Mother Nature A History Of Mothers Infants And Natural Selection:

Mother Nature Sarah Blaffer Hrdy, 1999 We are tempted to think of maternal instinct as a quality a woman has or lacks But the belief that mothers instinctively nurture their offspring one of the West's most cherished ideals and a view widely accepted even in scientific circles has become increasingly controversial Mother Nature presents a radical new way of understanding how mothers act and why and how this new understanding is changing the way scientists think about how evolution works Drawing on anthropology history literature developmental psychology and animal behavior Sarah Hrdy examines the distinct biological and genetic elements that constitute maternal instinct She strips away the biases implicit in conventional stereotypes of female nature to give us very different and provocative perspectives on maternal ambivalence the links between maturity and ambition mother love and sexual love and why age old tensions between the sexes persist and are being played out today in efforts to control women's reproductive choices Combining decades of research with her own experience as a mother Hrdy makes clear in this remarkable book what it means from a historical and evolutionary perspective to be a mother and explains how this knowledge has transformed our understanding of human development and behavior

Gander, 2004-12-01 There is no question more fundamental to human existence than that posed by the nature versus nurture debate For much of the past century it was widely believed that there was no essential human nature and that people could be educated or socialized to thrive in almost any imaginable culture Today that orthodoxy is being directly and forcefully challenged by a new science of the mind evolutionary psychology Like the theory of evolution itself the implications of evolutionary psychology are provocative and unsettling Rather than viewing the human mind as a mysterious black box or a blank slate evolutionary psychologists see it as a physical organ that has evolved to process certain types of information in certain ways that enables us to thrive only in certain types of cultures In

On Our Minds Eric M Gander examines all sides of the public debate between evolutionary psychologists and their critics Paying particularly close attention to the popular science writings of Steven Pinker Edward O Wilson Richard Dawkins and Stephen Jay Gould Gander traces the history of the controversy succinctly summarizes the claims and theories of the evolutionary psychologists dissects the various arguments deployed by each side and considers in detail the far reaching ramifications social cultural and political of this debate Gander's lucid and highly readable account concludes that evolutionary psychology now holds the potential to answer our oldest and most profound moral and philosophical questions fundamentally changing our self perception as a species

Responsive Becoming: Moral Formation in Theological, Evolutionary, and Developmental Perspective Angela Carpenter, 2019-04-18 This volume offers an interdisciplinary study of Reformed sanctification and human development providing the foundation for a constructive account of Christian moral formation that is attentive both to divine grace and to the significance of natural embodied processes Angela Carpenter's argument also addresses the impressions that such theologies give namely either solitude in the face of adversity or sheer passivity Through careful examination of the doctrine of sanctification in three Reformed theologians John Calvin John Owen and Horace Bushnell Carpenter argues that human responsiveness in the context of fellowship with the triune God provides a basic framework for a theological account of moral transformation Her relational approach brings together divine and human agency in a dynamic process where both are indispensable Supplying an account of moral formation located within Christian salvation while also being attentive to embodied human nature and the sciences this book is vital to all those interested in spiritual formation and the human capacity for love Attachment and Bonding C.
