Exclusion and Inclusion in Changing India is a collection of essays by scholars and practitioners about the struggles of exclusion and inclusion facing human community in the complex Indian context from a Christian perspective. Rethinking Philosophers' Responsibility Lydia Amir, 2017-11-06. Calling on philosophers as the custodians of rationality to reconsider their responsibility toward their communities and the state of civilization at large, this book considers philosophy to be a practical discipline. Largely foreign to philosophers and non-philosophers alike, this conception of philosophy discloses the relevance of its unique contributions to contemporary society. The book offers a compelling and accessible analysis of philosophy also in relation to religion, psychology, the New Age Movement and globalization and exemplifies through a wide range of current problems how philosophers can fulfil their responsibility. Its argument that responsibility lies where one is capable of doing what is needed and even more so when no one else can do it targets philosophers. However, its innovative study of contemporary philosophy coupled with its original contributions to the problems at hand will engage academics and students from other disciplines as well as a general readership.

Aesthetics of Displacement in Jhumpa Lahiri's

Fiction Nadia Anwar, 2015-03-23. This study is a new exploration of Lahiri's fiction through the lens of postmodern aesthetics with reference to the main text The Lowland and the secondary text The Namesake. The Lowland is a narrative of home displacement and a vague attempt of resettlement in a new world, yet the prime objective of this thesis is to explore how the desire to break with the barriers of tragic past and seeking survival in another world gives a new perspective of Diaspora. The Lowland and The Namesake explore the aesthetics of displacement rather than touching upon the pains of displacement and dislocation. It is not the existence in the new world which causes the disaster of individuals; rather, it is the tragic past which destroys their lives totally. Moreover, the rejection of old habits, traditions and conditioning and a merging with the culture of the new context is an existing issue of the post-modern transcultural world. The new world not only offers professional opportunity and financial betterment but also provides a chance to obliterate the haunted memories of the tragic past. And immigration or displacement is a kind of rebirth in a new culture The feeling of home is like something haunting and dark which frightens the people Their quest of survival in a transcultural world and their will to sacrifice their relations for that reason is an insight into situations of fast changing social fabric in India This research explores how the male and the female agency works in order to build an individual identity and it constructs individual realities based on personal experiences of the old world and the changing perceptions of the new world
