Australian Literature Peter Pierce,2009-09-17 Draws on scholarship from leading figures in the field and spans Australian literary history from colonial origins indigenous and migrant literatures as well as representations of Asia and the Pacific and the role of literary culture in modern Australian society Critical Multimodal Studies of Popular Discourse Emilia

Djonov,Sumin Zhao,2013-09-23 Studies of multimodality have significantly advanced our understanding of the potential of different semiotic resources verbal visual aural and kinetic to make meaning and allow people to achieve various social purposes such as persuading entertaining and explaining Yet little is known about the role that individual nonverbal resources and their interaction with language and with each other play in concealing and supporting or drawing attention to and subverting social boundaries and inequality political or commercial agendas This volume brings together contributions by prominent and emerging scholars that address this gap through the critical analysis of multimodality in popular culture texts and semiotic practices. It connects multimodal analysis to critical discourse analysis, demonstrating the value of different approaches to multimodality for building a better understanding of critical issues of central interest to discourse analysis. Designing Learning for Multimodal Literacy Fei Victor Lim, Lydia Tan-Chia, 2022-11-30. Designing Learning for Multimodal Literacy addresses the need to design learning for multimodal literacy in a world that is increasingly saturated with print and digital media. In the current age, communication and interactions on social media are seldom made with language alone but are often accompanied with emojis, images, and videos, making meanings multimodally. Young people, including children, are also increasingly active in making videos of themselves, their ideas, and their experiences as part of their out-of-school literacy activities. In particular, for language teachers, the present shifts in our world require that teachers re-examine what they teach and how they can meaningfully and effectively teach the students in their classes today. At 8 years old, Alden created his own rap music video and shared it with the world. He wrote his own lyrics and set it against the music he remixed and meshed from a music download site. Alden is in your classroom today. As his teacher, what would you teach him? How would you engage him? Alden and children like him are the inspiration for why the authors have written this book. The changing times and changing learners place a demand on educators to continually reflect on what and how teachers are teaching their students to ensure that learning in school remains relevant, relatable, and prepares them for the world of the future. Lim's book outlines how teachers can design learning for multimodal literacy. It is a result of a collaboration between an educational researcher and a curriculum developer and offers practical resources for practitioners but also design principles and considerations based on practice with a range of students to inform and inspire academics and postgraduate students. It is poised to contribute to the global conversation and interest on how educators can reflect on the zeitgeist of the digital age and design learning for multimodal literacy.

Film Music in 'Minor' National Cinemas

Germán Gil-Curiel, 2017-08-24. Taking its cue from Deleuze's definition of minor cinema as one which engages in a creative act of becoming, this collection explores the multifarious ways that music has been used in the cinemas of various countries in Australasia, Africa, Latin America, and even in Europe that have hitherto received little attention. The authors consider such film music with a focus on the role it has played in creating, problematizing, and sometimes contesting the nation. Film Music in Minor National Cinemas addresses the relationships between film music and the national cinemas beyond Hollywood and the European countries that comprise most of the literature in the field. Broad in scope, it includes chapters that analyze the contribution of specific composers and songwriters to their national cinemas and the way music works in films dealing with national narratives or issues, the role of music in the shaping of national stars, and specific use of genres, audience reception of films, on national music traditions, and the use of music in emerging digital video industries.
