Retrospect Story Of Analysis:

Henry James's Style of Retrospect Oliver Herford, 2016-05-26 Henry James's Style of Retrospect traces James's engagement with the writing of the recent past across the last twenty-five years of his life and examines the thoroughgoing change his style underwent in this last phase of his career as his focus turned from the observation of contemporary manners to biographical commemoration and autobiographical reminiscence and the balance of his output gradually shifted from fiction to non-fiction. The late personal writings of the book's subtitle are works of retrospective non-fiction. They are a varied group representing a broad array of genres and occasions: commemorative essays and obituary tributes, textual revisions and accounts of revisiting familiar places, cultural and literary criticism, biography and autobiography, and family memoir. Oliver Herford proposes that we read the late personal writings as a coherent sequence bound together by a close texture of cross-references and allusive echoes and united by James's newly discovered sense for the literary possibilities of non-fiction. Closely analyzing the style of these writings, this study offers a boldly revisionist account of the way style itself challenges and preoccupies the very late James. A linked series of innovative close readings takes the major works of this period in sequence, addressing a key point of style in each. Particular attention is paid to procedures of reference to the historical past, to real persons and places, and to objects, a dimension of style often neglected and sometimes actively slighted in analyses of James's late work. Henry James's Style of Retrospect asks what it means for so distinguished a novelist to alter the foundations of his written manner so strikingly in late life and shows how we may begin to reconfigure our understanding of late Jamesian aesthetics accordingly.

Retrospective June Yap, 2017-08-15 Developed as an exploratory study of artworks by artists of Singapore and Malaysia, Retrospective attempts to account for contemporary artworks that engage with history. These are artworks that reference past events or narratives of the nation and its art. Through the examination of a selection of artworks produced between 1990 and 2012, Retrospective is both an attribution and an analysis of a historiographical aesthetic within contemporary art practice. It considers that by their method and in their assembly, these artworks perform more than a representation of a historical past. Instead, they confront history and its production, laying bare the nature and designs of the historical project via their aesthetic project. Positing an interdisciplinary approach as necessary for understanding the historiographical as aesthetic, Retrospective considers not only historical and aesthetic perspectives but also the philosophical, by way of ontology, in order to broaden its exposition beyond the convention of historical and contextual interpretation of art. Yet in associating these artworks with a historiographical aesthetic, this exposition may be regarded as a historiographical exercise in itself, affirming the significance of these artworks for the history of Singapore and Malaysia. In short, which history rarely is, Retrospective is about the art of historicisation and the historicisation of art.

Yehoshua, 2013-02-14 An ageing film director Yair Moses has been invited to the Spanish pilgrimage city of Santiago de Compostela to attend a retrospective of his early work As he and Ruth his leading actress and former muse settle into their room at the parador Moses notices a painting depicting the classical story of an elderly prisoner nursing at the breast of a young woman For the first time in decades Moses recalls a similar scene from one of his early films which led to his dramatic estrangement from his screenwriter Trigano Trigano's spirit haunts the retrospective as the director and actress re-live each film They question artistic decisions and are surprised at how differently each remembers the past slowly revealing to each other past reasons for decisions taken at the time A troubled Moses decides to seek out the elusive Trigano to settle their differences and to propose a new collaboration But the reluctant screenwriter demands an outrageous price for this reconciliation Moses must commit to a deeply disturbing act of atonement Ultimately reality and the sublime mingle when Moses has an epiphany as he nears the end of his quest and the source of his imagination Searching witty and trenchant this work by an internationally respected and original writer is a meditation on the roots of artistic inspiration the limits and the truth of memory and the struggle for artistic creation Retrospective Poe José R.
