Radio Boys Cronies Wayne Whipple, 2018-08-13 Radio Boys Cronies by Wayne Whipple At other stations these scenes were repeated but the climax came when we got to Port Huron I had to jump off the train about a quarter of a mile from the station which was situated out of town I had paid a big Dutch boy to haul several loads of sand to that point and the engineers knew I was going to jump so they slowed down a bit Still I was quite an expert on the jump I heaved off my bundle of papers and landed all right As usual the Dutch boy met me and we carried the rest of the papers toward the town We had hardly got half way when we met a crowd hurrying toward the station I thought I knew what they were after so I stopped in front of a church where a prayer meeting was just closing I raised the price to twenty five cents and began taking in a young fortune Almost at the same moment the meeting closed and the people came rushing out The way the coin materialized made me think the deacons had forgotten to pass the plate in that meeting We are delighted to publish this classic book as part of our extensive Classic Library collection Many of the books in our collection have been out of print for decades and therefore have not been accessible to the general public The aim of our publishing program is to facilitate rapid access to this vast
