

CALL FOR SUBMISSIONS: RADICAL HOSPITALITY

St. Ambrose University College of Arts and Sciences, Galvin Fine Arts, and the Midwest Writing Center are partnering on a series of events and a publication around the theme of Radical Hospitality. This theme calls people to "welcome the stranger" and to extend "an expansive and committed welcome to all regardless of background, beliefs, or circumstances, and particularly to those who face barriers to belonging. More than politeness, radical hospitality calls for a generous sharing of time, resources, and life together."

THE PROJECT

We are looking for submissions of poetry (30 lines max.) and flash prose (fiction or nonfiction, 500 words max.) that engage with the theme of Radical Hospitality.

Submission open October 1 & close on December 15 (see complete guidelines on reverse). MWC will select the strongest 20-30 works for publication in an anthology, to be published by MWC Press in April 2024.

All contributors to the anthology will receive $400 for their work in addition to two copies of the anthology, and the opportunity to record their work for a podcast. Selections will be announced in early Jan. 2024.

Then, all contributors will have the opportunity to read their work during the "Speak Your Peace" event at Galvin Fine Arts on Friday, January 26, where they will have a chance to win up to $400 in a contest decided by audience members. Contributors will have the opportunity to record their works for a podcast prior to the event, and the event will be recorded live.

The anthology will be published in April 2024, and the contributors will be invited to read at a release event at Galvin Fine Arts (date TBA), where the first 200 people in attendance will receive a free copy of the anthology (copies will be available to purchase after that).

WHAT IS RADICAL HOSPITALITY?

Radical Hospitality calls us to consider how to dismantle the barriers to belonging faced because of immigration status, recovery journey, or history of incarceration. Through workshops, presentations, and sharing together, we will ask how to practice radical hospitality as individuals, institutions, and communities, and seek out steps to truly welcome the foreigner, the outcast, and the outsider, into our communities and lives.

Radical hospitality refers to an expansive and committed welcome to all regardless of background, beliefs, or circumstances, and particularly to those who face barriers to belonging. More than politeness, radical hospitality calls for a generous sharing of time, resources, and life together. It includes offering support without judgment and fostering relationships of deep connection. Radical hospitality involves collaboration to combat barriers to inclusion and the creation of paths to access and safety in support of true communal belonging.
