The Doctor in the Victorian Novel Tabitha Sparks,2016-03-23 With the character of the doctor as her subject Tabitha Sparks follows the decline of the marriage plot in the Victorian novel As Victorians came to terms with the scientific revolution in medicine of the mid to late nineteenth century the novel s progressive distance from the conventions of the marriage plot can be indexed through a rising identification of the doctor with scientific empiricism A narrative s stance towards scientific reason Sparks argues is revealed by the fictional doctor s relationship to the marriage plot Thus novels that feature romantic doctors almost invariably deny the authority of empiricism as is the case in George MacDonald s Adela Cathcart In contrast works such as Wilkie Collins s Heart and Science which highlight clinically minded or even sinister doctors uphold the determining logic of science and in turn threaten the novel s romantic plot By focusing on the figure of the doctor rather than on a scientific theme or medical field Sparks emulates the Victorian novel s personalization of tropes and belief systems using the realism associated with the doctor to chart the sustainability of the Victorian novel s central imaginative structure the marriage plot As the doctors

Sparks examines increasingly stand in for the encroachment of empirical knowledge on a morally formulated artistic genre their alienation from the marriage plot and its interrelated decline succinctly herald the end of the Victorian era and the beginning of Modernism

Diplomacy in Postwar British Literature and Culture Caroline Zoe Krzakowski,2023-05-16 In Diplomacy in Postwar British Literature and Culture Krzakowski examines how representations of British envoys diplomats officials and spies in fiction and non fiction by Rebecca West Lawrence Durrell Olivia Manning and John le Carr as well as in the films of Alfred Hitchcock respond to the political instability of the postwar period This study argues that the rise of international relations in the twentieth century shaped modern British fiction and film and offers a new way to trace the continuities between geopolitics and British cultural production in the aftermath of the Second World War

Domestic Modernism, the Interwar Novel, and E.H. Young Chiara Briganti,Kathy Mezei,2016-12-05 Domestic Modernism the Interwar Novel and E H Young provides a valuable analytical model for reading a large body of modernist works by women who have suffered not only from a lack of critical attention but from the assumption that experimental modernist techniques are the only expression of the modern In the process of documenting the publication and reception history of E H Young s novels the authors suggest a paradigm for analyzing the situation of women writers during the interwar years Their discussion of Young in the context of both canonical and noncanonical writers challenges the generic label and literary status of the domestic novel as well as facile assumptions about popular and middlebrow fiction canon formation aesthetic value and modernity The authors also make a significant contribution to discussions of the everyday and to the burgeoning field of homeculture as they show that the fictional embodiment and inscription of home by writers such as Young Virginia Woolf Elizabeth Bowen Ivy Compton Burnett Lettice Cooper E M Delafield Stella Gibbons Storm Jameson and E Arnot Robertson epitomize the long standing symbiosis between architecture and literature or more specifically between the house and the novel

Book News ,1899 Charles Lamb, Coleridge and Wordsworth Felicity James,2008-09-02 This book makes the case for a re placing of Lamb as reader writer and friend in the midst of the lively political and literary scene of the 1790s Reading his little known early works alongside others by the likes of Coleridge and Wordsworth it allows a revealing insight into the creative dynamics of early Romanticism

The Modern Student's Book of English Literature Harry Morgan Ayres,Frederick Morgan Padelford,1924 Novel Practices Eugene Goodheart,2019-01-22 An important debate in modern literary criticism concerns the exact relationship between the ancient epic and the novel Both the epic and the most ambitious modern novels are large scale attempts to present a comprehensive view of the world through the experience of a representative hero. However, in the older tradition, the hero stood for the aspirations and highest ideals of his society. The protagonist of the modern novel is usually at odds with that society, whether as an exile, active rebel, or antagonistic critic.

In Novel Practices, the distinguished literary scholar Eugene Goodheart surveys a representative selection of modern novelists, tracing how the epic impulse has been reshaped under the conditions of modernity.

Racism and Xenophobia in Early Twentieth-Century American Fiction

Wisam Abughosh Chaleila, 2020-12-29

The Melting Pot; The Land of the Free; The Land of Opportunity. These tropes or nicknames apparently reflect the freedom and open-armed welcome that the United States of America offers. However, the chronicles of history do not complement that image. These historical happenings have not often been brought into the focus of Modernist literary criticism, though their existence in the record is clear. This book aims to discuss these chronicles, displaying in great detail the underpinnings and subtle references of racism and xenophobia embedded so deeply in both fictional and real personas, whether they are characters, writers, legislators, or the common people. In the main chapters, literary works are dissected so as to underline the intolerance hidden behind words of righteousness and blind trust, as if such is the norm. Though history is taught, it is not so thoroughly examined. To our misfortune, we naively think that bigoted ideas are not a thing we could become afflicted with They are antiques from the past yet they possessed many hundreds of people and they surround us still Since we've experienced very little change it seems discipline is necessary to truly attempt to be rid of these ideas

Book News Monthly, 1905 Tragedy in the Victorian Novel Jeannette King, 1978-01-26 How does one dominant literary genre fall into decline to be superseded by another The classic instance is the rise of the novel in the nineteenth century and how it came to embody the tragic vision of life which had previously been the domain of drama Dr King focuses on three novelists George Eliot Thomas Hardy and Henry James All three while trying to offer a realistic picture of life in prose narrative wrote with the concept of tragedy clearly in mind The concern was widespread and Victorian literary critics found themselves discussing the problem of how one might reconcile concepts as dissimilar as tragedy and realism Their criticism provides Dr King with her starting point Dr King examines the work of her three authors in relation to the large concepts of traditional tragic thought and also examines how the form of specific novels was affected by their differing ideas of tragedy
