Disability Nursing provides up to date concise and practical coal face information for use in all areas where intellectual disability nurses are located It includes a section on practical applications and therapeutic interventions as well as an emergencies section and coverage of the main points of mental health legislation Unique to this Oxford Handbook is the attention given to differences in legislation and social policy across the constituent countries of the UK and Ireland The Oxford Handbook of Learning and Intellectual Disability Nursing is clearly laid out and written in readable note based style It is an invaluable companion to both community and ward nurses and all those working with patients with learning and intellectual disabilities
