Roseto Story An Anatomy Of Health:

The Roseto Story John G. Bruhn, Stewart Wolf, 2013-04-17 Roseto is a small Italian American community in east central Pennsylvania This fifteen year study drawing on medical histories physical examinations and laboratory tests compared a large sample of Rosetans to inhabitants of two neighboring communities Bangor and Nazareth and followed up this research with a sociological study of the three communities Despite a greater prevalence of obesity in Roseto and despite similar dietary smoking and exercise habits and similar ethnic and genetic background the inhabitants of Roseto were relatively immune to heart disease at the beginning of the research in 1963 They were also strikingly tenacious in adhering to Old World values and customs When these traditional values and relationship were abandoned by the rising generation the death rate from heart disease climbed toward the American norm The study concluded that unconditional interpersonal support counteracts life stress and thus preserves life

The Power of Clan Stewart Wolf, 2021-12-16 Medical sociologists have long recognized the importance of community and family structure in the health of individuals However the past quarter century in America has seen an increasing emphasis on individualism and materialism that has effectively diminished the cohesiveness and emotional support provided by these basic social units The Power of Clan examines the health effects of social change in a largely Italian American town over a twenty five year period and provides substantial evidence of the protective effect of family bonds and shared social values against coronary heart disease and sudden death The unique feature of the Roseto Pennsylvania community was its remarkably low death rate from heart attacks this in spite of the fact that such risk factors as smoking lack of exercise high fat and cholesterol diet were found to be just as prevalent in Roseto as in four nearby control towns Roseto s traditional family oriented social structure however differed vastly from that of neighboring towns where materialistic values were predominant and where the individual rather than the family was considered to be the unit of society At the beginning of their study in the early 1960s the authors noted indications of imminent social change toward a more Americanized system of values and behavior Interviews with younger inhabitants revealed much respect for old world traditions but not as much enthusiasm for living by them The study s prediction that the abandonment of selfless communal standards would undermine Rosetans relative immunity to heart disease was borne out as death rates from heart attack climbed to levels comparable to those of the control towns by 1975 The Power of Clan is the product of twenty five years of continuous observation The findings of its original study have been carefully examined and its predictions largely confirmed It is a landmark volume in the longitudinal study of health in an advanced industrial society It also constitutes a large step forward in the cooperation of medical and sociological researchers happy and living your best life The Death of the Salesman and the Rise of the Trusted Financial Advisor Andre Roos,2018-05-23 As a salesperson you've been taught to persuade pitch products read and mimic body language and engage in a long list of other sales tactics to build business But those tactics no longer work especially if you're working with intangible offerings like insurance and financial strategies These old-fashioned sales techniques may temporarily move a client toward making a purchase but they don't promote long-lasting relationships To do that you must become a trusted advisor Serial entrepreneur Andre Roos provides in-depth details on how to build meaningful win-win interactions in this salesmanship guide Learn how to follow a tested formula for attracting and keeping clients nurture clients and grow business and network with other professionals to provide added value Roos also explains why using a scripted approach can create sales suicide and what you need to do instead where and when to leave your digital footprints and when to cover them up or erase them completely and how to get clients to respect you even when telling them what they don't want to hear Establish trust become a valued consultant and build long-lasting success with the priceless insights in The Death of the Salesman and the Rise of the Trusted Financial Advisor Dying Unneeded Michelle A. Parsons,2021-04-30 In the early 1990s Russia experienced one of the most extreme increases in mortality in modern history Men's life expectancy dropped by six years women's life expectancy dropped by three Middle-aged men living in Moscow were particularly at risk of dying early deaths While the early 1990s represent the apex of mortality the crisis continues Drawing on fieldwork in the capital city during 2006 and 2007 this account brings ethnography to bear on a topic that has until recently been the province of epidemiology and demography Middle-aged Muscovites talk about being unneeded ne nuzhny or having little to give others Considering this concept of being unneeded reveals how political economic transformation undermined the logic of social relations whereby individuals used their position within the Soviet state to give things to other people Being unneeded is also gendered while women are still needed by their families men are often unneeded by state or family Western literature on the mortality crisis focuses on a lack of social capital often assuming that what individuals receive is most important but being needed is more about what individuals give Social connections and their influence on health are culturally specific In Soviet times needed people helped friends and acquaintances push against the limits of the state crafting a sense of space and freedom When the state collapsed this sense of bounded freedom was compromised and another freedom became deadly This book is a recipient of the annual Norman L and Roselea J Goldberg Prize for the best project in the area of medicine Us Before Me P. Illingworth,2016-04-30 Patricia Illingworth's short powerful and passionate book argues that social capital should be an essential ethical concept guiding our actions and explains how one might go about implementing this idea in a positive way The Psychology of Poverty, Wealth, and Economic Inequality Deborah Belle,Heather E. Bullock,2023-01-05 Economic inequality is a defining issue of our time with a handful of individuals in the United States today owning more wealth than half the population in the country What are the psychological consequences of living in a profoundly unequal society This comprehensive textbook is among the first to examine poverty wealth and economic inequality from a psychological perspective Written by two leading scholars in the field it provides an intersectional analysis of the impact of economic inequality on cognitive emotional interpersonal intergroup physiological and health outcomes Students are introduced to the diverse methods used to study poverty wealth and economic inequality and the strengths and weaknesses of various approaches while the text focuses on solutions at the individual community and national levels to restore optimism and encourage action Chapter features include exercises and reflection questions that help students think critically about the implications of research findings for their own lives

Hopelessly Alien Louis Corsino,2024-05-01 Hopelessly Alien is an in depth study of Italian immigration to Chicago Heights Illinois between 1910 and 1950 Drawing upon oral histories interviews historical documents and census materials Louis Corsino examines the critical concept of hope which most immigration studies have cast in privatized psychological terms as the motivation to emigrate in search of a better life This investigation offers a more contentious sociological perspective depicting hope as both an ideological lure to recruit and manage the foreign element and as a resource immigrants employed to purchase acceptance and avoid a disparaging label as a hopelessly alien stranger These dialectical processes are illustrated through the Italian immigrants pursuit of occupational mobility and homeownership and the appropriation of their children s hopes Each became forms of cultural capital that demonstrated a public commitment to the American ethos of joyful striving Each provided measures of success but these individual pursuits came at the expense of upsetting the necessary tension between individual and communal hopes Report to the Congress of the United States of the National Commission on Digestive Diseases: Reports of theworkgroups; pt. 1 Education; pt. 2A Research; pt. 2B Research; pt. 3 Health care delivery; pt. 4 Epidemiology and impact United States. National Commission on Digestive Diseases,1979 Technically Together Taylor Dotson,2024-02-06 Why we should not accept networked individualism as the inevitable future of community If social interaction by social media has become the modern front porch as one sociologist argues offering richer and more various contexts for community and personal connection why do we often feel lonelier after checking Facebook For one thing as Taylor Dotson writes in Technically Together Try getting a Facebook status update to help move a couch or stay for dinner Dotson argues that the experts who assure us that networked individualism will only bring us closer together seem to be urging citizens to adapt their social expectations to the current limits of technology and discouraging them from considering how technologies could be refashioned to enable other ways of relating and belonging Dotson characterizes different instantiations of community as thick or thin depending on the facets and manifestations of togetherness that they encompass Individuating social networks are a form of community he explains but relatively thin in regard to several dimensions of communality Dotson points out that current technological practices are not foreordained but supported by policies economic arrangements and entrenched patterns of thought He examines a range of systems organizations and infrastructures from suburban sprawl and smartphones to energy grids and cry it out sleep training for infants and considers whether they contribute to the atomization of social life or to togetherness and community vibrancy Dotson argues that technology could support multifaceted communities if citizens stopped accepting the technological status quo and instead demanded more from their ever present devices

The Sociology of Community Connections John G. Bruhn, 2011-07-18 Many of our current social problems have been attributed to the breakdown or loss of community as a place and to the fragmentation of connections due to an extreme value of individualism in the Western world particularly in the United States Not all scholars and researchers agree that individualism and technology are the primary culprits in the loss of community as it existed in the middle decade of the 20th century Nonetheless people exist in groups and connections are vital to their existence and in the daily performance of activities The second edition of the Sociology of Community Connections will identify and help students understand community connectedness in the present and future

Indians, Markets, and Rainforests Ricardo Godoy, 2001-08-01 This book addresses two important and related questions does participation in a market economy help or hurt indigenous peoples and how does it affect the conservation of tropical rainforest flora and fauna Oddly there have been few quantitative studies that have addressed these issues Ricardo Godoy s research takes an important step toward rectifying this oversight by investigating five different lowland Amerindian societies of tropical Latin America all of which are experiencing deep changes as they modernize Godoy examines the effect of markets on a broad range of areas including health conservation of flora and fauna leisure folk knowledge reciprocity and private time preference He concludes that contrary to considerable anthropological theory the effect of markets on the quality of life and the rainforest are often unclear or benign Godoy uses multivariate techniques to examine the changes modernization has had on many indicators of the quality of life and the environment and concludes that the seeds of socioeconomic differentiation may already lie dormant in simple economies The impact of modernization on lowland Amerindians is a topic of great concern to anthropologists researchers and policymakers in developing nations and this book is a significant contribution to the debate about the likely future of indigenous people

Indians, Markets, and Rainforests Ricardo A. Godoy, 2001 Godoy investigates five lowland Amerindian societies of tropical Latin America all of which are experiencing deep changes as they modernize to discover the results of a market economy on both indigenous peoples and the conservation of tropical rainforest flora and fauna

A Contemporary Introduction to Sociology Jeffrey Alexander, Jeffrey C. Alexander, Kenneth Thompson, Laura Desfor Edles, Moshoula Capous-Desyllas, 2023-07-28 The influential authors significantly update their popular introductory text that invites students to reflect on their lives in the context of the combustible leap from modern to postmodern life The authors show how culture is central to understanding many world problems as they challenge readers to confront the problems and possibilities of an era in which the futures of the physical and social environments seem uncertain As culture rapidly changes in the 21st century the authors have successfully incorporated these nuances with many important updates on race and racism Black Lives Matter the rise of populist politics ISIS new social media feminist perspectives on sex work trans and non gender conforming identities and more New to this edition New data text box examples photos exercises study questions and glossary terms appear throughout New discussions added of arts based and participatory approaches to research historical changes in the perception of deviance legalization of marijuana Islam vs secularism in France new forms of socialization heteronormative and essentialist language related to sex and gender intersections of social class and other identities the prison industrial complex informal sharing economies atheism and more New text boxes include Young Saudis Find Freedom in their Phones How One Stupid Tweet Blew Up Justine Sacco's Life School to Prison Pipeline India's Reproductive Assembly Line Workers Feel Pain of Layoffs Like Prohibition the fight over guns is about something else and Micro aggression and Changing Moral Cultures

Stress and Heart Disease R. E. Beamish, Pawan K. Singal, Naranjan S. Dhalla, 2012-12-06 It has been known or suspected for centuries that there is an association between mind and emotions and the occurrence of heart disease and sudden death During the past fifty years this relationship has become identified with the concept of Stress a notion developed and popularized by Hans Selye In recent years there has been an upward surge of interest in stress by scientists in several disciplines and by the general public Although books journal articles seminars and media programs devoted to stress now abound the definition manifestations mechanisms and management of stress remain uncertain and controversial In an attempt to clarify the situation an International Symposium on Stress and Heart Disease was held in Winnipeg Canada June 26-29 1984 and the proceedings form the basis of this book and its companion volume Pathogenesis of Stress Induced Heart Disease Although most species which have ever existed are now extinct through countless millennia the human species has successfully adapted to changing conditions stressors such as ice ages predators and parasites wars famine and plague and now it is coping with rapidly changing social economic and political circumstances Such adaptation occurs at all levels of life at the molecular level within the cell at the level of the whole cell in the groups of cells as organs in the entire organism or individual and in some cases in the society in which the individual lives
